WASHINGTON.

From our Regular Corresponden.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13th, 1896. While President Cleveland may have failed in many things he has undertaken, his administration has just won the greatest diplomatic victory in treaty providing for the submission to dispute involves a full recognition of the Monroe Doctrine by Great Britain, and consequently by the rest of the world, and complies with every demand made by this government. The extent of this diplomatic victory may be comprehended best by remembering that Venzuela has been trying to get Great Britain to arbitrate the dispute for more than fifty years, and now the other party to the arbitration is not to be Venezuela but the United States. Members of the diplomatic corps say the credit for the victory is more largely due to Secretary Olney than to President Cleveland. No matter to whom credit is due, it is a matter for every patriotic American to rejoice over. Beginning with Monroe every President of the United States has asserted the right this continent by a foreign power, but never until now has that right been recognized by a European nation.

The republican circus promises to open with the reassembling of Conauguration of McKinley, and the perwill appear it ought to be uproariously " funny." The fun may not materi-

As one of the silver Senators Mr. Morgan said: "If the Dingley tariff bill, so called, doesn't pass the Senate this winter it will be the fault of the republicans. I have no hesitation in saying I will not oppose it, although I would not say that I will vote for it. The Dingley bill, or the Reed bill, whatever you may choose to call it, is only a makeshift and the manufacturers of the east do not really want it. I do not expect to Pa., is being thoroughly overhauled see it pass. It seems to me very and rebuilt, and is said to be in firstlikely that this will be a case of the class condition. engineer hoist by his own petard. The matter of tariff legislation at the coming session depends very much upon whether the republicans really deserve to pass the Dingley bill. I have had no talk at anytime with any Senators regarding their probable attitude toward the measure in the event of its being brought before the Senate this winter, but so far as I am personally concerned they may have their way with it. I would like to see it presented to Mr. Cleveland. He might feel sufficiently grateful to Mr. McKinley for praising and upholding his financial policy to forgive the severe reproof which the republican party administered to him at the St. Louis convention, and to aid the republicans now in getting through their two year Dingley bill. I am afraid the republicans will have to offer a great many apologies to the west for their failure to pass such a measure, and I do not propose that any of them shall be charged to me."

The president of the Lakeland Democratic Club, which did effective work in the campaign just closed, and which is to continue its organization, gives his idea of the situation thusly: "If Maj. McKinley succeeds in restoring good times permanently, and demonstrates that his theory is correct, of course, we will have no fight. We will be benefitted and glad to acknowledge it; but it is our belief that Maj. McKinley cannot overcome immutable natural laws. His proposed policy offers no encouragement. Business cannot revive unless more money is put in circulation. The retirement of the greenbacks will not do this. Therefore, we are organizing now to stay further encroachment on popular rights; and the campaign of patriotic education will go on, and four years hence we will wave the victorious democratic banner.'

"There is just one thing," remarked a republican Senator, "which, to my mind, makes it certain that neither Ex-President Harrison nor Speaker Reed will be members of at the peril of your health, perhaps of McKinley's cabinet; they are both your life. assured that he will; but it will be done merely as an act of goodwill, and not with the slightest expectation that either man will accept."

A great many people are asking what Senator Butler did in the recent campaign to give him the enormous head he is exhibiting these days. He has developed a mania for keeping the history of our country. The negotiations, now completed, of the to newspaper reporters, who, of course, print it. #### Improving Iron Trade.

Next Year.

The return of confidence in general trade conditions has made its influence felt in the iron business, and the outlook is considerably brighter.

The Milton furnace at Milton, which has been idle for several years, was recently put in blast, giving employment to about 100 men.

Soho furnace, of the Union Trust Company, receivers for the Pittsburg Steel and Iron Company at Pittsburg, Haselton furnace, of the Andrews Bros. Company at Hasleton, O., which has been out of blast since last June, was put in operation recently.

The repairing of the blast furnace of the Youngstown Steel Company is progressing rapidly and will soon be treatin' for'ard." ready for operation.

The plant of the Spang Steel and Iron Company, at Etna, Pa, is still working steady in all departments.

The Keystone Rolling Mill at Pittsburg, Pa., is working steadily in all departments.

The puddling department of the Benwood works of the Wheeling Steel and Iron Company at Wheeling, W. Va., is working full.

The plant of the Newport Rolling Mill Company, at Newport, Ky., is running as usual in all departments. The tinplate plant of the Pennsylvania Tinplate Company, at New Kensington, Pa., is in full operation. We only hope this good news will keep coming till the whole country will be busy, everyone have plenty of money, and all be happy.

Boy Frightens Policemen.

A small boy got into the habit of flying his kite nightly from the roof of a police station in Wilkes-Barre unknown to the guardians of the peace. They heard his footsteps, but, strange to say, when they went to investigate they never found anyone. Then terrot took possession of the police force at the station, and they declared that ghost was haunting them, At length one, braver than the others, lay in wait and captured the little fellow. He was then hauled before a magistrate, who, after hearing the case, discharged him with a reprimand to the effect that it was very wrong to frighten policemen.

