The Supreme Court of Georgia has rendered a decision in a manslaughter case to the effect that if a husband, knowing or suspecting his wife's criminal infidelity, lays a trap for her paramour for the purpose of killing him, in case he should be caught in his guilt, the paramour has a right to defend himself against a deadly assault made by the husband, even though surprised at the moment of his criminality. The court declares the killing of the husband under these conditions justifiable.

"SCHEPP'S PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE WORLD."
The Greatest Book on Earth.
COSTING $100,000.

New, Novel, Striking.
A Wonderful Collection of Photographs. Everyone Seeing it will Want a Copy.

We take great pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to one of the most daring, if not the most marvelous achievement, that has yet been accomplished in the publishing world. We refer to a new and most valuable publication, entitled "Schepp's Photographs of the World," representing renowned picturesque scenery, historic castles, views of cities, avenues, buildings, monuments, copies of celebrated paintings and artistic statuary, collected from every corner of the world.

It includes every thing of any interest through Great Britain, from the Blarney Castle to the Giant's Causeway in Ireland, and from the Hills of Scotland to the South Coast of England; through Europe, from Gibraltar and Italy in the South to Hammerfest in Norway—the most northern town in the world—and to Constantinople and the Russian Mines in Siberia in the far East.

Through Africa, from the Suez Canal, Egypt and the Nile in the East to Cape of Good Hope in the South and life among the Natives in the interior, West and North; through Asia and the Orient, from the Holy Land, Arabia and Persia in the West to India, China, Japan, Australia, and the Islands of the Pacific in the South and East.

Through Spanish South America, from Terra del Fuego to Panama; through the Central American States and Mexico—land of the Aztecs; through Alaska, Greenland, British North America and Canada.

Through the United States, from the Golden Gate in the West to the Rocky Coast of New England in the East, and from the Lake Cities in the North to the Cotton States in the South, forming one of the finest, rarest, wealthiest, most beautiful, interesting and historic collections of Photographs ever seen.

The Photographs representing master paintings and works of art, taken from the French Salon, Louvre, Luxembourg, Versailles, Dresden, Uffizi, Pitti and Vatican Galleries, are direct and accurate reproductions of the famous originals. Their value is so great that the wealth of nations could not buy them. No collection like this has ever before been found between the lids of any book. Every photograph is carefully explained in from four to six lines printed matter, in an accurate, concise and most interesting manner. So great has been the demand for this book already, that the publishers immediately translated the English explanations into Swedish and German, printing the book in three languages within four weeks, and we understand that a Spanish edition is now in course of preparation.

The work is issued by the Globe Bible Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, Penna. The publishers, who are wide awake, and know how to meet the wants of the masses, have placed the retail prices marvellously low, ranging from $3.25 to $7.00, according to the style of binding, giving every one an opportunity to purchase a copy.

FORECAST OF CONGRESS

No Great Changes in the Rules of the House.

FIGHT OVER THE DOORKEEPERSHIP.

Turner Claims to Have Secured Enough Votes to Insure His Re-election—Congressmen Generally Slow in Arriving at the Capital—Finance the Absorbing Topic.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Representative Catchings, the leading member of the House Committee on Rules, was an early caller on Mr. Crisp yesterday and remained in the ex-Speaker's room during the afternoon. He has always been Mr. Crisp's lieutenant upon the floor and his valued adviser in private, so it was at once assumed that he had been called into consultation respecting the committee assignments and the House rules.

Mr. Catchings shares Mr. Crisp's views respecting the length of the special session. Touching the rules, he feels that while there is urgent necessity for the adoption of some rules for the government of the House very soon after the House is called to order, there is no present reason for any radical revision. Under the old rules, when a majority really desired to reach a vote upon a pending question, the result could be attained through a special order or rule from the Committee on Rules. The practice, he thought, had lost none of its efficiency and was still available. If changes are to be made in the direction of cloture they will be made only after mature consideration and an exhibition of the actual necessity of the case.

The members of the House now in Washington are still in the dark as to the date of the Democratic House caucus which is necessary to perfect a scheme of organization of the body. The lists at the House Postoffice show very few new arrivals of representatives. For this reason the contest for the House offices lacks vitality and the various candidates who have opened up headquarters in true convention style have been rather lonely.

