CARE OF PLANTS.

Century plants are very hardy and will stand most anything. After several years experience I have found that the best way to keep them over winter is to put them in the cellar in a cool place, not in danger of frost howeve., and with a little light. If kept in total darkness they will become bleached. They want no water if in the dark, as it will not the roots. If they become very dry, a little water two or three times during the winter is all that is necessary. They should be brought out doors as early in the spring as possible. I usually take mine out about the middle of May.

Cannas and Calladiums should be potted and started in the house, in a warm place, and should not be set out in the yard before June 1. They third of the normal number. I realrequire a great deal of water. These plants are ornamental, and quite inexpensive. Calladium bulbs can be purchased at from five to fifty cents apiece, according to size. There are several varieties of cannas, the red leaf being the prettiest.

Palms and screw pines should not have the direct rays of the sun. They are tropical plants and grow pro-fusely in the thick forests of the south. Among the prettiest of these plants jardiniere are Latania for the Borbonica, Kentia Balmorcana, Seaforthia elegans, Areca lutescens, and others. The Dracena bruantie is

The Pullman Strike.

It is, indeed, a supreme effort that united labor organizations are now making. There is not a city in the country but what feels the disadvantages of the tie-up. Some feel it more particularly in the advanced price of meats and vegetables, but in fact all business relations are somewhat affected. Had the tie-up taken place before home vegetables were to be gotten from home gardens, as at first intended even the smaller towns would have felt it. Delegates from all the trades unions of Chicago have decided to order a general strike in which 100,000 workmen will be involved, unless Mr. Pullman yields to their demands. This he fatly refuses to do, claiming that private business should be conducted without interference.

The Pullman company issued a full statement in the Chicago papers of all the events leading up to the strike, and also of the nature and relation of his car building to the railroads en-gaging his cars. He gives in this state-ment a complete exposition of the wages he paid his hands along with his profits and losses in business. As a whole the paper is not calculated to engender sympathy for his striking wage-earners, since he puts the responsibility of their loss of wages and of employment largely upon themselves, in consequence of their arbitrary attitude after his explanation of the depersed conditions and of the competition in the car-building industry. He says many things by way of public and personal explanation:

The absolute necessity of the last reduction in wages, under the existing condition of the business of car manufacturing, had been explained to the committee, and they were insisting upon a restoration of the wage scale of the first half of 1893, when Mr. Pullman entered the room and adsubstance as follows:

"At the commencement of the very serious depression last year we signs of the times of little value. were employing at Pullman 5,816 $305,000 a month. Whether these deterrents be true or false, and whether the demands of his employees be right or wrong, the deplorable fight is raging more or less aggressively, and it will be felt by rich and poor alike if continued for any great length of time.

The impoverished condition those willing to work and the disaffection already enkindled among labor organizations would be apt to solve the problem in time; but the lining membranes of stomach and varied industries of this nervous nation are far too keen and impatient to thus quietly abide a peaceful settlement of arbitrary and violent acts. When the fundamental and equitable principle of individual control of one's own property and business affairs is thus placed in jeopardy by mob rule, we deem it time for the strong arm of the Government ,State or National, (or both if need be) to come to the rescue in behalf of the rights and privileges guaranteed to all by our

A Brief Synopsis of Dun's Review.

As to the immediate future, the Review admits that the interruption dressed the committee, speaking in of business by the railroad strikes has been so demoralizing and unsettling in effect as to leave the usual

In regard to the effect of the passand we were obliged to lay off, as you age of the tariff bill by the Senate, are aware, a large number of men in Mr. Dun aptly remarks that no one every department, so that by Nov. 1, will venture to risk much on its final passage without further alteration. In fact further alteration is anticipated.

As to speculation in all kinds of products, unsettled conditions make ous exertions to procure work im- it full of uncertainties. The iron industry, as a result of unfavorable conditions, emanating from the coal miner's strike and blockwould be made upon a much lower Railway earnings being affected, improvements and extensions of the roads will also be affected. Prices are tending downward, though a rally is anticipated immediately after the termination of the strikes.

Textile manufactures show no improvement. On the other hand two mportant cotton mills stopped indefinitely. Also a number of woolen mills are closed for the present, most likely anticipating cheaper goods through toreign competition after new duties take effect.

Minor industries are also affected much in the same way, especially where changes of tariff duty is liable to bring foreign products into competition with domestic manufacturesall of which tends, of course, to reduce the price in the interest of the consumer, and to the disadvantage of the home manufacturer. This is what the writer would call bitter-sweet; that is bitter to our manufacturing classes and sweet to the consuming masses.

The Government closes its fiscal year with a decrease of $88,919, 292 in revenue. However, bankers calculate that the danger point is past, since our gold exports have about stopped, amounting to only $350,000 for the week. Our receipts exceeding our shipments by $2,000,000 this week is very encouraging.

In very plain English the Review says: "Large imports are expected when the new tariff goes into effect, which will tend to lessen the customary excess of exports in the Fall."

As to failures, there were less this year than last; and also the liabilities involved in the failures were nearly 50 per cent. less. " In the important classes the commercial failures show a most encouraging improvement," says the Review " Failures during the week have been 181 in the United States, against 334 last year, and 34 in Canada, against 23 last year, with no important disaster as yet since the new

QUARTO CENTENNIAL.

