MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Owing to the recent death of Benjamin Blewitt and Mrs. Caleb Barton, two of the prominent members of the Methodist Episcopal church the services last Sunday morning were in honor of their memory. Rev. Conner said among things that "Mrs. Barton was worthy of being classed among the heroes. She was a woman of retiring disposition, but of strong convictions, and one of the first to organize Methodism in Bloomsburg, and undoubtedly had met with much opposition, but notwithstanding this, she persevered and the result is the large flourishing congregation now in the Town. She was hopeful, full of courage, happy and cheerful, and by means of these traits of character won and held many friends."

Mr. Blewitt he stated was a man of great faith. He never questioned his salvation. He worked, prayed, and talked with men in regard to their salvation, and had faith that God would answer his prayers.

He was a great worker for the Lord, working in, and out of season. Some people are very energetic on certain occasions. Such as revivals &c., but during the rest of the year do nothing. Mr. Blewitt was not that kind of a man. He worked all the time, and under all circumstances. Midst all his sufferings he had great patience, never murmured nor complained. These people endeared themselves to the community by their sincerity, consistency, conscientiousness and consecrated lives.

They endeavored to live one day like another. People respected them because they respected their conscience. They were consecrated. I would rather be like them, than to have extraordinary gifts of intellectual endowment, riches or fill the highest office in the land. We can't all be rich, and intellectual and fill high positions but, we can all be like them, and I pray that their mantle may fall upon us."

Mr. Conner then stated that any of the congregation who had any remarks to make would be at liberty to do so. I. W. Hartman, said he had known Mrs. Barton for 62 years, and had first been attracted to her when a boy of 8 years of age by her modest and unassuming character. She was a regular attendant at class meetings, and a great worker at revivals. He was present when Mr. Blewitt was converted, and that he was a glorious man, and hoped that his mantle would fall upon him."

G. W. Corell said, "he had known Mrs. Barton 47 years, and had the greatest respect for her, and great faith in her religion. Mr. Blewitt had joined his class at the time of his conversion."

F. B. Hartman said that 20 years ago he worked in a blacksmith shop and sharpened tools for the miners, and would never forget the good counsel he received from Mr. Blewitt. He would talk with the men at noon in regard to their souls and they all respected and loved him."

Remarks of a similar character were made by L. T. Sharpless, W. B. Cummings, George Enterline and James C. Brown. It was a service long to be remembered.

In the novice bicycle race Thursday afternoon, Harry Knies' bicycle broke when they were finishing the last quarter, throwing him to the ground. The riders who were behind him fell on and over him. Dave Boughton was in this race, but was so far behind that the mishap did not affect him. Dave came nearly being distanced.

"TAKEN IN."

"I used often to read the newspaper aloud to my wife," said Bert Robinson, "and once I was fairly 'taken in' by a patent medicine advertisement. The seductive paragraph began with a modest account of the searper, but ended by setting forth the virtues of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which, it was alleged, was a cure for all Bronchial, Throat and Lung troubles, and would even cure Consumption, if taken in time. The way I was taken in was this: I had lung disease, and I bought a bottle of the remedy; I was a stranger to it, and it took me in—and cured me." Robinson's experience is identical with that of thousands of others. So true is this, that after witnessing, for many years, the marvelous cures of Bronchial, Throat and Lung affections wrought by this wonderful remedy, its manufacturers feel warranted in saying that this remedy will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. This may seem like a bold assertion to those familiar only with the means generally in use for its treatment; as, namely cod liver oil and its filthy emulsions, extract of malt, whiskey, different preparations of hypophosphites and such like palliatives.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a book of 166 pages which will be mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps. You can then write those cured and learn their experience. Address for Book, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

IN THE LOOK UP.

It has been some time since the above place has had an inmate, but the excitement or "booze" of last week proved too much for Henry Kreischer, Mahlon Snyder, Edward Jones, and Lew Hildebrandt. They were arrested by Chief Knorr on the charge of drunkenness, and Hildebrandt on the additional one of disorderly conduct. The three first named were ordered by President of the Town Council Creasy to give up three dollars toward the support of the Town, and Hildebrandt was obliged to go two dollars better. The first three paid the fine, and Lew gave bail to pay his in ten days.

AMOS BUCKALEW DEAD.

Amos Buckalew, who was known to nearly all of our readers, died at his home on Main Street, last Saturday. Whilst he had been sick for a long time, and his death was not unexpected, still it always brings with it a shock when we are informed that one of our number has passed away. He had been sick for a long time, and for several years had been unable to leave the house. He was born in Cambria, Luzerne Co., October 11, 1837, and at the time of his death, was aged 58 years and one day. When he arrived at the age of manhood he came to Bloomsburg, and was employed by George Risewick who at that time owned a livery in this place. Mr. Risewick died in 1879, and he together with his brother R. C. purchased the said business, which they have conducted up to this time. He was married to Miss Mears in 1879, and throughout his long sickness she has proved a loving, sympathetic wife, and has in her affliction the sympathy of the entire community. The funeral services were held at his late residence, Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock by Rev. Patterson of the Presbyterian Church, of which he was a member, and his remains were followed to their last resting place by a large concourse of friends.