Frequently Met With and as Often to be Deplored.

Twenty years ago a poor woman was left a widow in the city of New York with two children. She was honord, energetic and an expert laundrens. She succeeded in keeping a comfortable home for her children and in educating them. Her ambition was not that they should be honest, energetic working people, but a "lady and a gentleman."

Emma, the daughter, was sent to a private school, taught superficial accomplishments, and to play on the plane and to dance. She made her way, through some of her school acquaintances into families who would not have recognized the poor washerwoman, and wore gaudy clothes and cheap jewelry which her mother slaved to buy for her. She married a salesman in a retall shop, a man wenk in body and mind. His scanty salary she wasted on finery for herself and her children, and when he lost his situation a year ago she came back with them to the mother whom she had so long declared was too "vulgar" to acknowledge before the world.

Tom, her brother, was a keen-witted young fellow, whose only ambition was to be "swell." He had a place as copying clerk in a shop on the Bowery, but lost it at the beginning of the hard times two years ago, and remained idle, dependent on his mother. When her employer offered to give him a situation as a messenger of porter, he haughtily refused it, as he "had not come into the world to do me-lessness.

The Southern Bivouac quotes a story of a negro, John Williams, who, filled with zeal for his master's cause, accompanied a Georgia regiment to the army of General Floyd. The campaign was unsuccessful, and John, becoming homesick, was allowed to depart. Before starting he went to say good-by to the general. "So you are going to leave us, John?" said Gen-eral Floyd. "Yes, Marse Floyd. It pears like I can do no more good at home now dan bein' here; so I thought I'd go home and 'courage up our people to hold on."

"That's right, John. But are you going to tell 'em you left us running from the Yankees?" "No, sir-no, Marse Floyd, dat I ain't. You may 'pend on my not tellin' nothin' to moralize dem people." But how will you get around telling them, John?" Easy 'nough, Marse Floyd. It won't do to 'moralize dem people. #### Forgave Him on the Spot.

Another story of the late Eugene Field's irrepressible love of joking comes from the "Youth's Companion." He and his wife had entered a street car, to find all the seats taken save one at each end of the car, and they scated themselves accordingly.

When the conductor collected the fares Mr. Feld announced in audible tones, as he gave him a dime, at the same time pointing to the far end of the car: "That is to pay the fare of the lady over there-the one wearing the new beautiful brown silk dress."

All eyes were turned to her, and her pretty face took a most becoming rose color, but back of the reproving glances she threw him was one of mingled indulgence, appreciation and mirth at the unexpected and apparently truthful announcement.

The Flight of Geese.

Wild geese conduct their migration in an extremely methodical fashion. The birds form themselves into lines shaped like an old-fashioned drag or harrow. Sometimes there are two rows, one behind the other. There are always distinct leaders, but these very soon tire, and, by careful watching with a glass, one may see the leaders drop back and others take their places, It has been suggested that this arrangement is on the principle of a ticket office window, and that all of the ganders successively take the leadership. When weary, they fall back to the rear and others come up. If the flock is scattered by shot or accident they immediately form again.

Fast German Express Trains. Germany's railways, which are owned by the government, are more progressive than the average American traveller abroad finds reason to suppose. One German express train covers 881 miles in twenty-two and a half hours, a mean speed, including stops, of 39.1 miles an hour, which is comparable with some of the best American long-distance express runs. An express running between Berlin and Hamburg covers 1761/2 miles in three hours and thirty-six minutes, a mean speed of 49.1 miles an hour.

HER HAPPY DAY.

A CHARMING STORY OF MEDICINE AND MARRIAGE.

Two Open Letters From a Chicago Girl -How Happiness Came to Her.

Among the tens of thousands of advice and are cured, are many who wish the facts in their cases made public, but do not give permission to publish their names for reasons as obvious as in the following, and no name is ever published without the writer's authority; this is a bond of faith which Mrs. Pinkham has never broken.

Chicago, Jan. My dear Mrs. Pinkham:-A friend of mine, M you, because she says: "you so much good." did her so much goo I am desperate. Am nine-ten years of age, tall, and weighed 138 pounds a year ago. I am now a mere skeleton. From your little book I think my trouble is profuse menstruation. My symptoms are Our dector (my uncle) tells father that I am in consumption, and wants to take me to Florida. Please help me! Tell me what to do, and tell me quickly. I am engaged to be married in September. Shall I live to see the day?

Chicago, June 16th, '95.

My dear Mrs. Pinkham:

This is a happy day. I am well and gaining weight daily, but shall continue the treatment and Vegetable Compound during the summer, ns you suggest. Uncle knows nothing about what you have done for me, because it would make things very unpleasant in the family. I would like to give you a testimonial to publish, but father would not allow it. I abuil to married in September, and as we go to Boston, will call upon you. How can I prove my gratitude? LUCY E. W.

Just such cases as the above leak out in women's circles, and that is why the confidence of the women of America is bestowed upon Mrs. Pinkham.

Why are not physicians more candid with women when suffering from such allments?

Women want the truth, and if they cannot get it from their doctor, will seek it elsewhere.
