NEW BALLOT LAW.

There is a bill now pending in the House at Harrisburg providing a simple form of the Australian ballot system, instead of the bothersome, unsatisfactory blanket ballot now in use. There should be no hesitation in passing it. The bill was prepared by the Ballot Reform Association of Pennsylvania.

The chief merit of the bill now pending is that it does away with an indefinite number of party columns on the ballot, grouping every candidate for each office to be voted for. and requiring the voter to mark every candidate for whom he wishes to vote. No name appears more than once upon the ballot, although all the party designations for each candidate are printed. The directions about voting are simple and easily understood, and independent voting is made just as easy as straight party voting

A bill so sensible in its purpose and so simple in its application to the important requirement of securing a fair vote and an honest count should command the support of every member of both branches of the Legislature. It is just to all parties and interests, and it enables each voter to declare his unbiased choice among the candidates presented at any election without danger of being deceived or misled. Any man who can read his ballot can find the names of the candidates of his choice and those who cannot read can be assisted by some one who can. The bill is so great an improvement upon the existing ballot law that there should be no question of its enact-ment. It should be among the first bills to be advanced to final passage.

Haste and Greed.

The method by which the Dingley Tariff bill has been rushed through the House of Representatives without even a pretense of deliberative March 1896, to March 1897 she consideration or opportunity for amendment is made the theme of enthusiastic commendation by some pathy in their rejoicing among men whose partisan zealotry does not get system. There was no necessity for revenue was a pretense. There is enormous expenditure authorized by much the more. the Fifty-fourth Congress. The ordinary excuse for extra-parliamentary pressure, growing out of a close balance of parties in the House, did not exist. There was nothing behind the extraordinary means adopted to push the Dingley bill unshaped and undigested upon the statute book except extraordinary greed. The measure as it stands proposes to increase the percentage of tax upon dutiable articles above the enormous rates imposed by the McKinley act, and to curtail the McKinley free list. There never before was such a monstrous tariff measure in this or any other country. Its monstrosity accounts for the method adopted to "jam it through," and for the brazen attempt to make it operative before delivery. The devisers of it are in mad haste to begin business and declare dividends. -Record.

FEEDING TRAMPS.

A woman living in Annville, a village of Lebanon County, in order to find out how many tramps she feeds has been keeping count of them and reports that from the last of furnished meals to no less than 419 weary walkers.

The statistics bring up anew the of the more radical Protectionist everlasting problem of what to do with journals. They will find little symability to work it is an outrage that they remain a charge upon a comthe better of their judgment. The authorities of Altoona legislative action is tantamount to a have recently enforced a law which practical condemnation of our political compels every tramp caught begging within the city to serve a term at hard haste. The immediate need of more labor at the municipal stone pile, but other cities have similar laws, and yet enough money in the Treasury, with the evil is not checked. A rigid enthe receipts from day to day from forcement of the law may protect customs and internal taxation, to de- Altoona, but it will foist this undesirafray for a year to come, without a ble class of loafers on the surrounding dollar of added taxation, even the towns, which will thereby suffer so It is often hard to discriminate between the deserving and undeserving poor and unfortunate, and tenderhearted citizens often give alms to the latter class for fear they may be denying the former. But if every community had a workshop for strong and healthy tramps and a hospital for the lame and halt, this indiscriminate charity would cease and the tramp problem would be partially solved. For the tramp will live just as long as he can impose on the people. He will die when he is compelled to work or go hungry. The above may be interesting to those who have been reading the articles contributed by citizens and published in the Daily last week. Bloomsburg, as every one knows, gets more than its share of this class of. people, and they will continue to gather here just as long as they are given a warm place to sleep, and a breakfast in the morning, and about the only way to get rid of them is to follow Altoona's example.

W. J. BRYAN VISITS YORK. Addresses a Large Crowd From His Hotel Window.

William Jennings Bryan arrived at York Saturday afternoon from Lincoln, Neb., and was met at the stacoin, Neb., and was met at the sta-tion by ex-Licutenant Governor Chauncey F. Black, whose guest he was over Sunday. The crowd at the de-pot cheered Mr. Bryan. He left for Washington, D. C., on Monday. Mr. Bryan held a reception Satur-day, avaning at the Colonial Head day evening at the Colonial Hotel. He also addressed a large crowd of people in Centre Square, from the hotel window.

The Philadelphia Ledger is evident-

Schaffer in his position as Superintendent of Public Instruction. It has this to say :

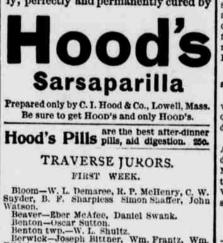

"He has been capacitated for the duties of the position by long experience as a teacher and by an intimate knowledge of the public school system and of the school laws. He has proved a most pains-taking and efficient four years experience, and a resulting knowledge of the immediate needs of school administration in Pennsylvania. To disturb him in a nonpolitical office because he happens to be a Democrat would be a piece of stupid blundering. The State ought to hold fast to him as long as he shall behave himself, because he can better serve the people than could any new man."

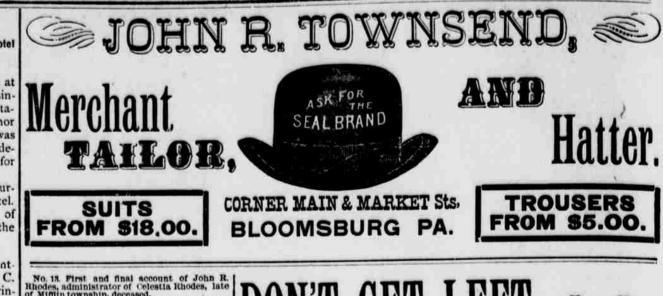

Scrofula

Makes life misery to thousands of people. It manifests itself in many different ways, like goitre, swellings, running sores, boils, salt rheum and pimples and other eruptions. Scarce-ly a man is wholly free from it, in some form. It clings tenaciously until the last vestige of scrofulous poison is eradicated by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the

It is now apparent that while the "Concert of Europe" was shedding tears out of its left eye, it was winking to the Turks with the right to go right on and butcher the christians in Armenia ; and now the same game is going on in the Island of Crete, daring a little Bantam. where the "Concert of Europe," the Ally of the Turk, is shelling the Christian army and starving Christian women and children.

President McKinley has sent "Little Breeches" alias "John Hay" over to England, as ambassador near the Court of Queen Victoria, and for the next four years he will have no "better business than loafing round and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or the throne."

The "Concert of Europe" puts one in mind of "Six Shanghai roosters"

Six bandits, ready to dispatch the victim so soon as they can agree upon division of the spoils.

Six gamblers at a game of cards in which the peace of Europe is the stake, and Turkey keeps game.
