The affair which occurred last Tuesday in the Lone Dog saloon has been much exaggerated by special correspondents who infest this region and seem to delight in misrepresentation of its leading citizens. It is to be 'e-greated, of course, that Colonel Brown was obliged to shoot one of the ears off from Major Johnson, but, on the other hand, it must be conceded that the maare not worth their sait. Such invidjous expressions are to be deplored, as tending not only to the exchange of hostilities, but also in view of their influence upon foreign capital seeking investment in our midst, and timid, is capital always is. Major Johnson s ear may not have been lost in vain should the incident impress upon the thoughtless and jobosely inclined the advantages of a discreet tongue.

Incidents illustrating the richness of the Klondike region continue to come to our notice. At One-eye diggings, three miles north of here, a stranger who came here on a prospecting tour from New York city stopped for dinner at Jim Bludsoe's palatial restaurant and wet-goods dispensary. He remarked, while earing, upon the somewhat gritty character of the potatoes. Upon concluding his repast it was noticed that his teeth were filled with gold. We learn also that a well-to-do farmer from Ohio, who struck the Klondike region last week with each to exchange for a promising investment, concluded ner tiations with two of our prominent "fixens and left town the same even' g the proud pos-sessor of several har a ome gold bricks. Here's a Fish Story.

It Indicates That the Prize Liar Has Taken Up Residence in Greensburg.

In the vicinity of Livermore and in the Conemaugh river there has been known to exist a great fish. Many people have seen the monster, and its size has been estimated at various lengths and weights. The drouth settled the dispute. The great Conemaugh, with its tons of bass and pike and the grant fish, began to dry up ten days ago, and within that time thousands of people gathered along the banks in hope of detecting the big fish. The lucky lot fell to a little fellow named Davis, who, it is said, has not slept for a week because he wanted that fish, and he captured it, too. It was a pike weighing thirty-five pounds and was five feet two inches long.
