THE COLUMBIAN,

Bloomsburg, Pa-THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1897.

Let everything be done decently and in order. The Democratic party is the party of law and order. It believes in upholding the constitution and the laws, and for nearly a quarter of a century it has denounced the opposition for its failure and refusal to enact laws as commanded by the constitution of 1874. Such being the case we ought to be consistent, and follow the rules as laid down for the government of our party in local affairs to the strictest letter. So soon as we break away from the orderly and regular way of doing things, we establish a precedent that is sure to give trouble in the future.

The rule of the Democratic party of this county which was unquestionably in force up to the close of the recent county convention, concerning the election of delegates to the state convention, provides that the delegates shall be elected by the county convention, except when the state convention meets before the county convention, and in the latter case they shall be elected by the standing committee. It was clearly the duty of the late convention to elect delegates to ate armed intervention by our government the state convention held on Tuesday | imperative, last, at Reading. But the county committee at a meeting held last June, selected the delegates, without any authority under the rules. There is no objection to the gentlemen so named, and the same ones would probably have been selected by the convention had it acted in the matter, but this irregular and unauthorized proceeding might have resulted in the throwing out of the representatives charities and other objects of wise publi contest. The way to avoid any possibility of trouble is to follow the regular and orderly manner prescribed by the convention in the matter of a and demand an investigation of the books year that the state delegates were the same thing might prove a serious mistake at some future time, and therefore we call attention to it, and urge the party for its own preservation, not to depart from its own adopted rules, but to do everything decently and in order.

THE BLOOMSBURG VOTE.

Communicated.

Bloomsburg cast a little over 400 votes at the late delegate election, and was reported in the returns as giving 183 votes for and 83 votes against a preference for nominations by the highest vote in place of nominations by delegates. But to conclude from these figures that the town was in favor of abolishing delegate elections and substituting the Crawford Co., plan of nominations by the plurality vote, would be a great mistake. For not only were most if not all of the 136 voters of the town who did not vote upon the subject of preference, opposed to such a change of system but delegates were openly and fairly elected as enemies of change in every election district of the town. In the first and second districts a choice of such delegates was without opposition, and in the third and fourth by warm contests. For instance in the third district three delegates were carried by an average majority of about twenty in a total vote of 116 tees are advised and directed to further by no less than 56 voters not voting at all on the preference ticket. The vote on that ticket in that district stood 48 to 12. In short the issue in Bloomsburg between the old and the new plan of voting was upon the election of delegates, and not upon the preference vote which was haphazard, uncertain an l indeterminate. Besides most of those who voted on that ticket in favor of change were fairly beaten on the test issue of choos ing delegates. Certainly no one understood the preference ticket to relate to the whole body of new rules, or to be binding upon the delegates chosen, like instructions for candidates under the party rules.

Judge E. N. Willard of Scranton, a justice of the Superior court, has resigned, taking effect on Wednesday. year from next November.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The Democratic State Convention met in Reading on Tuesday, and nominated Walter E. Ritter of Lycoming for Auditor General, and M. position of member of the National man. and R. W. Irwin, of Washington, permanent chairman. Both made ringing speeches.

THE PLATFORM.

Following is the full text of the platform: We, the Democracy of Pennsylvania, in convention assembled, heartily reaffirm and reiterate the principles of the Democratic party as expressed in the platform adopted by the national convention at Chicago in 1896 and approved by 6,500,000 free and independent voters. We are firmly and un-alterably opposed to the single gold stand-ard, which has been the direct cause of the financial distress that has followed upon our people since its adoption, and we are in fa-vor of a complete and immediate return to our original specie basis as it existed prior the demonetization act of 1873.

We congratulate William J. Bryan, th glorious champion of a righteous cause, for his masterly leadership in support of these principles.

We denounce the Dingley tariff law as measure designed and passed in answer to the demands of trusts and monopolies, every important feature of which is a refuge for the protection of some trust or combination existing in opposition to the public good and in violation of the common law. The schedule is in brief an assessment upon the individual citizens of the country for the benefit of trusts in return for money advanced to carry the recent election and add enormously to the burdens of labor by increasing the costs of the necessaries of life without en-hancing in the least respect wages of labor.

We abhor the character of the warfare waged by the government of Spain against the inhabitants of the hapless Island of Cuba, in which the humane methods of civilized warfare have to savage atrocities committee upon unarmed civilians and defenseless women and children. The ruthless nature of the conflict waged, as well as the danger to our own peace, inevitably resulting from the further continuance of such a system of an archy so near our borders, renders immedi-

We ask the honest people of this common-wealth to examine the legislative and other records of Republican action in Pennsylvania since the assumption of un limited power conferred at the last election, the gross extravagance, the flagrant corruption, the total neglect of every public interest, the abject servility to monopolies and every form and species of jobbery, the utter disregard of constitutional mandates, the reckless tamperu g with finance and taxation, the exhaustion of the treasury by profligate expenditures, the consequent suffering of public schools from this county if there had been any care, together with the scandalous fury of the factions enraged over the spoils of the protrate commonwealth and of its several ring ruled cities.

change of rules, we should not now statement of the state treasurer, a full statement of the receipts and expenditures, find ourselves confronted with a ser- a complete explanation of the deposits of the ious question as to whether or not the new rules were adopted. It happens not to have made any difference this tributions made in consideration of such de chosen by an unauthorized body, but posits to the campaign fund of the party in power.

