THE WOODCOCK'S TRAIL.

TIMELY POINTERS FOR THE SPORTSMAN SEEKING THE ELUSIVE AND ERRATIC BIRD.

A Wilkes-Barre correspondent says: On the nation's birthday the season opened for the killing of the most delicious of our game birds, the woodcock. This bird, whose erratic flight is best described by the farmer, who, when asked if he had seen any woodcock about, replied that he hadn't seen any woodcock, but that he had seen any amount of birds down along the creek yonder with long bills that get up and "fly like a bumblebee" and "whistle," is found in nearly all parts of Pennsylvania. All sportsmen love to hunt the woodcock, first, for qualities so much prized by the epicure; second, for the reason that he is the first game bird that the laws permit to be shot; third, for the practice afforded for both dog and gunner; and fourth, because of his short flight, which enables the hunter to "get him up" again and again until he finally bags his game.

So "zig-zag" is the flight of the woodcock that no pretensions to anything but the snappiest kind of snap shooting is possible. Any good and well broken dog, either setter or pointer, will work on woodcock, and the cocker spaniel will also hunt them, though he won't "stand" them; but owing to the peculiar flavor of the bird comparatively few dogs will readily retrieve them, although the same dog may be an excellent retriever of quails, pheasants or grouse.

A dog thoroughly broken on woodcock knows as much, or even more, about the favorite grounds for the birds than most gunners, and it is, therefore, ordinarily the safer plan to follow the dog when once arrived at a likely place for woodcock than to make the dog follow you.

The favorite breeding places for woodcock in Pennsylvania are along creeks or rivers whose banks are a sandy loam or spring run marshes. In dry times they are rarely found anywhere else, but during the wet season in July and August they are frequently found in side-hill cornfields of sandy loam soil. Any place where nettles grow is a good place to find woodcock. Such soil is always moist and mellow, permitting the bird to bore deep for its food. Indications of woodcock are small holes in moist soil in open patches among nettles or low grass; such a hole as would be made by the angle worm.

The banks and islands of the Susquehanna River afford excellent woodcock shooting, as do also the banks of the Lehigh River from its source down as far as Stoddardsville, in Monroe County. Good shooting can be had along the Susquehanna River in Northumberland, Columbia,

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Luzerne, Wyoming or Bradford Counties. In Wyoming County is Bowman's Creek, with the finest kind of woodcock ground for miles on both sides of the creek and lots of birds. Bags of from fifteen to twenty birds for a day's shooting are frequently made in these covers, which are the natural breeding grounds for this much sought for and highest priced game bird.

Lippincott's Magazine for August, 1895.

The complete novel in the August issue of Lippincott's, "Little Lady Lee," by Mrs. H. Lovett Cameron, narrates the vicissitudes of a faithful heart which found its true mate after its owner, obeying the customs of English high life and match-making fathers, had lost her freedom.

"A Friend to the Devil," by Maurice Thompson, in an amusing story of Georgia superstitions. The "Applied Art" of which William T. Nichols treats was akin to that of the late M. Worth of Paris, but it did not prevent the artist from winning his lady-love.

Prof. Charles D. Roberts relates "The Romance of an Ox-team" in the land of the Blue Noses. "Two Prayers," by Kathleen Gray Nelson, is a condensed and pointed tale of love and hate.

In "The Bicycling Era," John Gilmer Speed gives something of the history and much of the ethics of a mode of exercise in which he thoroughly believes—a belief shared by a large and steadily increasing number of Americans of both sexes and all conditions.

William Trobridge Larned, an authority on western topics, points out "The Passing of the Cowpuncher." Dr. Charles C. Abbott describes a summer ramble "Up Pearson's Lane."

Annie Steger Winston has a second brief paper on "The Pleasures of Bad Taste." Nellie B. McCune tells a good deal about "Caricature," and Will M. Clemens writes on "The Mystery of Sound."

The verse of the number is by Nellie Francis Milburn and Madison Cawein.

A few weeks ago, while Peter Mosser, a farmer residing between Siegersville and Schnecksville, Lehigh county, was engaged in mowing grass with a machine, he cut off both legs of a partridge, which was sitting on a nest. The latter contained twenty eggs. Mr. Mosser took the eggs and submitted them to the tender care of a motherly hen, which took them under her wing and a few days ago hatched out nineteen partridges. The hen was considerably surprised at first and cackled at a great rate, says the Allentown Chronicle-News, but her maternal instinct came to the rescue and she is all care and devotion. The partridges are doing first rate.

GREAT PHYSICAL STRENGTH

It is not necessary to the enjoyment of perfect health, yet strong, healthy organs and faculties give rise to the most delightful sensations of existence. Exercise, common sense and ordinary precaution and you need never be very sick. When you find your stomach troublesome, your bowels inactive, your nerves sensitive—look out! When your weight is decreasing, when your energy is waning, when exertion seems impossible and sleep does not give rest—look out!

Serious illness has its beginning in neglected little things. Even dread consumption comes on by degrees, and may begin with a very slight derangement. Taken in time, 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption can be cured. Taken in time, no disease need be really serious. The best safeguard against disease is an active, healthy liver. That means good blood and good blood means good solid healthy flesh.

