Last Tuesday night there was a magnificent display of "Aurora Borealis." The phenomenoa was beautiful and realistic in the extreme. Whether caused by atmospheric conditions or by electric currents may not be known, but the heavens had a majestic and grand appearance. From all points of the northern hemisphere of the sky there shot from the horizon to the zenith great volumes and sheets of light, flashing like continuous light-ning, looking to all intents as though the northern universe was ablaze, the BADGES. HARD TIMES.

What strikes the casual visitor of Bloomsburg hardest in these "hard times" is the great number of new buildings looming in sight, and the general business activity. Were the Republican strongholds thus willing to strike at hard times much, indeed, of our business depression, "because of anticipated tariff tinkering," would be averted. To our mind there is not the least doubt about this. It is like the question of resuming specie payment in the days of Horace Greeley. The old man helped our statesmen out of their dilemma by telling them in the Tribune that the way to resume specie payment was just simply to re-So we believe it to be with nine tenths of our suspended autocratic business plants that have here-tofore been in the bad habit of regulating the tariff to suit themselves. How so? Why, by either through assisting in formulating the tariff laws, or lowering wages of employees, or else through the importation of cheap foreign labor. There is no denying the power of the American plutocrat. So in the language of Greeley we would say to those zealous political patriots who would stagnate business for political effect, the way to resume business is to resume. And should labor get B. F. Sharpless, Pres. the better of capital through the resumption, it will be the first time in the history of our Government when capital could not manage to manipulate tariff legislation far enough to make business profitable to home manufacturers.

Since 1871 the Grand Army of the Republic has expended near $3,000,ooo in the relief and burial of comrades. This signifies that the soldiers are rapid y dying, and that the vexed pension question will soon settle itself. If pensions were confined to soldiers proper, and their widows and orphans, not near so much money would be needed; and, if needed, it would be paid ungrudgingly. It is the vast sum given so called "dependent parents," et al., and the absorbing of money the soldier proper should have that, justifies complaint. While "dependent parents," who never smelled war powder and never intended to, have all been pensioned long ago, soldiers proper are dying daily with claims still unsettled. We used to think politics had no influence upon a pension claim, but we have got over that train of thought.
