Colonel Mann Dead.

Colonel William B. Mann, the nestor of the Philadelphia bar and a leader in the politics of the city and state in the days of Simon Cameron, Andrew G. Curtin and John W. Forney and who held the office of district attorney in the years when violence was rampant in various sections of the city, died last Saturday night at his home. On Friday night of last week, a stranger called at the home of Jacob Miller, on First Street, and asked for night's lodging. He was taken in and given a bed. On Saturday morning quite early, he showed his appreciation of the kindness by getting up and leaving the house, taking with him something over $10. of Mr. Miller's money.

Practical Knowledge is Power.

It is power because it moves the world. It is well to have the culture and refinement that are the product of what is called a finished education, but polish and ornament on the engine are not what makes the wheels go. It is the energy of the steam, directed by the master hand of the engineer that sets the practical machinery in motion; and it is practical education that keeps the wheels of commerce in motion by which the products of human labor are distributed.

A thorough business education is a qualification for the active affairs of life. It meets the needs of all classes. It is not at all necessary if you wish to remain a cipher in character and influence, but highly necessary if you wish your career to show practical solution of the problem of Success in Life. Williams College of Business makes a specialty of training young people to make a success in life, and hundreds testify to the excellent work it has done.

There are seven schools conducted under the same management. The Bloomsburg branch will be organized Oct. 29 in the COLUMBIAN building. Day and night sessions.

If you want one of the first fifty scholarships that are sold for only $50 attend to it at once. Regular rates for these scholarships in business schools are from $100 to $200.

Fifty Years Ago.

This is the way it was bound to look when grandfather had his "picnic took." These were the shadows cast before the coming of Conjuror Daguerre. And his art, like a girl in a pinafore some day to bloom to a goddess fair. Men certainly were not as black, we know as they pictured them, 50 years ago.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

began to make new men, just as the new pictures of men began to be made. Thousands of people fronted the camera with skins made clean from blotch and blemish, because they had purified the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is as powerful now as then. Its record proves it. They can't imitate the record.

50 Years of Cures.

"Life In London."

Did you hear Dr. Cadman's great lecture on "Abraham Lincoln," which he delivered in the Methodist Tabernacle last spring? If so, you will want to hear his other great lecture on "Life In London" to be delivered in the same place next Monday evening Oct. 26. Dr. Cadman considers his "London" lecture quite as popular as the one on "Lincoln." For the benefit of those who have not heard this remarkable man it is proper to state that he is only thirty years old and is now pastor of the Central Metropolitan Temple, New York City where General Grant formerly worshipped and where great congregations gather weekly. He was born in England and knows London, the largest city of the world, and will for an hour or more entertain, instruct and delight his audience with what he has to say. Admission 35 cts. Methodist Tabernacle Monday evening Oct. 26th. 8:00 o'clock. No reserved seats.

No, Mr. Kulp, we must decline. You have our thanks for the button, which contains a very good looking picture of yourself, but the invitation to support you at the polls we are unable to accept. We have another engagement for that day.

DEMOCRATS, TAKE PRIDE!

The attention of the Democratic voters in each County and representative district is called to the representation that they may be entitled to at the next State Convention.

The representation in the Democratic State Conventions shall consist of representative delegates, one for each one thousand votes cast at the preceding Presidential election, or fraction of one thousand such votes, amounting to five hundred or more in the representative districts of the State, provided that each representative district shall have at least one delegate.

It is hoped that the Democratic voters will keep this fact in view and endeavor to have the largest vote possible polled, so that their County and district may have full representation at the next State Convention.

The necessity of paying strict attention to this important duty will be readily observed by all good Democrats. Each County should take pride in seeing to it that the present representation is sustained or increased.

Caught In McKinley's House.

Four Men Found Concealed About the Premises.

Four men were arrested at the McKinley residence during Saturday night. One was concealed in the garret, a second in the cellar and two in an adjacent outhouse.

The men would give no explanation of their intentions but it is thought that the many valuable gifts sent McKinley recently induced them to attempt to rob the house. The matter has been kept quiet, but it is learned that the men were released at the request of members of the McKinley household.

The stores of Bloomsburg draw a large trade from the country around, and from less populated towns—

Chiefly for the reason that large stocks of goods are to be found that people want. It has taken years to build up this feature of their business. Bloomsburg merchants deserve to be classed among the most progressive. In advertising no two following exactly the same plan, (although a few have desired and practised our plan,) which is commendable and shows a diversified business ability.

Coats, capes, dress goods, trimmings, domestics, hosiery, gloves, underwear, &c. seem to fill the bill this season of year; and for these to be replenished we are again in New York this week—specially for capes and coats.
