

WASHINGTON.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15th, 1895.

Does President Cleveland desire to be re-nominated? That is about the first question asked by every democrat who has arrived in Washington since it was published that Vice President Stevenson had said that Mr. Cleveland would be nominated again if he wished to be. It is probably because Mr. Stevenson has been regarded by many democrats as a probable candidate for the nomination himself, that his opinion has attracted such wide attention. Mr. Stevenson enjoys the reputation of being an unusually shrewd observer of events in the political world, and, although he has never had an open rupture with the administration, it is known that he has differed with it in a number of notable instances. It is because democrats know these things that they regard his words as significant, and are asking whether Mr. Cleveland wants to run again. It can be stated upon the highest authority that he does not; but the number of democrats who believe that he will accept, if the convention nominates him, is much larger to-day than it was before the recent elections.

Democratic Senators are doing very little talking for publication concerning which party will control the Senate at the session of Congress, now only a little more than two weeks off. They have possession of the control of the committees and they propose to retain it until relieved of that duty by a majority of the Senate.

Men who profess to be able to name the next republican Presidential ticket, can be found on every street corner, but this week a man turned up in Washington who said he was willing to bet a little money—he did not say how much—that the ticket would be Harrison of Indiana, and Brady of Kentucky. The name of this reckless prophet is Anson B. Price and he says his home address is Blooming, Illinois. If democrats have any influence with the republican convention, Mr. Price will be right as to Harrison.

Nobody would be surprised if the story, placing Secretary Carlisle in the vacant seat in the Supreme Court, turns out to be true. President Cleveland thought enough of Secretary Carlisle as long ago as during his first administration to make him a justice—the Chief Justice, in fact—of the Supreme Court, and would have done so had not a gossiping tongue repeated where he would be sure to hear of it, a bit of scandal connected with a night's episode in the private life of Mr. Carlisle. Since that the President's admiration has been increased for Secretary Carlisle in numerous ways, not the least of which was his unequalled endorsement of the President's financial position, and it would not be strange if he carried out the intention he first had, provided, of course, that Secretary Carlisle desires it.

Col. Henry Clay Tompkins, Chairman of the Alabama State Democratic Committee, who is now in Washington, certainly knows the condition of the party in his state. He says: "There is no danger of a split in the party in our State over the silver issue or any other issue. Our people may differ on economic subjects, but when brought face to face with a grave problem, involving a surrender of our government to an inferior element; then all the factions will unite, and bury their financial differences. When we meet in State convention everything will be settled. The National Convention will settle the silver question, and whatever the platform is all true democrats will stand thereon."

It would be interesting to know whether any politics was talked when President Cleveland went to New York to attend the marriage of ex-Secretary Whitney's daughter. It was the first time the President and his ex-Secretary of the Navy had met for several years, and there was much they might have said to each other that would have interested democrats everywhere. No man in this country is a better judge of the trend of political sentiment than William C. Whitney, and no man is better qualified to be a safe adviser of the administration. Secretary Olney has received a letter from Rev. H. O. Dwight, whose duty it is to watch over the American missionaries in Turkish territory, highly commending the promptness and energy which have been displayed by Mr. Terrell, U. S. Minister to Turkey, during the Armenian troubles. Dr. Dwight says he speaks from personal knowledge and adds to the force of what he writes by informing the Secretary that Mr. Terrell has no knowledge of his having written. This ought to be a sufficient refutation of the charges of indifference and carelessness which have been made against Mr. Terrell by his enemies in this country.

All the members of the Cabinet, except Secretary Carlisle, have completed their annual reports, and the President is daily working on his annual message to Congress. Secretary Carlisle's report, like the President's message, will not be made public until after it goes to Congress. The others will be given out in a few days.

BIG DAY AT THE EXPOSITION.

A Day Given Up to Pennsylvania.

Last Thursday, November 14th, was Pennsylvania Day at the exposition and the people of the Keystone State broke the record of attendance, not less than 5,000 more people being on the grounds than on any other day the exposition has yet seen.

Governor Hastings and staff, the Justices of the Supreme Court, the Manufacturers' club of Philadelphia, and the Pittsburg Press cadets came in on special trains early in the morning. There were two hundred in the Manufacturers' club party. During the afternoon, the Governor and his staff were escorted to the exposition by the Governor's guards of Atlanta. Speeches were delivered at Pennsylvania's handsome building. Judge Green, of the supreme court, presided.

Governor Hastings responded to the address of Governor Atkinson. His address made a fine impression on the Southerners and he was loudly and frequently applauded.

Governor Hastings was followed by Mayor King, of Atlanta; Lieutenant Governor Lyon, of Pennsylvania; H. H. Cabannis, of Atlanta, and Judge Williams, of Pennsylvania's supreme bench. The Mexican band gave selections between the speeches.

