

FROM ALL AROUND THE STATE.

News Gathered from all Sections of the Commonwealth.

PITTSBURG, May 1.—A large section of the hillside below the Holy Ghost college, Boyd's Hill, gave way Saturday night and crushed two houses like eggshells.

When the girl's body was found in the debris half of her head was burned away. The little blackened and mangled body presented a horrible appearance. A peculiar escape was that of the five-month-old baby, sleeping in a crib near the open door. The collapsed walls forced the cradle through the open doorway and beyond throwing the baby out on the ground, but did it no injury.

Mr. Kelly and his wife were badly crushed and injured internally and may die. One of their two boys was also injured so badly that he cannot recover. The other was taken out with but a few scratches.

JACKSONVILLE, May 2.—The coroner's jury investigating the circumstances surrounding the fatal accident to Farmer Tobias Swartley at Telford last Saturday, censure the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company for not keeping a flagman posted at the crossing. Swartley whipped up his horse to drive over the track ahead of an approaching freight train, when his team was struck by the Buffalo express bound east, and he was instantly killed.

PHILADELPHIA, May 1.—In accordance with the order issued by the Reading receivers to the mining superintendents of the Coal and Iron company, fifteen of the collieries were closed to-day for an indefinite period. A good deal of the coal has been sold below the circular prices, and to prevent still further reductions the receivers have decided upon restricting the output.

POTTSVILLE, April 28.—A second shoe-manufacturing firm of Orrigsburg, this county, has failed, executions having been issued against Shoener & Co. for a sum exceeding in the aggregate $30,000. The closing of this industry throws out of employment over 100 hands. Ex-State Senator John T. Shoener was the head of the firm.

WILKES-BARRE, April 29.—James McLaughlin, a saloon keeper of Pittston, who killed James Gilmartin on the night of March 25 last, was placed on trial for murder Thursday morning. The case was given to the jury yesterday afternoon and it returned last night at 9 o'clock with a verdict finding him guilty of manslaughter.

WILLIAMSTOWN, May 1.—Through an explosion in the mines here, Frank Rickett, a miner, was instantly killed. Two other employees were badly scalded and are in a critical condition. Coroner Hoy was notified and left for that place to hold an inquest on the body of Mr. Rickett.

WEST CHESTER, May 2.—The republican convention of Chester county was held yesterday. The convention instructed its delegates to the state convention to vote for A. D. Harlan for state treasurer and allow its delegates to go unopposed as regards the Supreme Judgeship.

READING, May 2.—The East Reading Electric railway has passed into the possession of the Philadelphia syndicate, who recently obtained control of the horse car lines of this city. The East Reading is ten miles in length, extending to several suburban towns.

LANCASTER, May 2.—The union bricklayers and hod-carriers of this city struck yesterday because of a refusal to grant an increase. The former are getting $3 per day but demand $3.50 for nine hours, and the hod-carriers, who are getting $2, want $2.50 per day.

READING, May 3.—Mrs. Theresa Hafer, who conducted a small shoe store at No. 143 North Tenth street, where she lived alone, died under strange circumstances. The physicians who made an examination certified that her death resulted from natural causes.

WEST CHESTER, May 3.—The Pennsylvania and Delaware state line commission has finished his work after a drive over the entire line. It has formally declared the new dividing line set and unalterable, and the opposition to the change has been withdrawn.

BEAVER, May 3.—Senator Quay, when shown the story telegraphed from Washington that he would resign, said: "I will be on hand at the opening of the session to take the oath of office and serve out my term, unless the very unexpected happens."

LEBANON, May 2.—John Cupler, a German, who for many years resided on North Ninth street, while walking in his yard fell over dead from the effects of either an apoplectic stroke or heart failure. The deceased came to this city in 1847.

SHAMOKIN, May 2.—The Lancaster colliery, operated by Smith & Keiser, of this place, has been purchased by Detroit and Buffalo capitalists, who will enlarge the plant to twice its capacity, five hundred names going on the pay-roll.

COLUMBIA, May 2.—A robber entered the house of Jefferson Gilbert, on Cherry street, but was frightened away by Mrs. Gilbert before he secured anything. Attempt was also made to break into the shoe shop of John B. Resh.

CHESTER, May 1.—Bessie Grace, a 3-year-old child, had her arm cut off and a leg injured by a shifter on the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad two years ago. Saturday arbitrators awarded her $1,000 damages.

READING, May 2.—The Rainbow Fire Company, fully equipped, accompanied by several citizens, has left on a ten days' trip. They go by way of Philadelphia, Washington and Atlanta, as far as New Orleans.

PHILADELPHIA, May 3.—Fourteen-year-old Ralph Wengenberg, of this city, fell in front of a train on the Reading railroad, near Sweet Briar, and was decapitated by the engine. The headless body was taken home.

LANCASTER, May 2.—Clayton F. Myers, one of Lancaster's best known citizens, died at the house of Mrs. Sarah Vanderaal, 138 North Prince street, where he had roomed for many years.

WILKES-BARRE, May 2.—Two Italians stabbed and dangerously wounded James Smith during a quarrel over cards at Mudtown. They were committed to jail.

SUNBURY, May 3.—Twenty-one carpenters have been suspended from the shops of the Philadelphia and Erie railroad at this place.

How Mountains Get Their Names.

Mountains and mountain ranges in the United States, and, indeed, the world over, have usually been named not by the mountaineers themselves, but by the dwellers in the plains, who saw the mountains as a more or less distant prospect. It sometimes happens that a mountain range bears two names because of different aspects present to dwellers on each side. The several Blue and Blue Ridge Mountains were named manifestly by those to whom the ranges presented themselves against a more or less distant horizon. One of the Green Mountains in Vermont is called Bald Face by dwellers in the Adirondack region about Paul Smith's, a name justified by the aspect of the mountain from that part of the wilderness. Our own Adirondack Sugar Loaf could never have been named by a dweller upon its own top. The Orange Mountains took their name, however, not from their sunset aspect as seen from the lowlands, but are only another evidence of the affection with which Dutchmen cling to the name orange, an affection which has led them to fix that name on the map in whatever part of the world they may have tarried.—New York Sun.

Nothing does the work so well—Mr. P. Byrd of New Grand Cham, Ills., writes: "Being exposed to all sorts of weather I am more or less liable to have pains of some kind. I have tried a number of different so-called remedies, but nothing does the work so well as Salvation Oil. It is the best liniment I have ever used."

Depressing.

From the Pittsburg Bulletin. Mrs. Podgers—"My dear, you are growing fearfully stout. It is so—so unbecoming."

Mr. Podgers (testily).—"Well, I can't help it."

Mrs. P.—"I know. But, as I'm of an economical turn, I hate to see so much of a good man going to waist."

Deserving Praise.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. C. A. Klein Druggist.

The Colonel's Escutcheon.

From Harper's Bazar. She—"I love to hear Colonel Blowhard talk of his war experiences. By the way, which side was he on?"

He—"The other side."

She—"The other side."

He—"No; the other side of the Atlantic."

I have been a great sufferer from dry catarrh for many years and I tried many remedies, but none did me so much benefit as Ely's Cream Balm. It completely cured me. M. J. Lally, 39 Woodward Ave., Boston Highlands, Mass.

After using Ely's Cream Balm two months I was surprised to find that the right nostril, which was closed for over twenty years, was open and free as the other, and can use it now as I could not do for many years. I feel very thankful.—R. H. Cressingham, 275 18th St., Brooklyn.
