

HOLMES' ENTERPRISES.

Skeletons Discovered Which Have Been Traced to Him.

SAYS HE GOT THEM LEGITIMATELY.

The Chicago Police, However, Believe They Have the Skeletons of Two of the Alleged Wholesale Murderers' Many Victims. The Prisoner Denies the Charges.

CHICAGO, July 28.—The search of the Holmes building was prosecuted yesterday on the information given to the police by M. C. Chappell, the machinist, who says that he articulated the skeletons of three of the supposed victims of H. H. Holmes. Chappell told the police that Holmes had two vats in the cellar. One, he said, was in the southeast corner, and the other in the southwest corner of the rear cellar. They had since been walled up, he said. One of the vats, according to Chappell's statement, was used as a vessel in which the flesh was eaten from bones by the use of acids. The other was for the purpose of bleaching the bones.

Twelve laborers worked all day digging out the two corners designated by Chappell, and were about to give up the search as unsuccessful when one of the men at work on the southeast corner struck his spade against something which gave forth a metallic sound. The metal object proved to be a large tank in the shape of a boiler. It was located just outside the cellar wall, and its top was four feet from the ground's surface. Work for the night was stopped because the tank was fully uncovered, but apparently it is eight feet long and three feet in diameter.

The police yesterday secured a skeleton which they believe to be one of the alleged victims of Holmes. Chappell took two detectives to the house of a West Side physician, where the complete skeleton was found. Chappell says that he got the bones from Holmes. After examination the police decided that the skeleton is probably that of Miss Cigrand, the Indiana girl. It had been sold to the Hahnemann Medical College by Holmes, the police claim. Yesterday's find, with the trunk discovery of Sunday, makes two of the three skeletons which Chappell claims to have articulated for Holmes, and the police are in hopes of finding the third very shortly.

Beside these matters the police have secured the trunk which Holmes said he had used in sinking Anna Williams in the lake. There are plenty of signs that it once held a body freshly mutilated, and Chappell says Holmes brought the trunk to his home with the remains of Anna Williams in it.

"In this way," said Inspector Fitzpatrick, "we are told four victims of the Englewood house were disposed of. This witness took away the skeleton partly cleaned and asked no questions. He got $50.00 for each job. One of the bodies was that of a man. We have not been able to conclude who he was. There is only a suspicion that this was Robert E. Phelps, who was supposed to have married Miss Miss Cigrand. Holmes said he wanted him to take care of the bodies of two children. One witness says he refused to mount the bones of any children, but he does not say anything to explain what distinction he saw between children's bodies and any others if his business was legitimate and he had no knowledge of foul play. You see, it is all very suspicious."

One of the many theories that has been advanced concerning the Holmes case, and the many uses to which it was put is to the effect that Holmes was a professional "procurer." The presence of so many young girls about the premises at various times has led to the suspicion that Holmes added this to his other nefarious crimes. In this way the disappearance of some of the unfortunate creatures is accounted for.

A STATEMENT FROM HOLMES.

He Says He Procured Skeletons as a Lucrative Business.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—Holmes' attorney gave out another statement today, purporting to come from the arch conspirator, and relating to the statements made by Charles Chappell, of Chicago, to the effect that he had articulated four skeletons for Holmes.

In the first place, Holmes declared that any medical man who failed to make a living by the practice of his profession could do so in many other ways by calling into play his scientific knowledge. Accepting this idea himself, he said, he resolved to procure a number of skeletons, and when he found them expensive he concluded that to deal in the ghastly articles would be a lucrative business. Thereupon he procured a number of corpses and had them scraped and articulated, but the supposition that he had murdered people to obtain them he seemed as a sane man to reject. "I got them in a legitimate manner," he continued, "and I am prepared to prove it when the time comes."

Chappell may have done some work for him in this line, and he believed he had, Holmes went on, but his prices were so high that he was obliged to drop him. "Chappell knows nothing of my affairs," he said in conclusion, "and there is not a soul living in Chicago who can prove that I had anything to do with the disappearance of this aggregation of people whose murders I am accused of."

Durant Prevents a Dramatic Production. SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—The principal feature of the Durant case yesterday was the defendant's application for a judicial order to prevent the production of a play called "The Crime of a Century," based upon the Emanuel church murders. The prisoner alleged that the performance would inflame popular feeling against him. The prosecution joined with the defendant in the request for a restraining order, which was granted. The work of securing a jury proceeds slowly.

