WHY HIS WIFE WAS NOT THERE.

Man in the Dress Suit Becomes Con idential in Explaining Matters. "Why isn't your wife here?" asked the floor manager, as he stopped for a minute to chat with the man in the shabby dress suit. Why-ah-the-ah-the fact is she never goes to these full-dress affairs," explained the man in the shabby dress

"Now you speak of it," said the floor manager, "I am reminded of the fact that I never did see her at one of our

'Quite right," replied the man in the shabby dress suit with evident relief. "She never attends them."

But, on the other hand," continued the floor manager, "she always attends the informal entert inments, while I don't recall that I ever saw you at one

"That's right, too," admitted the man in the shabby dress suit, shifting un-easily from one foot to the other. "You see, we were lacking in foresight this year, and it has been rather awkward, but next year we expect to appear to gether again."

The floor manager looked puzzled and the man in the shabby dress suit ap-"I don't believe I quite understand," said the floor manager at last. "No."

The man in the shabby dress suit The man in the shabby dress suit pulled the floor manager a little to one side, where they couldn't be overheard. "My wife thinks we ought to be represented in society," he said, "but we made an error in our plans. We could only afford one suit for each of us, and she got a gown for afternoon teas and such things, while I bought a dress suit. Her gown is out of place where I can wear my sult, and I can't wear my suit where her gown is the proper caper. We must make the best of it this year, but next year we intend to try to get into the same class."—Chicago

He Caught the Officers.

"Cap" Nelson is a moonshiner whose stills in Clinton County, Ky., have never been found. The revenue officers have endeavored for years to catch him, but the nearest they ever succeeded was about two years ago, the deby Thad Arnold, one of the deputies who accompanied the posse.
"We left Point Burnside," he said,

"and stopped the first night in Monticello, starting early the next morning for Boston Mountain, near which Nelson was known to live. As we rode up the narrow bridle path, that is the easiest way to the top of the mountain, a mountaineer met us.

"Howdy, strangers, he said. ...." "Howdy, we answered. "'Gotn' to Albany?' he inquired.

" 'Yes.' " 'Wall, I reckon I kin do yo'uns some good an' make an' hones' dollar,' he re-marked. 'One of yo' all jess get down an' come hyar.'

"Our leader dismounted, and the man said, cautiously: 'Thar's a feller named "Cap" Nelson hyar, an' thar's rewards fur 'im. Ef yo' all will bring some men hyar, I'll go halvers. "After a little sparring a deal was made with the fellow, who took us to a house for supper, where he said Nelson had an engagement to come that night. We watched the informer carefully, and kept our weapons ready for use. 'Yo'uns all go up yander in the loft an' keep a sharp lookout. When he comes, jump right down an' captor 'im suddint. Take me, too, for my hide wouldn' be worth shucks of they hed any ijee he war given away.'

"We were a little suspicious, but kept a close watch upon the man. He was not out of our sight except when he went to feed the horses.

"About the time it grew dark there were sounds of horses' hoofs, and our spy whispered up the loft: 'He'll ride up, an' I'll go out an' see 'im an' stop 'im. He won't come in 'cause thar's two others with 'im. When yo' all hear three pistol shots yo' kin' know it's 'im Git yo' critters an' surroun' 'im.'

"We started after the horses, and the pistol shots were heard as we reached the log stable. The horses were gone, the lights were out in the cabin, and when we got back it was deserted. We finally got into the house, and loosely scrawled on a piece of brown paper was written: 'I told yo' all I'd show you Cap Nelson for half the two thousand You all et supper with him, but he don't live here, as a general thing. He took the horses for half what you owe him for showing himself, and the rest can be sent to him at Monti-

Men and Their Hats.

"Well, well," remarked a leading hatter the other day; "everybody has smiled at the vanity of women as they take long and fond glances at their reflections in the store windows, but woman is not a marker for the ordinary man. The uglier a man is the longer it takes him to suit himself with a hat and the oftener does he look into the glass while buying one. I have an unusually unprepossessing customer, who would exhaust the patience of a Job. He came into the store the day after the spring styles arrived and consumed two hours and ten minutes in getting a hat that pleased him. The next day he returned the hat and had one made to order. This man is so ugly that mask."-Philadelphia Record. nothing could improve his looks but a

Exclaims thousands of people who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at this season of the year, and who have noted the success of the medicine in giving them relief from that tired feeling, waning appetite and state of extreme exhaustion after the close confinement of a long winter season, the busy time attendant upon a large and pressing business during the spring months and with vacation time yet some weeks distant. It is then that the building-up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are fully appreciated. It seems perfectly adapted to overcome that prostration caused by change of season, climate or life, and while it tones and sustains the system, it

Many Bonds Are Illegal.

The Supreme Court has handed down a per curium opinion affirming the court of Lancaster county in the case of Sener against the borough of Ephrata. This decision effects a large number of boroughs. An estimate is made that $10,000,000 in bonds have been affected and are illegal. The Act of 1874, authorizing boroughs to issue bonds up to 7 per cent. of the assessed valuation, was amended by the legislature last year, and it seems a line was left out which gives the Act of 1895 another meaning. The Act of 1874 made it obligatory on the part of the council, where they bonded the town to the limit of 7 per cent. of the assessed valuation, to levy a tax of 8 per cent. of the amount borrowed. This made the taxation exceedingly heavy in some towns, and to remedy this the Act of 1895 was passed, but a mistake was made in the wording, making it appear that the borough could only borrow 2 per cent, of its assessed valuation, and the Supreme Court has sustained this view of it.

To Attempt to Cure

catarrh by the use of so-called blood remedies means the expenditure of many dollars and derangement of the stomach. That catarrh is not caused by blood troubles is self-evident when you reflect that attacks are always due to sudden climatic changes or exposure to cold, and occur most frequently during the winter and spring, though the blood is as pure then as in summer or fall. A remedy which quickly relieves and by thorough treatment cures the catarrhal attacks has been found in Ely's Cream Balm.
