FAULT-FINDERS.

To fall into a habit of fault-finding is one of the easiest things in the world.

In no place are there so many opportunities for indulging in this sort of thing as in the home.

It is a disagreeable thing to find fault, yet there are some who seem to ike to do it simply for the sake of finding fault.

These people do not mean to be chronic fault-finders, and it never occurs to them that they are.

They would not for the world be thought disagreeable, and but for this one traft would be generally very pleasant companions.

They did not acquire this habit at once; any of their friends will tell you that there was a time when they were not so.

They began by noticing very little failing, or supposed failing, among their acquaintances, and the habit grew with them until it appeared as part of their nature to notice and condemn every little fault, supposed or real.

They are very far from being perfect themselves; in fact, they think so much about the imperfections of others that they have very little time to attend to their own.

They would be grieved and hurt should their friends retaliate by noticing every little eccentricity of theirs, and perhaps had their friends the courage to do so it might open their eyes to the unpleasantness of faultfinding.

Everybody has faulte of some kind, and most people fully realize how great or small they may be, but nobody cares to be reminded of them every little while. The fault-finders who make a practice of this will soon find themselves with very few friends.

Army Life.

" Army lite is informal to a degree," said Mrs. Custer, during a recent interview. " The custom of Thirty millions of wooden spoons using cards when calling is only of are manufactured in Russia every very recent date among officers' wives. When I lived in garrison, we should never have dreamed of such a thing. It is only at a few of the larger posts, near the cities, where there is anything like the formality of civic life. The people in a garrison are like one great family. Nothing that deeply concerns any member is a matter of indifference to the others, and the spirit of good fellowship is universal. the great beads of perspiration streaming down the Mexican's face.

'Can I provide an ice water bath myself?" inquired the Doctor, as he proceeded to mop his face with a fresh handkerchief.

"Certainly."

The Mexican called three bell boys at once and in short order a huge chunk of ice was affoat in a bathtub full of cold water. Fernandez remained in the bath until the chunk of :ce Was melted

"Well, did you enjoy your bath?" said Green, when Fernandez appeared at the counter looking as cool as a cucumber.

"It was good for a while, but the ice melted and then the water got so hot I had to come out," replied Dr. Fernandez.-St. Louis Republic.

Without a Light.

A small-boy cyclist was riding without a light and was stopped by a park officer, who asked him in gruff tones where his light was.

"Why, it's here, ' exclaimed the rider in surprise.

"Yes, but it's out," solemnly asserted the patrolman.

"Well it was lighted at that last turn."

'Sonny, it's cold; couldn't have been lighted this evening," triumphantly announced the officer.

"Huh! That thin metal cools in a minute. I'll light that lamp and wait until it gets red hot, put it out, then ride to the next corner and back, and when I return it'll be cold." "All right, try it," assented the acute policeman.

The boy lighted the lantern, waited until it grew red hot, turned it out, and started, and that kid is going yet. -Philadelphia Press.

A Matter of Colors.

"Eister Millie wants to know if you won't let us take your big awning? She's going to give a porch party to morrow night and wants to have it on the plazza."

In a Very Bad Condition.

"My blood was in a very bad condition, and I was so tired all the time that I was hardly able to go up or down stairs. I was also troubled with sores and pumples on my face. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I did so. The eruptions have now disappeared and the tired feeling has left me." MISS REKA CARLSON, 136 N. 12th St., Philadelphia.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly.

Superstition in Religion.

Evangelist B. Fay Mills Says It All Must Go.

Rev. B. Fay Mills, the evangelist, created a sensation at Saratoga, N. Y. on Thursday, in a speech he delivered before the Unitarian Conference on the "Mission to the United States." "The whole system of dogmatism and priestcraft, Protestant and Catholic, is to go. The multitude care no more for liberal platforms than for orthodox platforms. They are weary of book religion and theories Orthodoxy has failed only as liberal religion has failed. Each has failed to be religious. The world has more use for the Salvation Army than for a Brahmic cult. " Society is becoming conscious of itself. Whoever makes a religion out of democracy will move the world. The Almighty Father gives us His love, and asks at our hands the destruction of the last superstition, the abolition of every ancient and modern wrong, the establishment of justice of love ; the loosing of the bands of wickedness to let the oppressed go free and break every yoke. Pure, rich blood feeds the nerves.

That is why Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, cures nervousness.