The germs of disease seek out the weak spots in the body. Don't have any weak spots. If you have them now, clear them out, tone them up, make them strong. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do it. It searches out all poisonous matter and disease-germs of whatever character. It regulates the action of the organs of the whole body. It forces out impure matter, makes the blood rich and puts new life into every fiber. It makes good, firm, healthy flesh—doesn't make fat. It gives you flesh that you can work with—the flesh that means health, but a reasonable plumpness is essential to the best bodily condition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is pleasant to take and you don't have to take an ocean of it to get well either.

Better Than a Lawn Mower.

"Speaking about tornadoes," observed a traveling man, "I'll tell you of the strange antics of one I ran against while I lived in Kansas."

"I didn't know you were ever in that state," replied a man from Wilkinsburg.

"Oh, yes, I was. At the time I speak of I had a house in Wyandotte with quite a wide lawn in front. I watched the grass grow with painful misgivings, for I was opposed to working the lawn mower. You know how that is yourself," he said to the man from Wilkinsburg.

With a silent nod the latter acknowledged that he did.

"Well, the grass kept getting taller and taller, and every day my wife would make some remark about how our lawn looked compared with the neighbors'. One day the neighbors who lived opposite me asked me what I'd take for my crop, and then I concluded that something had to be done. I sat on the front porch trying to work up enough courage to tackle that grass, when along came that tornado.

We all rushed for the cyclone cellar. When we ventured forth, we expected to find the house gone into the next county, but it was there all right. But the grass! You won't believe me, but the grass was trimmed as a brand new mower could have taken it off, and the cyclone had even carried away the cuttings. I suppose the reason the house wasn't touched was that the edge of the twister just reached to the end of the lawn. But tornadoes are queer critters. You can never tell how they're going to strike."

Successful Rupture Cure.

Since it became generally known that Dr. O'Malley, one of Wilkes-Barre's leading practitioners, had discovered a new method for the cure of rupture, wherein the patient is not subjected to a surgical operation, is not detained from business and is completely cured in from four to eight weekly visits to the Doctor's office at 30 S. Washington street, those large and handsome rooms are crowded daily. The Doctor's reputation and standing are such that the people have confidence in him, and the fact that he has absolutely cured almost every case that has come to him is overcoming the incredulity of the public in the statement that rupture can be cured without the use of the knife and long confinement. Dr. O'Malley's cures are absolute. It is not necessary to wear a truss afterward. His confidence in the treatment is such that he gives a guarantee to cure every curable case accepted. If the patient is too poor to pay he is treated free, thus showing that the Doctor has a real interest in the welfare of his fellow men. His advertisement appears in another column of this paper.

Must Give Numbered Receipts.

A recent act of Assembly makes it obligatory for the county tax collectors to keep a book of numbered receipts and the same must be filled out in ink. A numbered stub must also be kept, from which a report is made to the county commissioners. The latter are required to furnish the collectors with the necessary books.

Stock Certificates.

Corporations desiring stock certificates, are invited to call and see samples of lithograph work at THE COLUMBIAN office. Workmanship and prices are guaranteed to compare favorably with city printing.

HUMOROUS.

Hoax—Have you read "Trilby?" Joak—No; I am not equal to the feat.—Philadelphia Record.

Lushington—Do you photograph in colors? Photographer—Yes; but can chalk your nose, sir.—Pick-Me-Up.

He—Have you ordered a trousseau, darling? She—Yes; six pairs of bloomers and three bathing suits.—Boston Herald.

This belief in the invincibility of anglers is singularly universal. It may be said that it extends from pole to pole.—Philadelphia Times.

He—French enables one to express such delicate shades of meaning, you know. "Yes, I know. And such delicate ones, too."—Life.

"Can I borrow your umbrella awhile?" "Certainly." "Thanks." "Don't mention it." "I won't—to the owner."—Chicago Tribune.

"You ought to see that fellow strike a balance." "I suppose he's a book-keeper?" "No; he's a professional juggler."—Detroit Free Press.

Wife (in indignant surprise)—Are you drunk, Joseph? Joseph—(Hic) If I ain't (hic) it's the best imitation of one I ever experienced.—Judge.

Philadelphia—I am ready to die at any moment. Brooklynite—Don't they run the trolleys on a regular schedule in your town?—Detroit Tribune.

"What are you painting there on your lawn mower?" "A motto." "What is it?" "It's a good thing. Push it along."—Boston Courier.

Nell—Why did you marry that dried-up old millionaire? I wouldn't have him with all his money! Belle—But he said he would die for me.—Philadelphia Record.

"You saw a great deal of her in town last winter at dancing parties, I believe?" "Yes, but I expect to see more of her at the beach this summer."—Boston Courier.

He—How many hearts are you going to break this summer? She—Hearts don't break in the summer; it's too warm. They merely bend.—Harper's Bazar.

"Talk about daylight robbery being the height of imposition," said the man as he shook his fist at the gas meter, "it is not in it with gaslight robbery."—Indianapolis Journal.

First Cyler (nearing a road-house)—Do you suppose we can get anything to drink there? Second Cyler—Just look at the enormous aggregation of wheels in the carriage-shed.—Life.
