Sagacious Shepherd Boys.

THEIR FAITHFUL WATCHFULNESS OF THE FLOCKS UNDER THEIR CARE.

Gen. John Bidwell related to the Oroville (Cal.) Register the following as showing how well trained the shep-herd dog becomes. He and a friend were riding in the Salinas valley when they came to a band of one thousand or more sheep guarded by ten or twelve shepherd dogs. There were from twenty-five to thirty coyotes along the edge of the hills and within and vigilant dogs. "Two or three times while we were in sight one or more of the coyotes made a dash for the sheep, but each time they were driven back by the guardians of the flock. We rode on and put up at the Gomez ranch, which was owned by a wealthy native Californian. About sundown the sheep, driven by the dogs came up to the house and the flock entered a corral. Two of the dogs laid down at the entrance and waited there until the owner came out and put up the bars. Then the master patted his different dogs and fed them well. He told us that the dogs drove these sheep out on the plains two or three miles in the morning, remained with them during the day, kept the coyotes and other animals at bay, and each evening drove them up to the house and into the corral.'

Dandies in the Army.

GERMAN SOLDIERS WHO BEDECK THEM-SELVES WITH FINERY.

Referring to the recent order of the German emperor with regard to the dandyfied irregularities which had become common in the German army, says the London Globe, a correspondent at Berlin calls our attention to the fact that the kaiser himself is not altogether free from affectation of this kind, inasmuch as he himself sets the fashion of "bangle" wearing. In most of the many portraits of the kaiser the bangle is brought into special prominence by the position of the arm. But though addicted to the bangle, he never condescended to the earring, which formerly was very commonly worn among his officers.

In the time of Frederick William II., when the German army was resting on the laurels of the great Frederick, dandies flourished in great numbers among the officers, in spite of severe official condemnations of foppery. The monstrosities and extravagances differed but slightly from those Washington avenue, New York city, went of to-day-sharp pointed toes, ridiculously high collars and short overcoats without seams. Latter-day exquisites have also adopted the plan of crowding on the finger as many rings as possible-he who can carry the largest number on the ring fingers and at the same time bend his finger being considered to have the bluest blood.
