Mr. John R. Townsend, the retiring member of the Bloom School Board, entertained the members of the board and his bondsmen as treasurer, L. N. and W. S. Moyer, at a course dinner at Blue & Heddens' last Friday evening. The dinner was elegantly served.

On Friday last George, little son of A. H. Bloom, met with a distressing accident which may result in the loss of sight of one of his eyes. A piece of brass wire bent in circular form was lying on the bureau, and he picked it up, and a moment later his father, who was in the room, heard another source $2.50 making the him scream, and turning to him found neat sum of $55.81. one end of the wire penetrating the child's eye. He had pulled the wire out straight and one end slipped from his fingers, and as it snapped together the end struck his eye. A REMARKABLE MAN PASSES AWAY

On October 7th, 1856, this was destroyed by fire, but he rebuilt it the following year and continued to manufacture paper until 1883, when he was attracted by the climate and opportunities for investment to remove to Florida. Since then, though retaining valuable interests at Bloomsburg, he had made Leesburg his home and in the meantime induced his son and family to come here to reside.

During his sojourn here he acquired a large amount of valuable property, including orange groves, town lots and residences. He had an abiding faith in the future of this section, which not even the great freezes of 1894-5 served to shake.

He was one of the most industrious, energetic, persevering men we ever saw, battling to the last with wondertul persistence against the increasing infirmities of age. Physical feebleness, the result of accumulated years, did not dim the keenness of his mind nor balk his determination in the accomplishment of an object.

An attack of paralysis about a year ago finally quenched bis remarkable physical energy, but not his indomitable spirit. Since then he steadily declined and recently his many friends here have been in daily expectancy of hearing the sad news of his final de parture to the shadowy realms of the throat? Do you cough a great deal, especially when lying down? Are you hoarse at times? Does nearly every cold you take settle in your throat? These "throat coughs" are very deceptive. Don't neglect them. Troches, or cough syrups won't touch the spot. You must take remedies that will enrich the blood, tone up the nerves; and heal the inflamed membranes.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of
