JERSEYTOWN.

E. F. Johnston and family of Harrisburg, who have been visiting at Mrs. Johnston's parents for the past three weeks, have returned to their home.

Miss Katie Hartline from Harrisburg, is home visiting her parents at present.

Charles Middleton, wife and daughter from Wyoming, Pa., are visiting the latter's father, Augustus Hartline, this week.

Ella Young from Limestoneville, is visiting at Robert Butler's.

H. W. Terwilliger claims that he has the finest pug dog in the state. He thinks he can learn him to talk.

John J. Kreamer, while helping butcher at his father's on Saturday, received an ugly cut in his leg. He was taken home, and Dr. Shuman was called to dress the wound, and at present he is getting along nicely.

William Greenly, wife and children are all confined to the house with the grip.

Arthur Smith has still got his head tied up. Some time ago he was wrestling with a board and it was too much for him.

Elmer Laidacker still makes his weekly call at Mt. Hopeful.

Feathers as Popular Trimmings.

Feathers are everywhere. Combined with imitation jewels and jet they make most elaborate trimmings. Vandyke points made of black ostrich plumes are strikingly effective on light colored evening gowns. Small curly tips are used for outlining decollete bodices. In the stores narrow feather trimming is sold by the yard for expensive cloth costumes. It is applied to the bodice to simulate a vest or to outline seams. Spangles are frequently combined with a feather fringe. Trimmings formed of feather pendants are another novelty. The pendants swing from a jeweled band, and outline a corsage beautifully. The newest satins for evening gowns have raised velvet flowers for the designs and are wonderfully soft and beautiful.

A Word About Birthdays.

A lonely woman, one who was bearing patiently a great sorrow, surprised a friend one day by saying: "Come with me next Tuesday, it is my birthday, and I want you to help me celebrate it." "Why should she care to celebrate her birthday?" thought the friend. But the next week she learned, for the sorrowful one went loaded with gifts to an institution in which she took a keen interest. "I want some one to be glad that I was born," said she, and that is the noblest, best and happiest thought that can come to us on our birthdays. It is pleasant to be remembered and to receive presents, but whether surrounded with love or suffering from neglect, which is more often thoughtlessness than intention, we can make some one happier because we were born.

Woman's Realm.

MAKE THE HOME A BLESSING.

The Love of Children is Innate in the Heart of every True Man and Woman.

All that is beautiful and lovely in woman, finds its climax in motherhood. How often we find among our American women that longing for the prattling voice, the idol of their waiting hearts. It is a natural instinct, this yearning of the heart for offspring; yet the wife hesitates to talk with the family physician on this delicate subject. A good way to do is to send for a medical book on "Woman and Her Diseases," (168 pages) sent, sealed in a plain envelope, on receipt of 10 cents in stamps, for postage, if you address the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

The reflections of a married woman are not pleasant if she be delicate, run-down, or debilitated. She feels "played out." Her smile and her good spirits have taken flight. It worries her husband as well as herself.

This is the time to build up her strength and cure those weaknesses or ailments which are the cause of her trouble. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription regulates and promotes all the proper functions of womanhood, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep, and restores perfect health and strength.

It is a safe remedial agent, an invigorating tonic and nerve which cures all those disorders, weaknesses and derangements incident to womanhood.

WHEREIN THEY DIFFER.

How a Magazine Writer Compares Man and His Sisters.

Man is a creature of cast-iron habits; woman adapts herself to circumstances. This is the foundation of the moral difference between them.

A man does not attempt to drive a nail unless he has a hammer; a woman does not hesitate to utilize anything, from the heel of a boot to the back of a brush.

A man considers a corkscrew absolutely necessary to open a bottle; a woman attempts to extract the cork with the scissors; if she does not succeed readily she pushes the cork into the bottle, since the essential thing is to get at the fluid.

Shaving is the only use to which a man puts a razor; a woman employs it for a chiropodist's purposes.

When a man writes, everything must be in apple-pie order; pen, paper and ink must be just so, and a profound silence must reign when he performs this important function. A woman gets any sort of paper, tears it, perhaps, from a book or portfolio, sharpens a pencil with a seissors, puts the paper on an old atlas, crosses her feet, balances herself on her chair and confides her thoughts to paper, changing from pencil to pen and vice versa from time to time, nor does she care if the children romp or the cook comes to speak to her.

A man storms if the blotting paper is not conveniently near; a woman dries the ink by blowing on it, waving the paper in the air or holding it near a lamp or fire.

A man drops a letter unhesitatingly in the box; a woman rereads the address, assures herself that the envelope is sealed, the stamp secure, and then throws it violently into the box.

For a man "good-by" signifies the end of a conversation and the moment of his departure; for a woman it is just the beginning of a new chapter, for it is just when they are taking leave of each other that women think of the most important topics of conversation.

A woman ransacks her brain trying to mend a broken object; a man puts it aside and forgets that for which there is no remedy.

Which is superior?—Lippincott's Magazine.

CLASS MILLINERY.

