Congressman S. P. Wolverton of Sunbury, says that Congress will meet the expectations of the country and that the Sherman law will be re-

The root of the trouble is that ac cording to reports of July 12 to the comptroller over $141,000,000 of deposits had been withdrawn in two months from part of the national banks, and probably $177,000,000 from all, besides unknown sums from savings, state and private banks, and during the month since July 12, the withdrawal and hoarding must have been relatively even greater. A premium of one to two per cent. is paid for gold and three to four per cent. for currency. The government is printing $1,250,000 bank notes daily. The clearing house has issued $5,-000,000 more certificates and the hope is that confidence may be revived and hoardings unlocked.

The Towarda Republican speaks as follows of a recent appointment made by Governor Pattison: "Henry C. Porter, of this place, received word on Saturday that he had been appointed by Governor Pattison a member of the State Pharmaceutical Examining Board. The appointment is made under the law of March 24, 1887, which provides for the appointment by the Governor of five persons from among the most skillful retail apothecaries, who shall have had at least ten years practical experience. The Board meets as often as once in three months to examine applicants for certificates to carry on a drug business or to act as clerks. Mr. Porter is well qualified for the duties of the position, is a good Democrat, and the appointment will be received with satisfaction by all interested."

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21, 1893. Speaker Crisp has completed the committee assignments, and he will announce them early this week. Owing to there being no committees to which they could be referred no bills have been introduced in the House with the exception of that for the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman law, which was taken up for consideration under an agreement, without having been referred to a com-mittee, but a flood of them are ready to be introduced as soon as the committees are ready for them.

No speech made in the silver debate in the House, which is now drawing to a close, was more carefully listened to than that of Representative Mc-Creary, of Kentucky. Governor Mc-Creary is a good talker upon almost any subject and the knowledge gained as one of the United States delegates to the international monetary conference added to the interest of what he had to say about silver. He began by stating that he voted against the Sherman law which had been a failure and a colossal curse, and that he favored the unconditional repeal of its purchasing clause and the adoption of other legislation afterwards in a separate House that he was speaking as a friend of silver and not as its enemy. He said he favored international bimetallism and believed the repeal bill the best way to bring it about, and that the only safe path to free coinage was through an international agreement. In reply to a question from Mr. Bland, he stated that he was as much in favor of silver as that gentleman was. He also stated that to change the ratio al belief here, even among the radical for piles. W. S. Rishton, Druggist silver men, is that the repeal bill will pass the House, although opinion differs as to the majority it will get.

If any one has the idea that President C eveland is idle while at Gray Gables an early morning visit to the office of his private secretary, in the White House, will show how erroneous such an idea is. As regular as the morning mail comes a big batch of official documents, representing the President's work of the day before, and just as regularly does private secretary Thurber send a big package to the president. Everybody is laughing at the neat manner in which Senator Gorman sat, down upon the representative of a New York paper which has lately been very bitter in its abuse of him for no better apparent reason than that he declined to take the aforesaid paper into his confidence. The other day, just after an unusually bitter criticism of the Senator had been printed under a Washington date line, the Washington correspondent of the paper sent a man to ask Senator Gorman if he had any answer to make to the tirade. "Really", replied the Senator, with one of his most beaming smiles, "I seldom see that paper, and I have not heard of the article you refer to.' With some confusion the man began to explain the nature of the article, but he was interrupted by Mr. Gorman who carelessly remarked as he turned to speak to one of his colleagues: "The matter is not of the slightest importance, I assure you." It is needless to say that the interview with Mr. Gorman was not wired to the paper.

Neither Secretary Hoke Smith nor Commissioner Lochren are worrying even a little bit over the resolution introduced into the Senate by Mr. Gallinger, of N. H., providing for an investigation of the legality of their actions in suspending pensioners shown by the records not to be entitled to the pensions they have been drawing. In fact, an investigation will be welcome, and the more thorough it is made the better it will be liked. Meanwhile the suspensions continue at an average of about 150 a day. At the close of business Saturday the total number of pensioners who had been suspended was 8,254.

The report of a bill from the Senate committee on Finance for the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman law put a stop to the silly talk about that committee intentionally delaying a report on the bill. The minority of the committee reported a substitute bill, providing for the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 20 to 1.

The bill authorizing the National banks to increase their circulation is having many amendments offered to it in the Senate. One of them, by Mr. Butler of South Carolina, is for the repeal of the tax on State bank currency, and it is reported that one will be offered providing for free coinage at 20 to 1, in order to test the sentiment of the Senate.

Uncle Sam in the Fair.

