WASHINGTON.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, June 12th, 1896. President Cleveland adhered to his sensible rule of refusing to go to the Capitol to sign bills passed during the last hours of the session, and insisted upon naving all bills sent to the White House, where he could give them careful examination, as is usually the By far, the most interesting event or the closing hours of the session of Congress was the short humorous speech made in the House by "Private" John Allen, of Miss. After referring to the "universal criticism" of his silence during the session, he said: "I desire to say, however, that there has been little at this session of Congress to inspire a man to be loquacious. And I want to say further that I am not the only great statesman whose recent career has been distinguished by his silence. There are a good many of us leaders, Mr. Speaker, who have not been talking much lately. But I have not got anybody to go around and certify what my views are. I notice that a distinguished gentleman, who they say is about to be nominated for the Presidency of the bailiwick giving a certificate of what his views on the financial question are, but we cannot hear anything from him. Now, I do submit that people are authorized to certify all sorts of ways for him, for he has certified all sorts of ways for himself in times gone by. I have a number of his speeches in my pocket. I do not know which one he stands on now, but he has stood on all sides of this question, and people are giving out certificates for him on all sides of the question. They say that an egg that goes around the country with a certificate that it is a good egg is not a safe egg to buy, because, they say that an egg never starts out with a certificate until it gets under suspicion." Mr. Allen's speech was interrupted at every sentence with laughter and applause and it was evident that Speaker Reed enjoyed his whacks at McKinley.

a candidate for the democratic nomination, doesn't take any stock in the idea that Senator Teller, or in fact anybody but a tried and true democrat, will head the ticket nominated by the Chicago convention. In a letter from Gov. Boies, received by a close friend in Washington this week, he says: "It would in my judgement be absolutely impossible to unite any considerable number of the delegates to that convention in favor of nominating any one outside of the party, for the head of the ticket, at least." The House and Senate split their Representative Stallings, of Ala. denounced the remarks made by Representative Linney, of N. C., in favor of unseating Representative Underwood, of Ala., which was accomplished by a vote of 116 to 107, as "the dittiest abuse of his own section ever delivered by a white man."

Secretary Carlisle's answer to the Senate sub-committee which will inof a Senate resolution, was given to the papers this week. It is a long document and goes quite fully into the details of the bond issues, giving the reasons for every act of the administration in connection therewith, and showing that the causes originated under Harrison's administration. It is expected that Secretary Carlisle will be one of the first witnessess who will be heard when the investigation of ten days.

Senator Gallinger, of N. H., who has aspirations to help manage Mc-Kinley's campaign, was asked what sort of a platform the St. Louis convention would adopt. His reply was:
"It will be the kind of a platform that will win." That tells the whole story. While there are a few republicans like Senator Hawley, who is a single standard gold man, and Senator Teller, who is a silver man, who put principle above everything else, the great majority of the party and of the delegates to St. Louis, are only intent upon framing a platform that will win, regardless of principles.

Nearly all the republican members of Congress have gone to St. Louis to help hx up that straddle to be used as the financial plank of the republican platformr

While it is generally believed that nomination, his managers have got to get tricked out of it. There has been a heap of plotting here, and if an opwill upset the McKinley machine.

HE LIVES WITHOUT SLEEP.

Existed a Month and Challenges Any Other Man to do Likewise.

A novel challenge to the whole world has been issued by John Sullivan, an employe of the Swedes iron furnace at Norristown. He has lived for 30 days without sleeping a minute, and he wants to wager that no one else in the wide world can accomplish | you understand?" a similar feat.

Some time ago Sullivan conceived the idea of subjecting himself to a test to ascertain how long he could live without sleep, and suffer no distress

His period of sleeplessness began March 1, and he did not close his evelids once during the remainder of that month, except to wink. Ten weeks have elapsed since his month without sleep, and he avers that at no time during March nor since has he felt any evil effects of his singular feat.

