THAT'S QUEER!

You say a collar and cuff that are waterproof?

Yes. And perspiration will not affect them? Yes. And when dirty you need only wipe them off with a wet cloth or sponge? Yes.

Wonderful! How are they made? A linen collar covered on both sides with waterproof "CELLULOID." Looks exactly like a linen collar.

Is it the only waterproof collar and cuff made? No, but it is the only one made with the linen interlining and consequently the only one that can give entire satisfaction, because it is the best.

How can I know that I get the right kind? Because every piece is stamped as follows:

Inquire for that and refuse anything else, or you will be disappointed. Suppose my dealer does not have them?

He probably has, but if not, send direct to us, enclosing amount. Collars 25c., Cuffs 50c. State size, and whether collar wanted is stand-up or turned-down.

Weather Wise.

Weather prophet Foster has evidently got his eye-teeth cut as a prophet. After making a rather bold forecast for Spring weather, in which he predicts drouth in April and May for the northeastern part of the United States and excessive rain in the south-east at the same time, he takes the wise precaution to remind readers that they are not to construe his conjectures as applying to every locality, either north or south. He don't want to be held responsible as a prophet for local failures of his prophecy, either as to drouth in the north or excessive rain in the south. Like other weather-prophets who have not always guessed straight, he prefers to generalize rather than particularize. He simply claims that there will be a deficiency of moisture upon the whole in the north and an excess of rain in the south. It is certainly kind in Mr. Foster to conclude his prophecy as follows:

"The above forecast is not reliable for any one small locality, and it can only serve as an indication as to what the general effect on crops will be from a deficiency northeast and an excess southeast. Farmers and planters can make their own estimates and determine what crops will pay best with such weather conditions in the two spring months. The crop season of 1895 will be one of the most remarkable and uncommon that has occurred for years."

But will it be remarkable for scarcity or abundance? Considering the unfavorable conditions resulting from Spring drouth, the prophecy may have two interpretations. Good crops would conform with the prophecy and so would poor crops. What shall the harvest be?

Mors Rectifying Light Wanted.

The monetary question of this country, like the interminable tariff question, is so susceptible of delusive argument with both parties that it is no trick at all for either the bimetalist or the gold standard advocate to make a plausible showing to the sovereign power. All that the illiterate, the honest and deluded of the sovereign power of this country can do, in these and similar cases, is to go to blind, and trust in the Lord's promise to confound the wise and bring to naught the things that are mighty hard for anybody to fully comprehend, and especially as they are revealed to the sovereign power by our modern statesmen who are in "the swim." No matter as to which party he may belong to, it is only the so-called "crank" who presumes to tell all he knows for the good of his country or the enlightenment of the sovereign power. But since this power alone retains the rectifying process, and it can indirectly if not directly straighten out the ugly kinks made in our laws by our law makers, it should therefore be dealt with frankly by representative claiming to be fair and honest gentlemen. Briefly, there is entirely too much light hidden under a bushel, as between representative and constituent, in all our monetary and commercial affairs. Let us have light pure and simple.

FOUND.

The undersigned, having recently found a pocket-book containing some money, would say that he will return the same to the rightful owner if he will call, prove property and pay the expense he has taken upon himself to thus advertise it.

J. S. CAMPBELL, Orangeville, Pa.

There was also found, by a gentleman honorable enough to advertise the fact, a fountain pen which the rightful owner can recover, at the COLUMBIAN office, by satisfactorily proving his property and paying for this advertisement.

Judge Handley, of Lackawanna county, was afflicted with the grip one month before he succumbed to the inevitable and expired. He was a man of wealth and judicial distinction; but grip, that fell destroyer among the old folks, is no respecter of persons and it numbers ex Judge Handley among its many victims.

William K. Carlisle, son of the Secretary of the Treasury risked a recent ride across the ocean to Antwerp, on the Westernland a steamship of the Red Star Line. The trip is taken for the good of his health.

Death has been busy in this community during the past week. Besides those mentioned elsewhere, Hiram C. Eves died at his home in Irondale last Thursday, aged fifty-five years. His remains were buried at Orangeville.

A butterfly made its appearance at the residence of Mrs. Shoemaker in Fishingcreek township last Saturday morning. The cocoon had been in the house some time, and the insect emerged from it at the time stated. We rather imagine the poor thing has ere this regretted its rashness in thus venturing out so early in the season.
