Solid for Tucker.

Apropos to the distribution of seed from the Department of Agriculture, which was recently under discussion in the House, Representative Tucker, of Virginia, told a story to the Wash-ington Post. He said that down in Appointtox county there leved an old farmer to whom he had on several ocensions sent packages of seeds and shipments of fish from the Fish Commasion, with which to stock the creeks and ponds on his place. One court day, when the Representative was in nown, his farmer triand approached and in a confidential way said: "Tuck, vou've sent me seeds and lish two or three times, and I am very much obliged to you for them, but there is one other thing I wish you would do, if you can.

"What's that?" asked the Representative.

"Well, I want a thoroughbred hound bup for my kennel, and I thought may be you folks up at Washington could suid it down to me just as well as not, if I only asked for it." "Why, certainly," responded Tucker.

'It will give me great pleasure to send the pup to you, and as soon as I get back to Washington you may look out for him."

The Representative said that, so far is he could see, there was no reason why the government should not go into the business of supplying the con-stituents of Congressmen with dogs to sutteents of Congressmen with dogs to improve their breeds as well as seeds to improve their crops, and fish to add to their food supply. "So," he con-finued, "I hunted up a thoroughbred bound pup, had him nicely crated, pre-paid the express charges, and sent him hown. And you can bet that constitu-ent is solid for Tucker." ent is solid for "fucker."

The Laugh Against Him.

"It is surprising bow few people can stand a joke at their own expense," and Charles J. Perry, the well-known Park Row druggest, to a New York Morning Journal reporter recently. "I have known people, proverbial for good nature, put on wry faces when the hingh was turned against them. The other day," he continued. "I was prepent when a good-hearted, whole souled rounder was talking with an excellent feilow who made it a point never to touch liquor. 'Why,' said the rounder, 'you and I drink more brandy and water than any two men in New

THE BERWICK FAIR.

Bright Prospects of a Large Attendance and Intoresting Attractions at the Coming Exhibition.

The management of the Berwick Fair are sparing no efforts to make their fair and exhibition - October 3, 4, 5, and 6th—a decided success in every particular. The grounds never looked more beautiful or attractive, and are visited daily by picnic parties who go there to enjoy the delights of its attractive grove and refreshing shade, on the banks overlooking the Susquehanna. The tract was thoroughly covered last fall with an excellent quality of clay, which was packed and cemented the road bed, making it smooth and even, so that they now have for this year's exhibition what horseman pronounce the best half-mile in the state. There will be no lack of attractions and amusements. while fakirs and the like will have no part in the show. One of the leading features will be the Bicycle races for class A under the auspices of the Berwick Bicycle Club. Prizes consist of diamond set and silver medals ; No. 1, Novice race-one mile-value $30.00, $15.00 and $10.00; No. 2, Columbia and Luzerne championship-one mile-value $35.00, $20.00 and $10; No. 3, one half mile open-value $40, $25.00 and $15 00; No. 4, one mile open -value $50.00, $25.00 and $15.00. The fair this year will be better than any heretofore held on the grounds.

Watering Horses.

The good horseman will water his horse before feeding him, especially in the morning. French breeders always water their horses before feeding and in all the large stables of horses in this country, that practice is followed. Yet many horsemen and farmers, says the Journal, never think of the advantage and necessity of it. If the horse could talk; or if man could understand him, he would ask for a drink the first thing every morning and you will be surprised how eager they are to get it whether the weather is cold or hot. I wonder how many farmers ever think of watering their horses before feeding them in the morning, or how much they lose by not doing it. The horse comes from work at night, gets a drink, then is fed mostly on dry grain, eats hay part of the night and in the morning another dry feed, and by this time is very dry himself, so when he reaches the water he fills his stomach so full that undigested food is forced out of the stomach, and is a damage rather than a benefit to the horse. Now, friends, try watering one horse before feeding in the morning, thus slaking his thirst and at the same time washing the stomach ready to receive the morning feed, when, being properly moistened with saliva, it will remain digested. Your horse can do more work on less feed and will live healthy much longer, besides humanity demands this thoughtful care.
