It is the general disposition in Congress to regard the trip to Europe upon which Senator Wolcott, ex-Vice President Stevenson, and General Pame will start this week, with credentials authorizing them to negotiate with European Governments in behalf of international bimetallism, as nothing more than a pleasant summer junket for those three gentlemen. WEDDED UP A TREE.

Quarrel Settled by a Bull and Nuptial Knot Tied by a Preacher.

Miss Lizzie Swanger and Harry Bangler, her accepted suitor, quarreled at a party held recently at a neighbor's house near Montrose, Pa. Shortly before midnight they started for their homes. They were accompanied by the Rev. G. W. Hunter. The party had occasion to pass through a field, where they were pursued by a bull. All three took to the trees. Miss Swanger climbed one tree and Bangler and the minister the adjoining tree. The infuriated bull ran around and around the trees, bellowing and throwing the earth in the air. The party remained in the trees nearly an hour, and no relief came. The bull still stood guard. Thinking this an excellent time to reconcile the couple, the minister began.

His work was done, however, al-most before he had begun. The couple agreed to be married then and there, thinking they were about to meet a tragic death. Bangler had a license in his pocket for several weeks. The lovers could just join hands from where they clung, but got a grip and held it while Mr. Hunter performed the ceremony.

When the good man had concluded, Farmer Stone and his two boys drove up with a load of ice. An explanation was hastily made, the steer was driven away, the preacher kissed the bride was driven to the residence of Mr.