Many a visitor, foreign and domestic both, has not scrupled to say that in her share of the show the United States of America has little to be proud of; but people so saying do not stop to think. To begin with, when France, Great Britain, Germany, and Russia opened to the public gaze the treasure houses of their products, there was no minor exhibit by Department, County, or Principality to detract from the magnificent whole of the Nation. How is it with us? Each one of our forty four States is perfectly at liberty to set up shop for itself, be its own exhibitor, and let that inconspicuous dot on the map, the District of Columbia, with all that therein is, do the best it can with what the Senators and Representatives in Congress of these several and sovereign States saw at to afford it.

England and France, Germany, Austria, and Russia liberally endowed their exhibits and exhibitors. Columbia, ever saving at the spigot and running at the bung, could indulge in little of self-glorification on the allowance alloted to her. Leaving to her children the pride and pleasure of showing their visitors through homes of plenty and prosperity such as the masses of the Old World have never equalled, she points with calm satisfaction to a new-made city the like of which, in grandeur of design, in beauty of architecture, in splendor of proportion, no other nation ever dreamed of building for such a purpose; and, coupling this with the characteristic and often beautiful edifices erected by bill; and he impressed it upon the the States, she declares these to be America's exhibit, and this affair in the drab-colored chicken-coop merely a side show. Were there the least pretence or ostentation about it, the so-called Government Exhibit at the World's Columbian Exposition would remind one irresistibly of the poor relation at a family festival.-Char'es King, U. Policy Would Bring.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 .- Yesterday there was gathered within the walls of the Senate Chamber a larger attendance of Senators on the floor and of spectators in the galleries than has been seen for many a day. The occusion was the announcement that the Senate was to be addressed by Mr. Voorhees, chairman of the Finance committee, in support of the bill reported by him discontinuing the purchase of silver

The speech began at 12:25 and closed at 2 p. m., and was listened to from beginning to end with close and eager attention, Both on the floor and in the galleries there was but one attempt made to divert Mr. Voorhees from the current of his speech, but he declined, absolutely, to yield to any interruption. There was also but one manifestation of approval from the galleries, and that was promptly suppressed, and its repetition forbidden by the Vice-Presi-

In conclusion Mr. Voorhees named the following five essentials of a sound cur-ency, which, he believed, would follow the adoption of the policy he advocated: First-A sufficient volume of currency at all times, State and national, on practically a specie basis, guaranteed also by public honor, with which to transact the growing and expanding business develop-ments of the country. Second—The absolute denial and destruction of all power in the hands of individuals, corporations or syndicates to cause fluctuations in amount of the different currencies in circulation, thus rendering panics and business distress impossible for the future

Third-Every dollar in circulation, whether gold or silver, State bank paper or United States notes, on a strict parity and interchangeable with every other dollar, thus securing to the people the bene-fits and advantages of both State currency and a national currency, circulating in harmony and uniformity, and performing all the functions of money at home and

Fourth-The settlement of the vexed question of silver money at once and for-ever by authorizing it to form its portion of the specie basis required by the Consti-tution for every chartered bank in the Union; by recognizing it when defining the powers of the States to make legal tender money, thus making the use of silver coined into money as imperative as it will be useful to the great body of the people.

Fifth.—The total and complete overthrow of the dangerous centralization of the money power now existing at a few money centers and in the hands of a few individuals by giving to the people of the States the right of home rule on the subject of money and thereby securing to them a reliable non-fluctuating home circulation. To these five propositions Mr. Voorhee added that one more-a carefully adjusted and graded income tax-a most equitable and upright measure, in providing government revenue and demanded by old-fashioned eternal justice.

The speech was followed by an argument from Mr. Dubois, (Rep. Idaho) in opposi-tion to the bill as a measure to establish gold monometallism; and by one from Mr. Falmer, (Dem. III.) in support of the bill, and suggesting the difficulty, if not impossibility of bi-metallism according to the Chicago platform.

The last hour or two of the day's session passed in a discussion of Mr. Cockrell's amendment to the bill for the increase of national bank circulation, but no action was taken upon it, and at 5:10 the Senate adjourned

A Bride Gives the Dread Disease to Score of Her Friends.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 22.-Last Wedneeday evening in the town of Kiantone, a few miles south of this city, the marriage of Miss Aiken to Mr. Amsdell took piace. The bride was a very popular young woman and many friends were at her wedding. She had a slight sore throat, but thought nothing of it and made complaint to no one. Since the wedding the case has developed into one of diphtheria and nearly a score of her friends who were at the wedding and kissed the bride when at the wedding and almost the british offering their good wishes, have been attacked with the same disease.

No deaths have occurred yet, but many of the cases are very serious, and the worst results are feared in some of them.

Voorhees Pictures What His Speaker Crisp Makes a Ceneral Shake-Up.