Expect to Avoid a Strike. CLEVELAND, July 28.—The striking red mill men gave out today that a general strike of their craftsmen will probably not be ordered Aug. 1, as has been threatened. They say they have received every assurance that the mill owners will meet them at least half way. The Cleveland Rolling Mill company yesterday granted their red mill men an advance amounting to from 10 to 15 per cent.

Germans Applaud Cleveland. BALTIMORE, July 28.—The Baltimore county Democratic convention chose a majority of German delegates to the state convention and adopted resolutions very strongly commending President Cleveland, "under whose fearless, patriotic and conservative leadership prosperity and stability are assured the country."

CAPTAIN BECK EXCITED.

He Openly Insults Nebraska's Congressional Delegation, AND DENIES THEIR AUTHORITY.

The Agent of the Winnebago Indians Declares That the Flourmoy Company Has Systematically Robbed the Indians, and Its Members Are "Liar and Scoundrel."

OMAHA, July 28.—Indian Agent Captain Beck and the congressional delegation had a stirring session yesterday, and violence was imminent for several minutes at the Winnebago agency. He offended the entire Nebraska congressional delegation in his office, and would have ordered the senators and congressmen from the room had it not been for Senator Allen. The proceedings began when Senator Allen stated that the two senators and three representatives of the congressional delegation of Nebraska had come for the purpose of informing themselves as to the condition of affairs. In reply to this Captain Beck made a short statement. He stated that the Flourmoy company had systematically robbed the Indians, and that it was a corrupt concern generally. Captain Beck said the members of the Flourmoy company and every one of its friends and sympathizers were infamous liars and scoundrels.

Just as the captain finished John F. Meyers, the treasurer of the company, entered the room. "You are not telling the truth and you know it," he said. If a giant fire cracker had been exploded under the captain's feet he could not have been more excited. "Get out of here," he cried, "get out of here. This is my office. I will not have you in it. I am master here. You have been arrested by the United States marshal and ought to be in jail. I will not have you here. Get out before I have you thrown out."

An exciting scene ensued. Senator Thurston remarked: "I wish to know whether or not this delegation, representing a majority of the members of the Nebraska congressional delegation, has to proceed without a repetition of such scenes as the one we have just seen enacted. We are amply able to preserve order without interference or assistance on the part of any one. If this delegation is here without right—the right of American citizens to know how their own affairs are being conducted—I, for one, am ready to retire at once."

Captain Beck jumped to his feet and excitedly exclaimed that he did not recognize the authority of the delegation. He did not understand that it had any rights which he was bound to respect. It was not a committee empowered to act. It had no right to investigate him. He was responsible to the secretary of the interior, and him only. He would not be insulted in his own office.

Mrs. Beck, who had been sitting at the captain's back acting as a sort of advisory counsel, was also aroused. She did not address the congressional delegation, but in a voice loud enough to be heard by many she referred to the senator who had spoken as an insolent man and insulting meddler. She suggested to those nearest her that the captain ought to order the entire delegation out of his office.

The silence which followed the scene was oppressive and Captain Beck again rose to his feet. "Sit down," said Senator Allen, and the captain sat down. The investigation proceeded without further trouble. Captain Beck submitted letters and telegrams to show that he had the approval of the interior department in everything he did.

Big Coal Strike Inevitable. PITTSBURGH, July 28.—At a meeting of the miners' officials here it was decided that a strike was inevitable in view of the fact that four states have expressed themselves on the price question. President O'Connor, of Illinois, figured prominently at the meeting. The miners have been notified not to return to work until after the general convention on Aug. 1. The program as now arranged is to inaugurate the fight at the Banksville mines, where the men have been asked to work for fifty cents a ton. It is said that a rate of sixty-four cents a ton will be demanded.

Kentucky's Double Murders. BARKOVILLE, Ky., July 28.—Rosa Gordon, who murdered the two women near Corbin, Ky., in a confession implicates three men, who she claims were at her house at the time of the crime, and who held Mary Southerland and Melissa Brown, her victims, while she dismembered them. The murderer, who pleads self-defense, is a small, bright appearing girl about 19, with keen brown hair and short curly brown hair, thickly clustered about her head. Miss Gordon expresses herself as very sorry for the occurrence, but shows no fear.

Governor Morton Favors Organized Labor. WASHINGTON, July 28.—At a meeting of the Paper Hangers' Association a letter was read from Governor Levi P. Morton, of New York, in which he expressed himself in favor of employing Union men, and stated that hereafter he would use all his influence to have all work performed by them. The governor declared that he was in nowise opposed to organized labor.

