It forestalls consumption. Miss Sarah E. Williver, Phillipsburg, N. J. given her experience writes: "I was troubled for several months with a severe cough, which would have turned to consumption but for the timely use of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup."

The Local Paper.

The strong attachment of subscribers to a well conducted newspaper is fully confirmed by a publisher. "Stop my paper!" words of dread to beginners in business, lose their terror after a paper has been established a number of years. So long as a paper pursues a just, honorable and judicious course, meeting the wants of its customers in all respects, the ties of friendship between the subscriber and the paper are as hard to break up by an outside third party as the links which bind old friends in business or social life. Occasional defects and errors in a newspaper are overlooked by those who have become attached to it through its perusal for years. They sometimes become dissatisfied with it on account of something which has slipped into its columns, and may stop taking it; but the absence of the familiar sheet at their homes or offices for a few weeks becomes an insupportable privation, and they hasten to take it again and perhaps apologize for having it stopped. No friendship on earth is more constant than that contracted by a reader for a journal that makes an honest and earnest effort to merit continued support.—Menomonic (Wisconsin Herald).

It is a truth in medicine that the smallest dose that performs a cure is the best. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the smallest pills, will perform the cure, and are the best. W. S. Rishton, druggist. 10-14-17.
