WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19, 1894.

For good and sufficient reasons the tariff bill was not reported to the Senate Finance committee last week, although it could have been reported. The delay was in the interest of democratic harmony, it being thought best to allow objecting democrats to have their say to the sub-committee composed entirely of democrats rather than before the full committee. The regular meeting of the Finance committee will be held to-morrow and the present intention is to report the revised bill. It is possible that it may be delayed a day or two later, but I am assured by every member of the committee that it will certainly be reported this week. No time will be lost by the democrats on the Finance committee after it is reported in getting it reported to the Senate, as they have been cognizant of every change made by the sub-committee. If fact the sub-committee while nominally made up of only three Senators has in reality been the entire democratic membership of the Finance committee, except Senator Vance, who is away sick. The members of the sub-committee feel so certain that they have made the last change in the bill that the revised copy has been sent to the Government Printing office to be put in type.

The best posted democrats laugh at the idea of the 15 democratic Senators to reject the nomination of Peckham being classed as opponents of the administration. One of President Cleveland's most loyal supporters as well as his warm personal friends puts it this way: "I am not a bit sorry that Peckham was rejected, and I know the reasons which governed most of the democratic votes against him. First he bolted the regular democratic ticket at the last state election and openly aided in defeating it, and, as though that were not enough to bar him from any favors at the disposal of the party, he neglected to vote at the recent special Congressional election in New York city when he knew that extraordinary efforts were being made to get out the full party vote, and when asked about it replied carelessly that he forgot all about the election. Now, I don't think a man who forgets when an important election is to be held should have any office, large or small." That this opinion is echoed by many of the staunchest friends of the administration in Congress is certain, and it is generally believed that if President Cleveland will nominate a good democrat for the vacancy those 15 democratic Senators will show that they bear the administration no ill will by voting solidly for his confirmation. The shrewd democrats in Congress think that the mugwumps have been sufficiently rewarded and that all the appointments hereafter made should be good democrats, men who can be depended upon to help the party win future battles.

Senator Morgan, chairman of the Senate committee on Foreign Relations, has, at the request of the sub-committee, written the report of the Hawaiian investigation. At a special meeting of the committee the report was read and it was decided to defer action upon it to a meeting to be held this week. The report has not been made public and members of the committee decline to discuss it.

Representative Bland of Mo., has been having a tussle with the "no quorum" fend, and his bill for the coinage of the seigniorage is still unacted upon. There has been a quorum on the floor of the House every day, both those opposed to the bill have refused to vote and the friends of the measure have been a few short of a quorum. Notice has been sent to all absentees to return at once and Mr. Bland is confident that a quorum in favor of the bill will be on hand this week and that the bill will be passed without further delay. It is thought that the filibustering against the bill was for the purpose of delaying it in the House until after the tariff bill gets before the Senate, so as to prevent its being promptly acted upon in the Senate, as its passage by the House has been conceded by all from the first.

The Woman's Suffragists are preparing to move on the South. At their annual convention, just closed in this city, Atlanta, Ga., was selected as the meeting place of next year's convention.

The plate printers' branch of the K. of L., of this city, have adopted resolutions thanking Representative Sayers of Texas, chairman of the House committee on Appropriations, for his friendship to the interest of labor, and requesting all labor organizations in his district to join in the voice thus raised in appreciation of his services to the working people. Judge Sayers has always been popular in Washington because of his approachability, and the fame he is making as chairman of the Appropriations committee, one of the most important in the House, has not swelled his head even a little bit.

Reading Re-organization.

PERMISSION ASKED TO ISSUE $5,000,000 COAL TRUST CERTIFICATES.

The first step toward the reorganization of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad was taken Tuesday, when the receivers of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company (the interests of both corporations being identical) filed a petition in the United States Circuit Court, before Judge Butler, asking for permission to issue $5,000,000 of five and ten-year six per cent. coal trust certificates secured by coal and coal accounts now held by the Finance Company of Pennsylvania.