Double Murder in Florida. WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., July 28.—News reached here by a schooner of the killing at Lemon City of John Higginbotham, ex tax collector of Duval county, and George Davis, his brother-in-law. The double murder was committed by Sam Lewis, a bartender. Lewis escaped and a posse is in pursuit. There is talk of lynching if he is captured.

To Legalize Pool Selling. SPRINGFIELD, Ills., July 28.—Representative Kinsour, of Chicago, caused a sensation by introducing a race track and pool selling bill in the house under the head of revenue. The bill is for an act taxing owners of racing inclosures and permitting and regulating pool selling and wagering on horse races run there.

Secretary Herbert on a Cruise. WASHINGTON, July 28.—Secretary Herbert left Washington today on the Dolphin on a month's cruise along the northern coast, extending probably as far as Bar Harbor. Assistant Secretary McAdoo will remain in charge of the navy department.

Honored Revolt in Bulgaria. VIENNA, July 28.—There are rumors here of a revolutionary uprising in Bulgaria, with hostile demonstrations at Sofia and elsewhere against Prince Ferdinand and M. Stouloff, the Bulgarian premier.

AN AERONAUT'S PLAN.

He Will Start for the North Pole in a Monster Balloon.

EMINENT SCIENTIST INTERESTED.

Dr. Ekholm, the Swedish Meteorologist, Will Accompany M. Andree in His Bold Enterprise, and Predicts Its Success—The Expedition Will Start Next July.

LONDON, July 28.—The session of the international geographical congress was occupied with the discussion of polar explorations. Dr. Neumayer and Mr. Joseph Hooker, a survivor of the Arctic expedition headed by Sir John Ross, 1829-33, urged that fresh expeditions be equipped, and Dr. Murray, leader of the Challenger expedition, argued in behalf of the theory that the Antarctic continent was not a succession of volcanic islands and that investigations in the Antarctic ocean ought to be undertaken by the navies of the world and not as a result of private enterprise. A committee was appointed to draft a resolution in favor of further explorations.

Most of the interest of the day centered in a paper read by M. S. A. Andree, proposing a balloon route to the north pole. The idea seems feasible as propounded by the explorer. The only difficulty appeared to be how to make sufficient gas for the balloon. Then, again, prominent geographers seemed to think the proposal would fail without the use of boats, with much provisions, to rely upon in case of accident. The general impression of the congress, however, was that the proposal was lacking in practical application.

M. Andree has secured the sanction of the Swedish Scientific society to his balloon project, and has received a liberal donation to help defray expenses from King Oscar of Sweden. Sufficient funds have, in fact, been obtained, and the attempt is assured, but M. Andree naturally desired the approval of so authoritative a body as the international geographical congress. He explained that M. Com. de Paris, has entered into a contract to make the machine of double silk, of which about 5,500 cubic meters will be required, the cost being $2,300. The balloon is to be capable of carrying three persons, with the necessary instruments and ballast and four months' provisions. It will be sufficiently gas tight to hover in the air for thirty days at a height of 350 meters.

M. Andree calculates that 1,700 to 1,800 cylinders filled with gas, under a pressure of 100 to 200 atmospheres, will be required for the expedition. In order to refill the balloon from time to time. He believes he will be able to guide the machine by a system of sails and ropes, acting as a brake in case of need by dragging on the earth. The car is to be spacious enough to contain a sledge, a sailing boat, several weapons, with ammunition, and a photographic camera.

Early next spring it is proposed to erect a balloon house, and after filling the balloon to start on the aerial voyage for the pole in July, with a fresh south or nearly south wind. The duration of the voyage must, of course, largely depend on the strength of the wind. It might possibly last only five or six hours, but M. Andree expects it will take at least forty. Thirty days, he believes, will suffice for cruising about the central polar basin in all directions, and taking a complete survey of it.

The return journey is to be made towards the inhabited parts of North America or northern Siberia. With a wind of average velocity, M. Andree says the balloon can make 10,400 kilometers in thirty days, whereas the distance from Spitzbergen to the Behring straits, via the pole, is only 3,700.

Dr. H. Wichmann, of Gotha, one of the most prominent German geographers, in commenting on the project, says: "The execution of this bold enterprise may, of course, be materially influenced by many unforeseen contingencies. The project by no means a fantastic one, but has been naturally and cautiously worked out in the light of science. This is best proved by the fact that Dr. Ekholm, the eminent meteorologist, who was in charge of the Swedish observatory in Spitzbergen in 1882 to 1883, has announced that he will take part in the expedition, and he predicts entire success."

Last evening Hon. and Mrs. George N. Curzon gave a reception to the International Geographical society at their mansion.
