Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Lizzie Dretcher to Mr. Edward Tubbs, to take place in the M. E. church at Stillwater, on December 5th, at half past seven in the evening.

Upon the occasion of the recent marriage of the czar and czarina of Russia, the costumes of the lady attendants in the chapel are said to have been dazzling. Though it is very cold in Russia the ladies strictly adhered to the exactions of society requirements in the matter of dress, namely, very low neck behind and before and no sleeves to speak of. The exactions of society are inexorable without regard to latitude or longitude.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria, When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Three thousand catalogues for the Normal School were printed last Summer, but the demand was so great for them that the supply was exhausted early in the fall. Another edition of twelve hundred has just been completed at this office.

We notice that there is quite a little sport among foot ball players since the row and the "ruction" among the more pacific base-ballers began. And it is already remarked that the Normal team of Bloomsburg is very apt to hold its own in the general scramble of this now popular game.

C. B. Chrisman is doing business at is a great combination, one of the best we ever offered. The twice a fruits and vegetables, he is now driving quite a trade in oysters served as the news of the world. It is the best desired. He knows a good article when he sees it, and by serving that kind to his patrons his business is growing nicely.

JAMES H. MERCER. Condolence-

The following resolutions of condol ence upon the death of Philip Unangst, which occurred November 15, 1894, were adopted by the Sunday School of

St. Matthew's Lutheran Church of Bloomsburg, Pa.:

WHEREAS, Our Heavenly Father has seen fit in His wise providence to call from this earth to his Heavenly Home, Father Unangst, of whom nothing but what is kind and tender will be remembered,

WHEREAS, He was a faithful member of our Sunday School for almost a half century, and secretary of the School for thirty years; therefore, be it the river. Resolved, That in his death our School has lost an earnest, faithful, and much loved member, whose presence was always an encouragement to us in our work.

Kentuckian, who recently married his young ward, Miss Dora Richardson, tried to keep him from getting married, but their efforts were of no avail Hence, no doubt, was his Resolved, That we will ever cherish his memory and endeavor to emulate his example.

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathy to the family of the departed in this their hour of sad bereavement, assuring them that we sincerely mourn with them the loss of our kind and faithful friend.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be inserted in the town papers, the Lutheran Observer, and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

A. J. WILLIAMS, DORA BREECE, GERTRUDE BROWN,

A PROPOSITION.

To the County Commissioners and to the Public Generally.

"The Road Question" has agitated the public mind for some time, and the public mind for some time, and many extreme views have been published in reference thereto. But the question of good roads is not of local significance alone. It is applicable will do it up right, Doctor, and what's the significance alone. It is applicable to the universal, or general benefit.

But there is a question of more imsoothing that I just can't help it. But there is a question of more immediate importance than the road question, and that is the question of bridges. The material of which our from the mountain by dogs was shot bridges have formerly been built has disappeared and the old wooden structures are rotten and ready to crumble, and many not safe for public use; the question arises, how shall we replace them? Since the second growth of timber is both expensive, undesirable, and unendurable, only temporary bridges can be constructed from it at enormous expense. Stone arch bridges are permanent bridges, but they cost a good deal of money. Benton township has built several within the past few years, but to replace all the old bridges with stone arches in rapid succession is beyond our financial ability. Hence the proposition here offered, is, that the county appropriate annually not less than three hundred ($300) dollars to be the attraction at the Opera House each township in the county for the construction of permanent bridges with the proviso that the townships furnish an equal amount for the same purpose, viz: the construction of permanent bridges, until the whole county is safely and permanently bridged And those townships first accomplish ing the object in view, and all others succeeding, to use the annual county appropriation with a like township fund, over and above the necessary road repair taxes, to be used for the Miller & Martin, General Agents of the Frank-im Typewriter, Bridgeport, Conn. permanent improvement of public

All persons interested in the above questions, whether in harmony or in opposition to the views herein given, will confer a public favor by express ing them in the columns of the Col umbia county newspapers. Let the Bridge and Road Questions be Agitated.

JOHN C. WENNER.

Kentuck at the Opera House.

Kentuck is a first class legitimate play well worthy to form an evening's entertainment at any theatre in the country. It will certainly rank with the best of American plays in plot and action, in language, situations, picturesqueness and individuality of characterization. The play is from the pen of J. J. McCloskey, and was suggested by facts presented to him by a well known society lady of Louisville. The principal scenes are laid. in Fayette county and the drama is founded on arivalry between two Kentucky aristocratic families. At the Opera House, Friday, Nov. 30th.

At a recent old-folks meeting in Berwick, Rev. Day, nearly 80 years old, preached an old-fashioned hour-and-ten-minute sermon to the poor old folks. It is likely, however, that they took the good old fashioned nap under the soporific influence of the good old preachers voice. This reminds us of a preacher's story; if you have time, read it. Said the zealous old fashioned and long-

A Commendable Act.

On Tuesday the teachers in Third street building requested the pupils to bring something in the edible line for distribution among the needy families of town Thanksgiving morning, in order that these unfortunates might not go hungry on the day set apart for returning thanks to the Giver of every good and perfect gift. The children entered heartily into the plan, and as a result, to-day (Wednesday) noon, an abundance of fruit, vegetables, flour, meat, canned goods, etc., enough to feed a hundred persons, has accumulated at the school-house. We hope the recipients will accept this token of kindness in the same spirit in which it is given. The dinners of the teachers and pupils will be relished all the more for having first provided for those less fortunate.

Oct. 19, 1894. PROF. F. E. WOOD,

Dear Sir,-The typewriter goes forward to-day. I am anxious to get a representation in your school.

You are to be congratulated, as you certainly have the largest and most successful school east of Chicago. I visit all the schools in the United States and yours marches in the front rank. Your night school surpasses anything I have ever seen. By what magic do you sustain so tremendous a work? Give the writer a good place. Will see you again in November.

Sincerely yours, W. J. MARTIN.

Prof. Martin is the principal of the Martin Shorthand School in Bridgeport, Conn., Mr. Dennison of the Smith Premier, the agent for the Esterbrook Pen Co., the Eagle Pencil Co., Mr. Babcock, all give the College the distinction of being the largest school between Boston and Chicago.

SOON THEIR WILL BE MUSIC IN THE AIR ABOUT OUR CHRISTMAS GOODS.

There is often music in the homes when children or someone in the family is presented with a Christmas present from HARTMAN'S. This year we are making a big effort to have everything on exhibition by the 5th of December. Notice will be given of our opening. In the meantime we are selling coats and capes. (New ones in this week). We still have a few of those handsome dress patterns and hundreds of yards in the piece to cut from, the best in This week. with the latest in Trimmings. A chenille table cover will be appreciated and make a useful present, with a pair of chenille curtains. A set of dishes at $10.00 to $18.00 would please wife or daughter. We are now opening a fine line of China and Japanese ware in single pieces or by the dozen.

Eskimos and Foot-Ball Players.

The Brown University team being photographed and hung up to look at, recently created considerable comment, favorable and othewise, from innocent passers by. But perhaps the most cutting of the many comments ventured by those who have viewed the photographs was that made last Saturday afternoon by a young woman evidently just from the suburbs to do some shopping in the city of Providence. A group of three, including the personage just mentioned, was just passing, when one of her companions spied the photograph in the window and stopped to take a look at it. The aforesaid lassie from the suburbs gazed hastily at the Brown boys' physiognomies and exclaimed: "O, come along,

Bananas, wholesale and retail, C Columbus, Market Square. ti.

Them's nothin' but Eskimos."

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING. EPPS'S COCOA BREAKFAST-SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Garette.