The twenty fifth anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. A. Houtz will be held in two sessions of one day each. The first session will be held on Thursday, August 26, in Mr. Philip Creasy's grove in Centre township, familiarly known as the Conner camp-meeting grove. This will be convenient to all living in Briarcreek valley and the adjacent towns. The second session will be held on Friday, August 27, in Mr. E. M. Laubach's grove, near Forks. This will be convenient to all those who live along the B. & S. R. R. and in Fishingcreek valley and neigh-boring towns. Tickets will be sold on that day at Forks at excursion rates, and the trains will stop at the grove.

The exercises of each session will begin at 10 A. M. sharp, and close at 4:30 P. M., with a recess of two hours for dinner and social intercourse. An interesting program has been prepared for the occasion, consisting of address, toasts, music and the recitation of two poems prepared especially for this occasion; the one by an old friend of the pastor, Elder John Sutton, and the other by Prof. A. U. Lesher, of Berwick, a grand-son of the immediate predecessor of the pastor. Offerings will be lifted at each session.

The following brethren have signified their intention to be present and take part : Revs. E. H. Dieffenbacher, of Strawberry Ridge; D. E. Schoedler, of Turbotville; G. S. Sorber, of Watsontown; D. W. Ebbert, of Milton; C. B. Alspach, of Danville; F. H. Fisher, of Mausdale; G. B. Dechant, of Catawissa; C. H. Brandt, of Bloomsburg W. D. Donot, of Wapwallopen ; S. C. Meckel and F. K. Levan, D. D., of Wilkes-Barre; J. B. Kerschner, of Conyngham; A. Noll, of Hazleton; J. C. Bowman, D. D., of Lancaster, and W. Goodrich, of Clearsbury, Md.

All who have hymnals will please bring the same. The dinner will be in the form of a basket picnic. No melon wagons, confectionery stands or drinking bars will be allowed on the grounds, as these are always a source of annoyance and distraction.

We hereby, in the name of the pas tor and the Orangeville Reformed charge, extend a most cordial invitation to all pastors and their congregations, and the public generally, to attend this Quarto Centennial which we believe will be a social, intellectual and spiritual feast to all present. COMMITTEE.

To Arbitrary Strikers.

The greatest mistake any body of arbitrary strikers can make is to suppose, as their leader Debs declares, that ninety per cent. of the American people are in sympathy with them or with any arbitrary act of anybody. Law and order is the first considera-The aggregate yearly export has tion of the American citizen who is worthy of his country and the shelter-America, thank God. While I am persuaded that I care of the situation and 19 a few scattering builets and bombs in fronts us, it seems to me that in this unwarranted, I again ask their withthe hands of the drunken and reckless foreigner. Against all this the patriot must heartily protest if he would preserve the best and most considerate Government on earth to the poor man. The Presidential oath compels the President to protect the personal property of rich and poor alike, and this public sentiment also demands of him. As to the right of an employee to strike against an employer no one doubts it; but to arbitrarily stand in his door-way armed against all comers, threatening both his life and property in case he presumes to continue business, is quite another thing. It dont take a very great knowledge of law or equity to observe the falsity and recklessness of such an attitude on the part of the striker. If carried to his own property on personal belongings he could better observe its gross injustice, no doubt.

> This much we must say while in hearty sympathy with those who actually labor for a living, and also in hearty sympathy with any and all legitimate and fair means tending to make capital remember that, "the la-borer is worthy of his hire." The laborer's hands being frequently the source of the rich man's wealth, they should earn for him not only enough to live, but also a liberal share of the protected dividends. But whether capital of its own volition will be liberal and just or not, no laborer or artisan can afford to consent to anything leading the more reckless to unlawless acts, such as murder or arson, from a spirit of revenge, The Almighty has has hitherto always liberated the enslaved and there is no doubt that He is still able and willing to confound the mighty, the haughty, or the really op-pressive. The battle of the poor against the rich, when conducted arbitrarily and without the fear of God or man, is invariab'y disastrous and ineffectual For one we have no sympathy with arbitrary acts or actors.

The secretary of the Elkhart Carriage and Harness Mig. Co., of Elkhart, Ind., informs as that their prices will be lower for 1894 than ever. He wishes us to ask our readers not to purchase anything in the line of carriages, wagons, bicycles or harness until they have sent 4 cents in stamps to pay postage on their 112 page catalogue. We advise the readers of this paper to remember his suggestion.

GROVER CLEVELAND In his telegram to President Cleveland Governor Altgeld says if the President's assumption that he has the power to order federal troops into any State is right, then the principle of local self government never existed in this country or it has been destroyed. The governor then says: "You say that troops were ordered into Illinois upon the demand of the Postoffice Department upon representation of the judicial officers of the United States that processes of the courts could not be served and upon proof that conspiracies existed. We will not discuss the facts, but look for a moment at the principle involved in your statement. All of these officers are appointed by the executive. Most of them can be removed by him at will. If several of them can apply for troops, one alone can, so that under the law as you assume it to be an executive through any one of his appointees can apply to himself to have the military sent into any city or number of cities, and base his application on such representations or showing as he sees fit to make.

"This assumption as to the power of the executive is certainly new and I respectfully submit that it is not the law of the land. The autocrat of Russia could certainly not possess or claim to possess greater power than is possessed by the executive of the United States, if your assumption is correct.

"The executive has the command, not only of the regular forces of the United States but of the military forces of all the States and can order them to any place he sees fit, and as there are always more or less local disturbances over the country, it will be an easy matter under your construction of the law for an ambitious executive to order out the military forces of all the states and establish at once a military government.
