BRYAN'S BROOKLYN SPEEJH.

Candidate Bryan was greeted by an immense crowd at Brooklyn, N. Y., that if, by the suffrage of my countrylast week Wednesday. He made a men I am placed in that position speech which covers the ground so which is the highest position within well that it is reproduced here : He the gift of the people of the world, said :

men: I esteem it a great privilege to (Long applause.) It is not a fear of be permitted to defend the cause lawlessness, my friends. Think of which has been espoused in this cam- men who have transgressed the law paign, and I am glad to be permitted being afraid that there will be a lax to present that cause to the people of tiguished divine, whose name has greater than the Government, who added even to the fame of your great are afraid that the Government will city, Henry Ward Beecher (applause) not be great enough. were with us to-day, that he might again champion the cause of the people in their great fight. (A voice: "No It is because these great trusts, these doubt he would.")

"Any man would, whose sympathies were on the side of humanity, my enjoying unjust privileges. (Tremenfriends We have commenced a warfare against the gold standard, which will not cease until victory is won.

"Before addressing myself to the money question, I desire to say something in regard to these planks of our platform which have been assailed by the enemy. I only speak of them because persons, high in the Republican the Judge assured him that he need party, have called attention to them not worry, that he would get justice and sought to twist them into meanings not intended to be given them heavens! Judge, that is what I am and an interpretation which they will afraid of.' (Laughter.) They say that not bear. Let me read to you the plank of the Chicago platform against ' which so much abuse has been leveled.

"We denounce arbitrary interference by Federal authorities in local affairs as a violation of the Constitution of the United States (applause), as a crime against free institutions.'

"That is the part which they say is bad. When did that become bad? Let me read a plank of another platform, and see how this plank which I am about to read compares with the That is the question. (Cries of "No.") one which I have read :--- the rights of the State and especially the right of each State to order and control its own domestic institutions according to its own judgment exclusively is essential to that balance of power upon which the operation and ment of greenbacks and Treasury endurance of our political fabric depends, and we denounce the lawless invasion by armed force of the soil of any State or Territory, no matter under what pretext, as among the greatest of crimes.' (Applause.)

Do you know from what platform that plank is taken ? (A voice : "From Abraham Lincoln's.") Yes, from Abraham Lincoln's (Applause loud and long); that is a plank in the platform of the Republican party of 1860, and when you compare our plank with that you will find that ours is mild in language compared to this one. (Applause.)

"Abraham Lincoln ran for President on that platform. He was elected President on that platform. (Cries of, "So will you be.') (Cries of, "I hope so.") And in his inaugural address he quoted that plank in full and reiterated it with his approval. (Cries of, "So will you.")

one, and that one changed his mind ? (Loud applause.)

"I have said before, I say again, every law shall be enforced against "Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentle- the great as well as against the small, enforcement of the law. Think of greater than the Government, who

"They know that the Attorney General, whom I will appoint if elected, will not stand there to defend the great corporations when he ought to enforce the law. (Great applause.) They remind me of the man in court, the prisoner, who seemed uneasy, and in that court, and he said : 'Great we are trying to destroy our institutions.

"I want for a very few moments to call your attention to the present financial system and then explain to you what we desire to substitute in the place of this financial system.

"If our present financial system is good it ought to be kept. There is nothing too good for the American people (Applause), and if this is good we ought to keep it. Now, is it good? "If it is bad, then we ought to "That the maintenance inviolate of abandon it, because the American people are good enough to have the best, my friends. (Applause.)

"Now, the present financial system is based on gold. The present financial system contemplates the retirenotes and the substitution of bank paper for gold. The present financial system contemplates the retirement of all legal tenders.

"The present financial system, when run to its logical conclusion, contemplates gold only as the legal tender money of this country and bank paper only as the paper money of this country. The financial policy under which we are now suffering, therefore, contemplates a condition in which a few men will control the primary money. National banks will control the primary money. National banks will control the paper money, and the people will have nothing to say. (Applause.)

"I believe this Government has a right to use its silver dollars just as it uses its gold dollars. (Applause.) But our opponents have gone on a differ-ent basis and they have taxed the

DEFENDS PLANK ON INCOME TAX.

"Now my friends, if our platform is wrong, I want these Republicans to repudiate Abraham Lincoln. (Applause.) Because if you take Abraham Lincoln from the Republican party' you have taken from it its most sacred memory, my friends. (Applause and cries of, "There will be nothing left.")

"Now let me call your attention to another thing which they complain the bonds, and added :-of. They say we criticise the Supreme Court. Let me read you what we say on that subject. (Mr. Bryan then read the plank of the Chicago platform in regard to income tax decision.)

"I call attention to the fact that the court overruled the decision of 100 years. It is a fact. Have we not a right to mention a fact ? We declare that Congress ought to use all constitutional powers which remain. Will they insist that, having taken part, we dare not use what they left ? We demand that Congress shall use such powers as may come from the reversal by the court as it may hereafter be constituted.

"Has no court hereafter a right to reverse the decision of this court? If to this country. We have got a new debts and taxes he has nothing left to not, then what right had this court to reverse the courts of 100 years before it. (Applause.)

"This court changes from time to time; Judges die or resign, and new Judges take their place. Is it not possible, my friends, that future Judges may adhere to the precedents of 100 years instead of adhering to a decition rendered by a majority of of $262,000,000 of bonds in order to buy gold. (Applause.) (Cries of "Adding the stand of the "As I came down the street here I
