STATE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress-at-Large.
JAMES DENTON HANCOCK,
of Venango County.

JAMES DENTON HANCOCK.

Headquarters Democratic State Central Committee.

1432 SOUTH PENN SQUARE, PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, January 31, 1894.

TO THE ELECTORS OF PENNSYLVANIA:
The Democratic State Convention, held in Harrisburg, January 10, 1894, nominated its candidate and adopted its platform with unanimity and with a degree of enthusiasm that has not been surpassed. A representative convention of nearly five hundred delegates, assembled from every Representative district in the State, without a seat contested and without a dissenting voice, ranged itself in solid support of the national organization of the party and of the Democratic Administration of the Federal and State Governments. It nominated a representative Democrat as the candidate for Representative at-Large in Congress upon a platform in accordance with the last authorized deliverance of the National Democracy, and with its exposition by a Democratic President. It declared their sympathy with and support of the efforts of a Democratic Congress to relieve the country from business depression and from all the bad effects of Republican misrule. It declared for a true American system which would bring relief for languishing commercial interests, better wages to American labor, and which will restore American commerce.

Hon. James Denton Hancock, of Franklin, Venango County, the candidate for Representative at-Large in Congress, is a man of high and pure character, of large attainments and experience, with the intelligence to have convictions and the courage and honesty to avow them. He is the candidate of the whole party, and is entitled to its unanimous support. Gratified by these conditions, the organization of the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania, feels encouraged to call upon the electors of the State, without regard to party affiliations, to rally to his support. We believe that the principle of tariff reform has permeated the minds of the people of Pennsylvania, and that, in the language of the Harrisburg platform, they are ready to "record the vote of their State in Congress for an enlightened, liberal and progressive system, that must quicken the prosperity of our Commonwealth and promote the general welfare of the country."

We have everything to gain and nothing to lose by discussion and agitation. I therefore appeal to and call upon the organization of the party in every election district to disseminate the principles of the party as declared in its platform and in the deliverances of its candidate, and to promote, full, fair and free discussion of the issues of the campaign. To the end that there may be efficient and vigorous organization, I call upon the Democracy of the State to perfect their organizations by counties, election districts and by school districts. Above all, let there be a spirit of unity and harmony throughout the organization and in every district, so that a singleness of purpose may pervade the efforts of the party toward the election of its candidate, and unity of counsel may be joined with efficiency of organization and aggression in action. If the half million Democratic voters of Pennsylvania will record their votes for the nominee of their party, Pennsylvania will take its right place in the Democratic line.

J. MARSHALL WRIGHT,
Chairman of the Democratic State Committee.

GENERAL NEWS.

Gold, silver and lead have been discovered in Spruce Hill, near Bourneville, Ross county, Ohio, by A. W. Stretcher, of Xenia, who became wealthy by similar discoveries in California forty years ago. Springfield capitalists are associated with him. They have been prospecting over six months and will begin digging in two weeks. W. F. Mitchell and Miss Sallie Mitchell own the hill in which they have found the valuable metal.

Eddie Brotherston a ten-year old boy disappeared from his home in Ashley about two weeks ago. Every stream and pond has been dragged, but no trace of him. It is supposed he has been kidnapped.

Geo. W. Childs, proprietor of the Philadelphia Ledger, is lying in a critical condition, the result of paralysis which followed his attack of vertigo of the 18th inst.

February "Cosmopolitan".

The Secret of the great success of THE COSMOPOLITAN is not so hard to find, if one looks carefully over the number for February. A story by Vaides, the famous Spanish novelist, the first from his pen to appear in any American magazine, is begun in this number. Arthur Sherburne Hardy's story, "A Rejected Manuscript" is charmingly illustrated by I. Marold, who we believe makes his first appearance in the magazine on this side of the water. A profusely illustrated article on the designing and building of a war-ship appeals to the interest taken by all in the new navy, and a thrilling description of a naval combat under the significant title: "The Meloban and the Pentheroy" describes after the manner of the Battle of Darking, a possible sea fight, the outcome of which is watched by the entire naval world. "Gliding Flight" is an interesting contribution to the problem of aerial navigation by one who has studied the flight of soaring birds in the East for twenty years. Blaine Goodale, who married a member of the Sioux nation of Indian Wars and Warriors. T. C. Crawford, the Washington correspondent, gives the first half of a startling story, under the title of "The Disappearance Syndicate". The poetry in this number by Sir E. I. Win Arnold, Graham R. Tomson and William Young, is unusually good. The Departments, "In the World of Art and Letters" and the "Progress of Science" continue to have as contributors men famous in both continents.

The COSMOPOLITAN for February introduces a famous Europe in author to its readers—Vaides of Madrid, and the artist Marold of Paris, well known as a French illustrator.