The late shameful exposure of the unlaw-ful practice of the State Treasurer of paying out the funds of the people to state officer and private individuals, without warrant, for the sole purpose of favoring political friends discloses one of the many infamous schemes of the dominant party and has our severest condemnation.

We desire that the taxpayers inquire o themselves whether such a party, self ac-cused, self-convicted, everywhere derelict, There is a go false and corrupt, can be safely re-entrusted with the power thus abused until it has undergone purgation and reformation from top to bottom, and all its boss rings and machines have been cut out.

We sympathize with the miners of the commonwealth in their unequal struggle to obtain a fair compensation for their daily toil and declare that the ancient and Anglo-Saxor right of trial by jury ought to be preserved and we deplore the tendency of certain fed eral and state courts to detract from this right by an unwarranted extension and abuse of the remedy of injunction in differences between capital and labor.

We hereby ratify the selection by the Dem ocratic state central committee of James M. Guffey, of Pittsburg, who so loyally supported Hon, William J. Bryan for the presidency, to fill the position of national committeeman from Pennsylvania on the National Demo-cratic Committee. We desire here to record our appreciation of the efficient performance ef his duties by our state chairman, John M. Garman. His fidelity to his party and its principles, his frequent, forceful and fearless expression on the platform of his political views have infused the party with new vigor and warmed it to higher resolves.

In accordance with the recommendation of the National Democratic Committee, the Democratic State, County and City Commitevery means in their power the organization of regular Democratic societies in every district, and the union of such societies in the Democratic Society of Pennsylvania and the National Association of Democratic clubs,

THAT NEW LAW.

The act provides that the judges have the power to transfer, extend or renew a lease for the same from one place to another within the next precinct, ward or borough, as the Court may determine. Any transfer may be made at the regular term of court or in chambers during vacation. Produced by Exceptional Causes.

The prophet who predicts that the present rise in the price of wheat is going to be a permanent condition shows that he has not learned E. Brown of Blair, for Treasurer. anything from past experience. Such Wm. F. Harrity was ousted from the a situation as that which causes a great demand for our grain, and con-Committee by a vote of 290 to 134, sequently high prices, comes but perand James M. Guffey was recommend-ed for the place. Congressman Er-mentrout was made temporary chair-regular. They must necessarily be uncertain, as they depend upon the contingences of failure of foreign harvests and favorable crops in this country.

The New York Evening Post, in remarking that the exceptional advantages of the present great demand for our wheat cannot be continuous, says: "The high markets of 1879 set all the world to raising wheat and building railways to carry it to market; in 1882 the world's harvest was 200,-000,000 bushels larger than the heaviest crop ever produced before the shortage of 1879. The series of short crops in 1889, in 1890 and in 1891 had exactly similar results, and by 1894 all the markets were discontentedly talking "overproduction." There is no reason to suppose that the next three or four years will tell any different story."

An occasional profitable crop of wheat, with conditions that send the price up in the neighborhood of a dollar, does not disprove the fact that the value of agricultural products have steadily fallen since the demonetization of silver. There may be a spurt now and then, produced by some particular cause, as at the present time, but after it is over a falling back to low prices can be surely looked for.

The Republicans are making all the political capital possible out of the wheat crop. The improvement in business which it may cause will be credited to the Dingley tariff, but this claim will be as absurd as the assumption than an occasional rise in the price of wheat from exceptional causes proves that agricultural values have not been depreciated by the demonetization of silver.-Ex.

The Geology of the Klondyke.

Under eternal snow and ice the geological formations of northern and western Alaska lie hidden, and the scientists who have visited that wonderland have given us little definite information concerning the nature of the strata. It is true that most of the rocks expose! near the gold diggings and in the famous Chilkoot pass are of igneous origin, being composed of impure granite or syenite, and the moraines of living glaciers are made up of the same kind of materials. which might be taken as an indication that the bed rock of Alaska is all granite.

snow that the formations are varied and that the territory is not devoid of rocks of a more recent geological age. Away up along the western coast great cliffs of carboniferous limestone have been discovered, and at the same place there are fossil glaciers supposed to be the remains of the great glacier of prohistoric time, which came down as far south

There is a good field for the geologist in Alaska at present, and he is needed there to point out the trend of the strata, tell the world the nature of the formations and explain whether the placer gold of the Yukon originated from the grinding up of the indigenous rocks, or was scooped up out of the Arctic ocean by the great glaciers of some prehistoric age.

An exchange says better times are surely coming, "as drunks are becoming more plentiful," which is good evidence of the fact.