After the speaking, the Pennsylvanians were given a luncheon at the Piedmont club. Governor Atkinson gave a reception in the evening at the executive mansion to Governor Hastings of Pennsylvania; Governor Greenhalge, of Massachusetts, and Governor Lippitt, of Rhode Island.

There is no account in the despatch of the representation from Bloomsburg.

A Teacher's Jurisdiction.

The jurisdiction and authority of the teacher over the pupil is neither limited by the school house walls nor the time the school is actually in session. As a general rule in all matters connected with the schools and the matters and morals of the scholars the teacher's jurisdiction conjointly with the parents commences when the pupils leave the parental roof and continues until their return from school. The teacher, however, is not responsible for the misconduct of pupils on the way to and from school, though he has a right to punish for such misconduct, when brought to his knowledge. This is the Pennsylvania decision on the subject.

SHIPPING A VAST WHEEL.

Will Take Months to Carry It From Philadelphia to Illinois.

What is said to be the biggest single piece of machinery ever shipped across the country is now on the way from Philadelphia to Joliet, Ill. It is an immense fly wheel weighing 180,000 pounds, and was made by the Southwark Foundry & Machine Company, of Philadelphia.

It is intended for the Joliet Steel Company. The gigantic wheel is 28 feet in diameter, and the face is four feet broad. It will require a shaft 30 inches in diameter to operate it.

The great wheel is being shipped over the Philadelphia & Erie Railroad. Owing to the enormous weight it was found necessary to make use of two specially constructed cars belonging to the Baldwin Locomotive Works. The wheel was in halves, a half to a car, as it could not be transported as a whole.

Some idea of the immensity of this piece of machinery may be obtained by the fact that it required over two weeks to bring it from Philadelphia to Williamsport. It was shipped on the 25th of October and reached there on the 10th of November. The special cars were stopped several times between there and Philadelphia. Ten miles an hour is the limit of speed, and even with this slow traveling the journal boxes were constantly heating, causing no end of trouble.

At its present rate of traveling it will require several months to get it to Joliet.

A Pure Baking Powder.

A baking powder that can be depended upon to be free from lime and alum is a desideratum in these days of adulterated food. So far as can be judged from the official reports, the "Royal" seems to be the only one yet found by chemical analysis to be entirely without one or the other of these substances, and absolutely pure. This, it is shown, results from the exclusive use by its manufacturers of cream of tartar specially refined and prepared by patent processes which totally removes the tartrate of lime and other impurities. The cost of this chemically pure cream of tartar is much greater than any other, and it is used in no baking powder except the "Royal," the manufacturers of which control the patents under which it is refined.

Dr. Edward G. Love, formerly analytical chemist for the U. S. Government, who made the analyses for the New York State Board of Health in their investigation of baking powders and whose intimate knowledge of the ingredients of all those sold in this market enables him to speak authoritatively, says of the purity, wholesomeness and superior quality of the "Royal":

"I find the Royal Baking Powder composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder, and does not contain either alum or phosphates or other injurious substance."

Prof. Love's tests, and the recent official tests by both the United States and Canadian Governments, show the Royal Baking Powder to be superior to all others in strength and leavening power. It is not only the most economical in use, but makes the purest, finest flavored and most wholesome food.

A tired stomach is very much like a sprained ankle. If you suffer from any of the symptoms of dyspepsia, your stomach is tired. It needs a crutch. We must relieve it of all work for a time, or until it is restored to its natural strength. To do this successfully, we must use a food which is already digested outside of the body, and which will aid the digestion of other foods that may be taken with it. Such a product is the Shaker Digestive Cordial.

The Shakers have utilized the digestive principles present in plants for the manufacture of this article, and its success has been truly phenomenal. You can try it for the nominal sum of 10 cents, as sample bottles are sold by all druggists at this price.

Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

The controversy over the yacht race is becoming about as monotonous as the talk of the big pugilists. Lord Dunraven's insinuations that he was buncoed, has excited the Iselins and the Vanderbilts and there's no telling now where it will end. International contests may cease entire as a result. Lord Dunraven and Lord Sackville will manage no more on this side of the pond is certain.

A Minister's Experience With Heart Disease.

Rev. L. W. Showers, Elderton, Pa.: "For many years my greatest enemy has been organic heart disease. From uneasiness about the heart, with palpitation, it had developed into thumping, fluttering and choking sensations. Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart gave instant relief. A few bottles have rid me of almost every symptom of heart disease. It is a wonder-worker." Sold by Wm. S. Rishton. 6 15 19.

A GIRL'S DANGER.

Mothers are Altogether too Delicate About Advising Their Daughters.