Turned Out in Large Quantities by Venetian Manufacturers.

Articles of dress are now being extensively made of glass. A Venetian manufacturer is turning out bonnets by the thousand, the glass cloth of which they are composed having the same shimmer and brilliancy of color as silk, and, what is a great advantage, being impervious to water. In Russia there has for a long time existed a tissue manufactured from the fiber of a peculiar filamentous stone from the Siberian mines, which by some secret process is shredded and spun into a fabric which, although soft to the touch and pliable in the extreme, is of so durable a nature that it never wears out. This is probably what has given an enterprising firm the idea of producing spun-glass dress lengths.

The Muscovite stuff is thrown into the fire when dirty, like asbestos, by which it is made absolutely clean again; but the spun-glass is simply brushed with a hard brush and soap and water, and is none the worse for being either stained or soiled. The material is to be had in white, green, lilac, pink and yellow, and bids fair to become very fashionable for evening dresses. An Austrian is the inventor of this novel fabric, which is rather costly. Tablecloths, napkins and window curtains are also made of it. It has also been discovered that glass is capable of being turned into a fine cloth which can be worn next to the skin without the slightest discomfort.—Chambers' Journal.

LOVELY CRACKER JAR.

A Beautiful Bit of Decoration in Clovers and Grasses.

The decoration of clovers and grasses is well suited for a cracker jar or marmalade dish. Wash in a soft background of greens and blues before beginning to paint it. Use grass green, deep blue green and a bit of yellow here and there, with a touch of dark green in the shadows. For the clovers use carmine, No. 1 black and here and there deep purple in very limited quantities. A very faint wash of ultramarine will give you the soft purplish shadow found in a clover. Use yellow brown, dark green, black and a touch of violet of iron in the soft grasses. Keep the tone of the leaves cool, using grass green, deep blue green, dark green and black in painting them. Glid the handles and knob on the lid.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Cold Water Baths for the Feet.

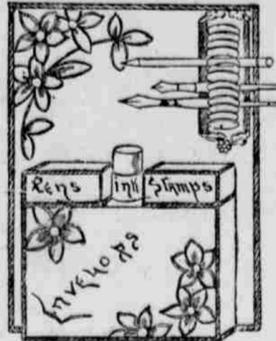

A distinguished medical authority says "the best way to guard the feet against the effects of cold or of getting them wet is to bathe them every morning in cold water. The first morning they cannot be kept in water longer than two or three seconds, after which they must be rubbed vigorously, to restore the circulation. A rough crash towel is the best thing to use. Each morning increase the time that the feet can be held in water until they can be bathed for fifteen minutes without any discomfort."

HANDY LITTLE ARTICLE.

A Wall Pocket for Stationery Which is Easily Made.

This handy little article—especially for the person usually of the masculine gender, who can never remember where the ink and paper are kept—is made of gray linen. The variety sold as dress linen at 25 cents a yard, and which has a high polish, is best.

The size will largely depend on the size of paper and envelopes used. The back is made double to admit of slipping in a tablet or letter paper at the side. The pocket at bottom should be a trifle larger than the envelopes and of sufficient depth to hold 50 envelopes. A good quality of Bristol board may be used for the foundation, and the linen must be decorated before covering the different compartments. The decoration is very simple for anything so effective, and consists of painting in the design with Chinese white, shading the centers of petals with green, and outlining with Japanese gold cord couched down with yellow silk. It will be best to cut a pattern for the different parts of stiff brown paper, bend them to the required shape and adjust to position on the back. Now take your Bristol board—mark with pencil and rule where the sides of compartments should come, and with a sharp knife cut partly through the board. They will now bend without breaking into the required box form. Cover with the decorated linen and line with the plain; sewing the edges together, over and over, with gray silk.

The two little boxes on top of envelope case have a rubber band passing from front edge of lid through the back, which keeps them closed. A narrow strip is fitted between them in circular form to hold a small patent ink stand. At the upper right-hand corner a spiral pen rack is attached and the different parts are joined firmly together with gray button-hole twist and finished with a twisted gold cord. If my readers desire to make this and are in doubt on any points, I shall be very glad to answer any questions they may direct to me, care Farm, Field and Fireside.

The Japanese gold cord and the twisted gold cord will be found at the fancy stores, and the Bristol board at the printer's or stationer's.—Ida D. Bennett, in Farmer's Review.

Care of Hard-Wood Floors.

A housekeeper who is noted for her neatness says that a wood floor in the house is as much care as a baby. This is no doubt true, and yet a little attention systematically given the floor each day is productive of marvelous good results. A flannel bag made to slip over the bristles of a broom makes an excellent and convenient polisher. The wood floor should be swept each morning with this flannel-covered broom, and twice a week it should be carefully oiled. If the floor is hard wood use linseed oil, while if it is stained or painted the inexpensive crude oil will answer just as well. It should be rubbed upon the floor with cheese cloth rather than flannel to avoid the lint scattered over the floor. To deep-stained or varnished floor light-wipe frequently with a solution of milk and water.
