Candidates.

FOR ASSOCIATE JUDGE, MORDECAI MILLARD, CENTRE TOWNSHIP.

The Quay-Hastings fight goes merrily on If you want to know which is ahead, read a Quay paper, and you will find that he already has captured a majority of the delegates. Then peruse a Hastings organ, and you will find that the Governor owns

The State Convention of Democratic Societies will be held in Lancaster this year. The time has not yet been designated. The Young Men's Democratic Society, strong in numbers and with one of the finest making arrangements for the conven tion. A reception committee of twentyfive has been appointed to arrange all the details for the convention and the entertainment of the Democrats who will be present. Richard M. Reilly, a popular young Democrat, is chairman of the committee.

There is but one cadidate to be nominated in this county at the coming Democratic convention, and that is for the office of Associate Judge. Mordecai Millard, the present in-cumbent, is the only candidate; and will be nominated by acclamation. There has been some discussion as to whether this nomination cannot be and thus avoid the expense of the convention which must necessarily fall on one man, and he a candidate for an office with only a small salary. There is no rule providing for such a the Philadelphia leaders showed that case, but it might be done by the boom was forming. It came this convention which meets in William sport in September, will nominate six candidates for Judges of the Superior court, and the coming county conven-tion must elect the delegates from this county to that convention. Under delegates must be elected by the cor it but to hold the convention in the usual way. Would it not be advisable to amend the party rules so that when there is no contest for county nominapensed with, and such nominations may be made by the Standing Committee; and in such case the Standing committee shall also elect the delegates to the state convention. This would sometimes save candidates from burdensome expense.

THE JUTIJIAL CONTEST.

WHAT RIMAINS TO BE DONE-EXCEI-TIONS THAT WILL BE TAKEN BY AT-TORNEYS.

In the Sittser Dunham judicial contest case the attorneys on both sides are busy making out briefs to be presented to the contest court at Laporte on Aug. 6. These briefs will set forth in detail all the votes which they will ask to have thrown out, together with their reasons for so asking, and will embody all the rulings which the court will be asked to make. The order of procedure will then be for the judges to pass upon the matters presented, to which finding each party may file exceptions, and the argument of the case will be upon the exceptions filed, at such time as then be fixed. The whole case will then be on record and in shape for a writ of either party desire it.

Among the things which the court constitutionality of the act under which it is constituted. The jurisdiction of the court and its right to act since the retirement of Judge Rice and the authority for substituting Judge Woodward at this stage of the proceedings, will also be questioned by both sides.

HAZLETON, July 22. For some time the friends of Congressman John Leisenring have been endeavoring to shape matters to launch him as a made by the Standing Committee, Gubernatorial candidate on the Republican ticket in 1898. To the politicians of this section this fact has been quite clear and his recent alliance with Governor Hastings and the boom was forming. It came this general consent, if there were nothing morning when the following significant else to be considered. The state article from the pen of Editor Boyd convention which meets in William appeared in the Wilkes-Barre News-Dealer, the strongest Democratic paper in the county and at present an anti-Quay organ. It says in part:

The Passing Of The Rosse.

From all over the country there comes a cry of distress from horsemen. It was heard, although not so loudly, when the railroad first appear ed, and the useralness of the stage coach was at an end. The bolief then was that all the people who were dependent for livelihood upon their an opinion which practically suspends connection with horses would suffer, but it was soon found that new fiel cation law until next year. There were, according to statistics, 16,000,000 horses, in this country last year, the aggregate value of which was placed at $770,000,000. That value must have undergone a large shrinkage, and it would be of interest to know if this reduction in price may not suggest to people who are fond of horses, but who so far have found themselves unable to buy them, that they can afford to do so now. If the lars as arrangements were being made for a special registration. cost of keeping them was also to be lessened this idea might be more readily acted upon, but there is not much prospect of such reduction. One thing more is, however, to be noted, that with the passing of the horse one avenue for the consumption of oats will have been closed, and it remains to be seen what new direction will be taken. Horses will al ways be valued for racing purposes They will still be found in carriages, and the love of riding across country is not likely to die out. But it is the demand of the many that will be the great and controlling factor in the question, and certainly it looks to day as if many influences were operating against the continuance of an animal which has had such a prominent place in history.—Phila. FEARS FOR THEIR SAFETY.

PARTY OF PRINCETON STUDENTS DE-LIEVED TO HAVE FALLEN INTO THE HANDS OF INDIANS.

DENVER, Cot., July 21 .- It is feared here that a party of Princeton students have fallen into the hands of the Bannock Indians, Nearly two weeks ago the students form geological expedition went through Union pass and since telegrams have been received here for them without finding any means of delivery. They were on their way to National park and were due on their return trip about the end of July. They are in a dangerous country and it they are alive the fact remains that the government has recently stirred to great acvity, as orders were received vesterday at Fort Washakie for the sending of an expedition of troops.

There are only forty three men as the post and the expedition cannot be very formidable, but it is the best the army can do. Reports from Jackson's Hole says that there are fully 300 Indians assembled there. Another report from Fort Washakie says that the two Indian police and judges who were sent to Jackson's Hole nearly two weeks ago have returned. They were forcibly detained by the Bannocks and had to escape by strategy.

The expedition which was headed by Professor Hatcher left Princeton on June 20 for the Bad Lands in search of geological specimens. The students who accompanied Professor Hatcher are: L. F. Pease, Phila dalphia; R. F. Little, Jr., New York City; Walter Moss, Trenton, N. J.; A. L. P. Dennis, New York; Talbot Pierce, Washington; Boyer Davis, Philadelphia; A. A. Doyer, Indiana, Penna.; John H. Brooks, Scranton; John Scheide, Titusville, Penna.; Atbert G. Millbank and E. R. Bothman, New York, and J. Garrett, Baltimore. Later advices say that the students are all safe.

The Philadelphia Inquirer prints a ist of republican newspapers in Pennsylvania that have declared either for seashore points named above, on day

Quay or Hastings in the present fight.

There are eighty-two for Quay, and twenty eight for Hastings. The Columbia County Republican is put in the Quay list. We have not observed any positive declaration in the Republican on this subject, but it has chairman. Wait and see.

Governor Hastings' friends now claim they will have 184 delegates in the coming state convention and substantiate their claims with figures. These figures are based in part on an estimate made by the Philadelphia Ledger recently in which 145 of the 289 delegates are put down for the administration, 117 for Senator Quay, sixteen as doubtful and eleven unaccounted for. That newspaper is taking a conservative position in the contest and its statements are given weight by both factions.

Those in charge of the campaign against Senator Quay have made a careful analysis of these figures and are convinced the governor's friends will control the convention, thereby insuring the re-election of Colonel Gilkeson. Starting with Adams county, whose two delegates are put down for Senator Quay, the administration claims one and concedes the other to the Beaver senator. Colonel Quay is given four of twenty-seven delegates from Allegheny, although Governor Hastings has the assurance of Magee and Senator Flinn that the "old man" will get only three.