Judge Butler referred the matter to Special Master Crawford, who will make a report thereon to the Court. The petition states that Drexel & Co., and Brown Brothers & Co., have agreed to purchase over half of the issue at ninety-seven and one-half per cent. of the par value, and that John Lowber Welsh, one of the receivers, has agreed (subject to the approval of the Court) to take $250,000 of bonds. The proceeds will be partly used to take up the Speyer loan of $2,500,000, which will mature on April 3.

What the Fireman on the "Flyer" Has To Do.

From Harper's Young People.

At least every thirty seconds he throws open the furnace door, and without a false motion or the slightest delay hurries exactly three shovelfuls of coal on the fire. He knows just how to spill and spread it with a dexterous turn of the wrist. Before Albany is reached he must throw 6375 pounds of that coal into the fire, or nearly forty pounds a minute, or an average of forty-four pounds a mile. Then, too, he must know exactly where he is along the road, and when to drop his shovel and seize the bell cord. He must ring the bell in passing through all towns and villages. He must know the proper instant to vault into his seat when important curves are reached to watch for signals. He must see that the steam doesn't vary, and he is proud to shout in your ear when you get near Albany, "She hasn't varied three pounds since we left New York. He must watch the water-gauge of the boiler, and is constantly kept changing the pumps and seeing that they do their work properly. All the time he must keep throwing his forty four pounds of coal on the fire every mile. It isn't long before he surprises you with another motion. He throws open the furnace door and thrusts a long, double-pronged fork into the fire. With a twist he prods the glowing mass, and when he pulls his fork out its teeth are cherry red. Then comes the whir of the shovel again, and the sound of the hammer as Tompkins breaks up the larger lumps of coal.

When you approach Montrose, near Peekskill, the engine begins to slow down. If you look ahead you will see a narrow trough between the rails filled with water. The engine is going to take on water at a flying leap. Tompkins stands at the side of the tender with his hand on a lever. Engineer Foyle suddenly starts you with a shrill whistle between his teeth that would put to shame the warning a New York newsboy gives to his gambling mates when a policeman comes in sight. Instantly the lever flies back and as you look at the wheels of the tender you see surging up among the trucks a torrent of water.

It splashes and roars, and as you wonder if you won't be carried away, two whistles from Foyle, sharper and shriller than the first, warn Tompkins to pull up the scoop, and that the end of the water-trough is near. Then Tompkins goes back to his coal, his pumps, his pipe, his water-gauge, his bell, his watch for signals, and you wonder what new work he will do next. Before you are aware of it he touches you upon the knee, and motions for you to raise your feet, while he turns on a hose and wets the floor of the cab to keep down the dust, after which he sweeps up with a stubby broom. Next he is shaking down the grates with a big steel lever that looks like the tiller of a large sail-boat. You now begin to take in what it means to be a fireman. Toward the end of the trip you tap his shoulder, and shout to him, "This seems to keep you pretty busy."

"I tell you there is no funny business about this work," is his response.

No better aid to digestion, No better cure for dyspepsia, Nothing more reliable for biliousness and constipation than DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills.— W. S. Rishton, Druggist.

It Is a Necessity.

Rev. A. S. Andrews, D. D., LL. D., President of Southern University, Greensboro, Ala., says: "I find the World Almanac invaluable to me. The statistical tables are full and the matter is ever fresh. I know of no collection of facts in so small a space. The arrangement is convenient and natural, and the volume is one of the best in the language. It is a necessity to the scholar, the professionalist and the business man." See our Almanac of f. r.

All Run Down

Always Tired, Sleepless and Without Appetite

Blood Vitalized and Strength Renewed by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass."

"For a couple of years, I was subject to feeling anything but good. I always felt tired, I could not sleep at night and the little I could eat did not seem to benefit me any.

I did not have any ambition to go around or work and in fact was not able to do a good day's work. I happened to pick up a circular embracing advertisements and testimonials for Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after reading them decided to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial. I have taken five bottles and must say that I have derived wonderful benefit from it and

Feel Like a New Man.

I would recommend it to all sufferers and would urge them not to hesitate but to decide at once to take Hood's Sarsaparilla." PAUL M. WEBER, 1112 North Tenth Street, Reading, Pennsylvania.
