

THE COMING-UP OF THE YOUNG.

How the New Generation Presses the Old to the Wall. Youth, dear Lady Betty, philosophizes "Linkman" in London Truth, is ornamental; age must be useful. Every year, as winter approaches, the trees shed their leaves, and with the succeeding spring others replace them. So is it with society. Each season a new generation of young men and of young women expands, forcing into the background the favorites of previous years.

LICE ON CATTLE.

An Unfailing Remedy That May be Used by Any One. A correspondent of the Country Gentleman says on this subject: The more common remedies recommended for relieving cattle and stock from lice are more or less dangerous to life or health and must be used with extreme care. An unfailing remedy which may be used by any one without danger to life or limb would be a boon to many farmers. Such a remedy we have in the bee-larkspur of our flower gardens. A strong tea made from the seeds or foliage of the plant can be used as a wash with perfect safety. Any part of the plant may be used in making the wash, either green or dried. The plant should be gathered before it is frosted, and cured and preserved as other herbs are. In the use of kerosene, mercurial ointment, tobacco, etc., great care must be used or injury results from absorption; it enters the limbs or other parts of the animal and is often a permanent injury. No such danger need be apprehended in the use of larkspur. All the parts where the vermin lodge should be well scrubbed with the wash, and if thoroughly well done in a pleasant, mild day, one application is sufficient. In former days, when school children were troubled, I have heard old people tell their experience in using this remedy to their complete satisfaction. Another equally harmless remedy is aloe in fine powder, which may be used by filling a common pepper box with the powder and sprinkling it freely into the hair on the neck, back, sides and rump of the infested animal. Rub it thoroughly through the hair and on the skin with the ends of the fingers. Leave the animal undisturbed for a week, then card thoroughly and apply as before. Continue this at intervals of a week, till not a living parasite is left. Usually two applications, if thoroughly made, will suffice.

Matter and Motion.

Apart from matter, energy has in real life no existence. We cannot conceive of motion unless something moves, of warmth unless something is heated, or of any of the various states or conditions which are indications of energy unless immediately associated with matter. Hence the co-existence of energy with matter is to our minds an inevitable conclusion. But now, let us inquire, can matter for an instant be considered apart from energy? Can any one imagine a body neither hot nor cold, neither in motion nor at rest, and not under the influence of some attraction, some force or some other form of energy? No! should such be the case for a space of time inconceivably short, that time would suffice for the rending apart of the universe. Planets would fly asunder; life would be instantly destroyed. The very ether would become, in common with all else, at once disorganized, and the universe, filled once more with impalpable world matter, would recommence as it did millions of centuries ago, the building up of new systems, new worlds and new men. Energy manifests itself to us in various ways. To the physicist, light, heat, chemical action and all other phenomena included in the category of the physical world are exhibitions of transformation of energy from one form to another. The sum total of energy in this world has never increased nor diminished. Like the matter in the universe it is and will always be an unchangeable quantity. —Electrical Age.

THE GARDEN IN FALL.

Fill your hot beds with litter in the fall so that the ground will not freeze. Replace this with manure in the spring and the planting can proceed without delay. This is the season for preparing the asparagus bed. Cut down the seed stalks and use manure six inches thick on the bed. Next spring you will have large stalks and plenty of them. If not already done, it is now time to cut out all the old stalks among the raspberries and blackberries. Leave but three or four of the strongest of the new canes and treat the rest as weeds. Larded meal is a food that always proves beneficial to horses and cows and it should be given at least three times a week. It may be mixed with ground grain or sprinkled on chopped carrots or cooked roots of any kind. When bulky food is fed to stock it is condensed in the forms of beef, butter, meat and wood, and can be shipped at less cost and with greater profit. The farm is a factory, and should be conducted on business methods. Condense all foods into something better. Be careful when setting out new strawberry beds in the fall to have every fourth row of the staminate variety, or there will be no fruit at the proper time. Some are staminate and pistillate, while others are pistillate only. The former will produce crops, but the latter must have staminate varieties growing near them. If it is desired to increase the depth of the soil do not turn up the cold subsoil with a heavy plow, but go an inch deeper than usual, and take in another inch next year. Whenever the subsoil is turned up, however, no matter how little, give the field an application of lime, as it will exert a chemical effect on the soil and assist in bringing it into better condition for plants. Cheap Shelter for Stock. Shelter for stock is one of the great needs of farmers. It is costly to build a barn and shed, but for simple purposes of shelter farmers might make greater use of their abundance of straw. In some localities it is customary to burn this as the readiest means to get it out of the way. A much better use might be made of it in constructing shelter for all kinds of stock, both against rain and cold. A very good plan is to make a frame of poles, and stack straw over them. This work should be done at thrashing time, but if it has been neglected it may be done at any later time. It pays richly in health, thrift and in the saving of food, to provide shelter. Unimproved Land. In South Carolina, of a total area of 13,000,000 acres, 5,000,000 are improved and 8,000,000 unimproved. In Georgia, of a total of 25,000,000 acres, 3,000,000 are improved and 15,000,000 unimproved. A similar proportion exists in Florida. In Illinois there are 20,000,000 acres of farming lands, of which 4,000,000 acres are idle. There is a much larger proportion of unimproved land in North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana than there is in Texas, which will surprise people.