Plain, Sensible Talks to Them Oftentimes Saves Years of Suffering; and it is Entirely a False Modesty on the Mother's Part that Keeps Her from Her Known Duty.

From the Apptitor, Wellsboro, Pa.

In Elkland, Pennsylvania, a small town located on the Cohanque River Railroad, there lived for some years, prior to 1880, Mr. Charles H. Heath, whose profession was that of a blacksmith. He had chosen for his life companion Miss Genie Boyd and here settled with his little family to earn a living by the side of his already well-beaten anvil. On January 8th, in the year 1882, there was born unto Mr. and Mrs. Heath a beautiful baby girl, with health which promised to add to the home one more joy. For this daughter the parents chose the name of Clara B., and, indeed, she was a bright star in that little circle.

A few years later, Mr. Heath seeing a better opportunity for earning his livelihood, removed his family to Harrison Valley, a town located on the same branch of railroad near its terminus. Here for a while everything was bright and the future promised to be one of comfort to them, but suddenly it became fully apparent to the father and mother that the radiant face of their little daughter was beginning to fade. This caused them much anxiety, and a physician was consulted, but little, if anything, was done to restore the vanishing beauty to their little one. The father toiled on faithfully to provide for the dependents, but the sunlight seemed to be fast fading from their home.

In March, 1892, thinking a change in location might add vigor to Clara, they took up their abode in a beautiful little town situated between the mountains, known as Little Marsh, Pa., and where nature itself seemed to be a physician superior to all mankind. Here, for a time, the change of air seemed to revive their daughter Clara, but soon other weaknesses established themselves in her body, which promised to take her from their midst.

Physicians were summoned, but she continued to grow worse and it was very evident that only a few short days remained for her on earth. The mother was distracted upon realizing the situation of her loving daughter, and it was while relating her condition to a neighbor, Mrs. Southworth, in January, 1895, that she learned of the wonderful results obtained by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for female weakness.

Everything else having failed to add one glimmer of light to the life so fast fading away, a fifty-cent box of Pink Pills was procured from the druggist, hoping that there might be something in this new remedy. Already Clara's complexion had grown to be of that faded color so well-known to all similarly affected. Time rolled on and she was stricken down more closely with nervous prostration and again all hope seemed to vanish. Still she continued the treatment of Dr. Williams, and when the first box was gone there seemed to be a change for the better. Her nerves had grown stronger and other weaknesses seemed to mend. "Where there is life there is hope," and another box was purchased and taken as prescribed. Clara continued to grow stronger each day and there seemed to be new life in the little home again. Father and mother were both elated to see the improvement and once more have their daughter join their family circle.

Now Miss Clara speaks for herself: "I have continued to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills up to the present time and it has only cost the small amount of $4.00 to place me where I am to-day. My health is better than ever before; my complexion was never so rosy and I am never troubled with nervous spells as before using this remedy. I attribute my present condition to the healing powers of Pink Pills for Pale People, and am glad to recommend them to any suffering as I was. My appetite, which before their use had nearly failed me, is now as good as one need wish for, and I am again able to enjoy the pleasures of life so long denied me.

Miss Heath is still using the Pink Pills and declares her intention so to do should she require medicine of any kind. She also relates instances of her friends who are having as good results as hers from their use.

MRS. CAREY'S ENTHUSIASM AT SIXTY.

Her Daughter Marvelously Cured, then Her Own Life Saved.

From the Era, Bradford, Pa. Mrs. Hannah Carey, an estimable lady who resides at No. 56 High Street, Bradford, Pa., is enthusiastic in her praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mrs. Carey is sixty years of age, but still possesses much of the youthful appearance of her younger days. She had never known a day's illness until a year ago, when she showed signs of general breaking down of the system. She grew emaciated, lost her appetite and it was only by a great effort that she kept on her feet.

Several different kinds of medicine were tried but her condition steadily grew worse. "I had almost given up hopes of bettering my condition," said Mrs. Carey, to a newspaper man, "when I concluded to give Pink Pills a trial. Some time before, my daughter, Mrs. P. Raheer, who then resided at Punxsutawney, Pa., had been wonderfully cured of heart trouble by these wonderful pills and I concluded to see what virtue they possessed for the ailments of people of my age. Before I had taken the contents of one box, I noticed a change in my condition. I seemed to regain my lost strength, my appetite returned, the feeling of oppressiveness which had tortured me passed away and life took on new beauty. I took four boxes of the pills and when I had finished, my health was as good as it was before the illness. I am satisfied that Pink Pills saved me untold suffering and probably saved my life. For this reason I am always willing to recommend them to all who suffer as I did."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not looked upon as a patent medicine, but rather as a prescription. An analysis of their properties shows that they contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, and the tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all feelings resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.