Sullivan is 45 years old, and has a wife and six children. He says that this possense in getting a jury?—16. during the long period of sleeplessness he worked alternately each week in bany Journal. the furnace, on night and day turns. Why Horses' Knees Become Bent-

Much difference of opinion exists as to the cause of bent knees in Senate sub-committee which will in-vestigate the bond issues, by direction it almost invariably due to corns or other diseases of the hind portion of the foot, which induces the animals to ease his heels. The back tendon thereby are relieved and contraction of the back tendons followed through disuse. Prof. Almond, at a recent chief of the armies of the Continental meeting of veterinarians in London, expressed a different view. His experience leads him to conclude that one of the most common causes of bent knees in young horses is their begins, which will probable be inside being tied up in stalls where the front of the standing ground is higher than the back. He believes there is no more prolific source of the mischief by a British force. than "the constrained endeavor of the horse to maintain its position high in front." If a horse subject to such conditions were let loose, it invariably feet on the lowest part of the ground. It is a matter of common observation ing field always do so facing downfrom his experience that a horse never should be compelled to stand

In the Fleming trial at New York, there was great difficulty in getting a jury. But that is not strange. series of knock-out questions that are McKinley will get the republican fired at the talesmen are calculated to be stunners even to the mind of the keep wide-awake or they will see him most clever logician. In fact, some of the interrogations put to the jurymen are as clear as mud. Here is one for portunity is given them the plotters instance; "Suppose the court should charge that in order to justily the inference of legal guilt from circumstantial evidence the existence of the inculpatory facts must be absolutely in reach the diseased portions of the ear. compatible with the innocence of the accused. Why All This Nonsente?

Now, the average juror will at once fall flat or go into an epileptic fit, ring of the Eustachian Tube. When when confronted by such astounding this tube gets inflamed you have a rhetoric. If he tries to answer it he founders right then and there, and of course he is excused.

Here are some other questions put to the Fleming case jurors:

"Suppose the Court should charge that the jury are at liberty to draw such inferences or conclusions as they find flow naturally from the facts proven in the case, what would you understand by that?"

"Suppose the court should charge that, in order to justify the inference of legal guilt from circumstantial evidence, the existence of the inculpatory facts must be absolutely incompatible with the innocence of the accused. Do you get any clear idea from that?"

"What would you understand should the court charge as follows: 'The administration of the criminal law is essentially dependent in a large degree necessarily on the existence of circumstances for sustaining criminal charges. What would you understand by that?"

"Should the court charge, 'You are not to be preverted from a true verdiet by a capricious doubt springing from mere indolence, what would

"In case you should be accepted as a jusor, if the court should charge, 'It will be the duty of the jury to reconcile conflicting statements of witnesser rather than assume that the conflictas a result of continually keeping his ing testimony arose from the fact that perjury had been committed by one or more of the witnesses,' what mean would that convey to you?"

The Fleming jury, when once it is secured, after such jugglery of questioning, will be one of the most erudite bodies of men that has ever been called upon to determine the guilt or innocence of a human being. "Clear ideas they will have in abundance, but this nonsense in getting a jury? - Al-

June is the month rich in patriotic memories. It was on June 7, 1776, that Richard Henry Lee arose in the Continental Congress at Philadelphia and offered the resolution "That these United States are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States." John Adams seconded it. and the Fourth of July was made possible. June 14 of the next year the Stars and Stripes had their birth in the same old Quaker City. It was on June 15, 1775 that George Washington was appointed commander-in-Congress. Two days later, June 17, 1775, occurred that little affair that made it necessary for us to build the Bunker Hill monument, and it was June 18, 1778 that General Clinton evacuated Philadelphia and concentrated his army at New York, and Philadelphia was never again occupied

How few there are who really appreciate the value of a newspaper in their home town. How little do they realize its great worth in every sense of the word toward advancing the future welfare and prosperity of the entire community. It brings to the town many doffars that would otherwise never be brought here. A home paper is in no sense a child of charity. It carns twice over every dollar it receives and is second to no enterprise in contributing to the upbuilding of a town or community. Its patrons reap far more benefits from its columns than does the publisher, and in calling for the support of the people of the community in which it is published it asks no more than in all fairness belongs to it, though it generally receives less.

Every wage-winner in the United States, every clerk or salesman who lives on a salary, every veteran pensioner, every man or woman who has a deposit of savings in bank or a government bond or a share of railroad Bologna, &c. Free Delivery stock, and every helder of a life in surance policy who has made a sacrifice of present enjoyment in order to provide for his wife and children, has a right to regard as his persor al enemy the demagogue who proposes to reduce by one half the purchasing power of the money in which all obligations must be redeemed. While justly regarding the Silverite demagogue as his fee, he can have for the straddler no other sentiment than contempt.