The warmest fight will be over the doorkeepership. Mr. Turner, the doorkeeper of the last House, is confident that he will have no difficulty in securing a reelection. He says that he has already 116 members on his list of absolutely reliable votes. As 110 votes constitute a majority of the Democratic caucus, his claim, if well founded, would ensure his election. He is confident of the endorsement of the New York delegation. This delegation is called to meet to-night but there is some reason to doubt whether they will be able to muster a quorum.

Mr. Fellows came over from New York yesterday morning and spent half an hour in consultation with Mr. Crisp, and returned to his home in the afternoon. He did not appear to be deeply interested in the question of the doorkeepership although when pressed he said that Mr. Turner would doubtless receive the support of the New York men. Mr. Turner's two opponents, Hart, of Tennessee, and Smith, of Texas, are pursuing a quiet canvass and still express confidence of success.

It is impossible that there will be a caucus of the majority of the Senate this week. Senator Gorman, the chairman of the Democratic caucus in the Senate, has taken up his quarters at the Capital but he has not yet given the issue of a call consideration. It will, of course, be necessary for the Democratic Senators to get together and decide upon several questions. The one which will probably be the first to engage serious attention in the Senate, is the right of admission of the three Senators from the Northwest whose titles have been challenged, but Senator Gorman feels that there is no need for haste in the matter and the caucus will probably not be held before the middle of next week.

Senator Gorman, Sergeant-at-Arms Bright and Secretary of the Senate Gen. Cox, had a long conference in the afternoon at the Capitol and it is supposed the subject of the distribution of patronage under the two officers who take hold next Monday was up for consideration. The gentlemen denied that there was any significance attached to their meeting and when asked how soon the offices would be distributed made reply to the effect that the Senate was a body that moved slowly and much depended upon its action. It is known, however, that all Republican clerks and officials who are absent from the city have been advised not to return until notified, as the Republicans had not yet caucused and determined who they wanted to remain as the representatives of the minority. There is consequently much uneasiness among the Republican officials as to who will be retained as the favored few.

Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, after spending three months among the people of his State, reached Washington yesterday. He says that his people are vested themselves as to what is the best thing to do on the silver question.

"For one, I do not believe the Sherman act is, by any means, the sole source of the present financial difficulties in this country. I concede the way in which it has been administered by the department, which in my judgment is not according to its spirit, has contributed in part to the present financial depression, but I believe the real cause to be the apprehension under which the industrial classes are laboring in reference to the probable action of the present administration on the subject of tariff. These are times, however, when the real welfare of the country should not be sacrificed for the sake of mere partisan advantage."

Poor Old Reading.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—The receivers of the Reading railroad company yesterday, as was expected, failed to pay the interest due upon the bonds of the Philadelphia, Reading and New England (Poughkeepsie bridge) and the Philadelphia and Frankford companies. Both of these issues are guaranteed for principal and interest by the Reading, but the receivers base their action upon the allegation that in neither case has the interest been earned. The May coupons of the Philadelphia, Reading and New England are yet unpaid, and it would not be surprising if the bondholders should take some action to obtain the money thus due them.

Coinage.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The coinage executed at the United States mints during July was very light, being only 2,165,500 pieces of the value of $891,900, as follows: Gold, 55,500 pieces, value $320,000; silver, 132,000 pieces, value $38,000; and minor coin, 1,978,000 pieces, value $38,900. The coinage for August promises to be heavier, the mints at New Orleans and San Francisco having orders to resume coinage on a larger scale than during July.

Of a Church of England minister cured of a distressing rash, by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mr. RICHARD BIRKS, the well-known Druggist, 207 McGill St., Montreal, P. Q., says: I have sold Ayer's Family Medicines for 40 years, and have heard nothing but good said of them. I know of many performed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, one in particular being that of a little daughter of a Church of England minister. The child was literally covered from head to foot with a red and exceedingly troublesome rash, from which she had suffered for two or three years, in spite of the best medical treatment available. Her father was in great distress about the case, and, at my recommendation, at last began to administer Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which effected a complete cure, much to her relief and her father's delight. I am sure, were he here to-day, he would testify in the strongest terms as to the merits of