Washiveron, Aug. 22.-The principal changes made by Speaker Crisp in the chairmanship of committees announced by him yesterday had been discounted in the public mind by the publications previously made concerning their composition. The chief surprise was therefore occasioned by the assignment given Mr. Springer. He had generally been accorded a place at the head of the Committee on Foreign Affairs in case of a transfer from the Committee on Ways and Means. No one had suggested him for membership on Banking and Currency. The announcement of the list as it was read from the Clerk's desk was the first intimation that members had of the Speaker's determination in the mat-

The Coinage, Weights and Measures gets Mr. Bland again as chairman, and the committee is for free coinage by one. This, however, will not have much effect, as the silver bill will be out of the House before they can get to work. The Banking and Currency Committee is anti-silver.

Springer Disagreeably Surprised. WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—When asked for a statement as to the reasons which impelled the Speaker to depose him from the chairmanship of the Ways and Means committee, Mr. Springer said: "Not to say that I am surprised at my deposition from the chairmanship of the Ways and Means committee and appointment as chairman of the committee on banking and currency is only a feeble expression of the trutb. I have had no intimation from the Speaker whatever as to his failure to reappoint or of the other committee. "I go from the work to which I have given the best study of my life to a com-mittee to the business of which I have given but little attention heretofore. I know nothing of the motives of the Speaker or of the object he had in view. He has assured me that he desired to do that which he thought was best for the country and the Democratic party. I hope not mistaken but opinions may differ. I do not care to make a further statement at this time.

Men Are Like Sheep.

THEY FOLLOW A LEADER PARTICULAR-LY IF THE LEADER IS A CHUMP.

From the Kansas City Times.

"I want to call your attention to the fact that the human chump is a gregarious animal," remarked a traveling ens" on his first visit to America in man yesterday. "I assert that the 1841. majority of people are chumps, and by a chump I mean a person who allows other people to think for him. Chumps are like sheep, they go in a flock. I spent yesterday in loafing about your town. I found much food for thought down on Delaware street, which I found crowded all day long with people who were loaded to the muzzle with second-hand information on finance and banking questions. I mixed with the crowd in front of one of the banks on which there was a run. I had not been there long before a man whose every look and move proclaimed him a chronic croak. er joined the group of which I was one of the component parts. His face was screwed into an expression of intense despair. Someone in the group said something about deposits, and the croaker edged to the front, extended his lank hand and, bringing his bony finger down upon it, began, 'Men,' and paused for attention. 'Men, what air we comin' tew? What chance's a pore man got nowadays? The kentry's goin' to rack 'n ruin. The rich 's grindin' the pore into the dust. The dod-blamed banks 's bustin' up 'n linin' their pockets with the pore man's money. "He went on in this strain for fifteen minutes and every one in the group said, 'Yes, that's so, sure its popularity, we can only say that enough,' and shook their heads sadly. When the croaker had pumped that group dry of applause he moved off and I followed. Everywhere he went he croaked the same old croak and all the other croakers agreed with him. Finally I called him to one side and said: 'My poor man, my heart bleeds for you. Tell me, how much money have you on deposit in any of these suspended banks. You must have lost a big amount or you would not mourn so.

" 'No, I didn't lose none; not a what I hed in out.

"Then you have lost nothing by the suspension of these banks?' "'Nary a red.'

Lippincott's Magazine for September.

The complete novel in the Septem oer aumber of Lippincott's is "A Bachelor's Bridal," by Mrs. H. Lovett Cameron. It tells of an unconventional and ill-starred marriage and its tragic consequences.

The seventh in the series of Lippincott's Notable Stories is "The Cross-Roads Ghost," by Matt Crim. It is illustrated, as are two other brief tales, "Ishmael," by Richard Malcolm Johnston, and "The Carthusian," from the French of Amedee Pigeon.

Captain Charles King, in "Uncle Sam at the Fair," describes the Government Exhibit at Chicago, and tells how that part of it which relates to the army is thronged by visitors, while those which display the arts of peace are comparatively neglected.

The Battle of Gettysburg.

We beg leave to advise our readers to be sure aud not forget to see the Panorama of the Battle of Gettysburg, while in Chicago during the Fair. Take advantage of the low rates and see Gettysburg.

There is no picture in the world like this of Gettysburg; no other picture presents such a scope of country or gives such a thrilling representation of a battle. It is no wonder it is called "Chicago's Pride, and Greatest Artistic Attraction".

It is the Original Gettysburg, and has been on exhibition for the last ten years. To give our readers an idea of during those ten years over two millions of people have visited it, and it has paid its stockholders over $415,ooo in dividends.

It is situated in the Centre of the City, corner of Wabash Avenue and Hubbard Court.
