CHILDREN WHO SUFFER

from scrofulous, skin or scalp diseases, ought to be given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. For children who are puny, pale or weak, the "Discovery" is a tonic which builds up both flesh and strength. What is said of it for children applies equally to adults. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength. In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, and other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, as Dyspepsia and Biliousness, if it doesn't benefit or cure in every case, the money is returned.

Degrees of Heat in Incubators.

Incubators are usually run at 103 degrees above zero. One very successful hatcher runs his at 102½ degrees, while another almost or quite as successful runs his at 104 degrees. Not a few failures in hatching have been due to the incorrect registering of the temperature by the thermometer. If the thermometer indicates a less degree than 102½ degrees, no alarm need be felt—the hatching may be delayed a little, but that is not a serious matter—but if the thermometer goes above 110 then there is good cause for alarm.

There is a possibility that absolute uniformity of heat may be a disadvantage in hatching, and yet few are willing to trust to much variation. The variation secured by the taking out of the eggs for turning is considered ample for the requirements of a successful hatch, and the advice given by a writer in American Agriculturist is to secure as great a uniformity of temperature as possible.

A Little Daughter

Of a Church of England minister cured of a distressing rash, by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mr. RICHARD BIRKS, the well-known Druggist, 207 McGill st., Montreal, P. Q., says: I have sold Ayer's Family Medicines for 40 years, and have heard nothing but good said of them. I know of many performed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, one in particular being that of a little daughter of a Church of England minister. The child was literally covered from head to foot with a red and exceedingly troublesome rash, from which she had suffered for two or three years, in spite of the best medical treatment available. Her father was in great distress about the case, and, at my recommendation, at last began to administer Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which effected a complete cure, much to her relief and her father's delight. I am sure, were he here to-day, he would testify in the strongest terms as to the merits of

THE FATHER AND HIS BOY.

Don't be a hypocrite before your boy, writes Robert J. Burdette in the first paper of the series "Before He is Twenty" in the April Ladies' Home Journal. When he believes you to be infallible don't encourage the belief. Take him into your life as you desire to be taken into his. Don't tell him that when you were a boy you never gave your parents a moment's uneasiness, were never cross to your little sister, never disobeyed your teacher, never cruel to dumb animals, and always kept the Golden Rule. Be honest with him above all things. Don't be too dignified with him. The more he loves you, the more he lives in your arms, the more he plays with you and the less he fears you, the more profoundly will he respect you. Pity the man, who, in order to secure and retain proper respect from his children, has to wear at all times an uncomfortable veneer of artificial dignity.

An Unpublished Incident About General Grant.

HOW HE HAPPENED TO USE A PHRASE THAT HAS BECOME ALMOST AS CELEBRATED AS "LET US HAVE PEACE."

Shortly before his death General Grant while in conversation with a distinguished statesman, still living, used these prophetic words: "The greatest of all World's Expositions will soon be held in some one of our large cities, and within itself this Exposition will compose a Magic City." At the time this conversation took place the location of the World's Fair had not been fixed; in fact the holding of the Fair itself had not been decided upon, but General Grant, with that prophetic instinct which characterizes all great men, saw that it was one of the necessities of the future, and he knew that when it came it would be the grandest Exposition the world had ever seen.

The curious feature about this incident, however, is the fact that the General gave the title to the greatest and best of all the World's Fair art portfolios nearly eight years before the Fair was opened, and the publishers of "The Magic City" adopted that title without knowing that he had used the expression referred to. The title was suggested by a member of the firm at a meeting of the executive board, and it was immediately accepted on account of its appropriateness. Some weeks later, after the publication of the first number of "The Magic City," another member of the publishing house exhibited a copy to the statesman with whom the conversation had been held, when he immediately exclaimed with considerable excitement, "Why, you have adopted General Grant's title." He then related the circumstances of the conversation, and concluded with a warm compliment to "The Magic City," which he declared was the finest specimen of photographic art work he had ever seen, a credit not only to the publishers but to the World's Fair and our country as well. "You have also," said he, "done credit to the memory of General Grant by adopting a title which he was first to suggest, even though it was done unconsciously on your part. I am truly glad to see so splendid a work associated with the old hero's name."

The success of "The Magic City" is phenomenal, and much of this success is due to the title, although of course the title alone could not sell the work. It not only has the right title, but it is also beyond all comparison the most beautiful as well as the only complete representation of the World's Fair and Midway Pleasure, with all their features. Don't fail to get a sample copy of this great work. You will certainly regret it if you do. Sample copies can be had at the office of THE COLUMBIAN, or by mail for ten cents. We are now issuing No. 1.

We hope those who have been getting "The Magic City" will speak to their friends about it, for it is certainly a great treat to have such a gloriously beautiful work in our homes.
