An American protectorate over the Philippines may be one of the consequences of the war; but since the burden of the task would be ours we should prefer to decide so momentous a matter without regard for the buzzings of the Filipinos.

The Wheat Fly.

William Dennis, the tonsorial ar-tist, has moved his shaving parlor from State Economic Zoologist H. T. Fernald, speaking of the fly in wheat, which has proven so injurious to the crops of this state, says : "I am at last able to give the result of my study of the insects injuring the wheat. The injury was caused by the joint worm, ed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. a very small fly, which occasionally is very injurious and very hard to conon its Sea Shore Excursions, makes the trip a very delightful one. The next and last excursion goes Thurstiol; in fact, about the only thing to do is to cut the wheat high and burn the stubble, and also to use the straw before spring, as the insect passes the winter in the straw. Its destruction by burning the stubble and using up the straw during the winter will reon Monday last by principals Buck and Whitmore to a book-keeping po-sition with Prendergast, Lackey & move most of the insects, which would otherwise produce another generation the next year."

A JOKE ON THE TEAMSTER.

He Roughly Ordered General She Brush His Mules.

hostler do it?" "Why, I thought every man had to take care of his own team," said the bewildered teamster. "You bet he doesn't. We've got a hostler for that. There's his tent right over there. He's a lazy, contrary old cuss, and he may not want to do it, but you swear at him and he'll move off at donbla quick "

you swear at him and he'll move off at double quick." The Missourian strode over to the tent indicated, which happened to be General Sherman's headquarters. "Here, you son of a gun," he roared flercely, "get out of here and brush those mules."

those mules." Needless to say, the teamster spent the evening in the guardhouse. A pious old Indiana-farmer was as-signed to the duty of teaming, probably by mistake. The roads were muddy, and the rest of the teamsters were litand the rest of the transforms were int-erally bombarding their charges with oaths. It was against the old man's principles to swear, and he held his peace, albeit in imposent rage. At last one of the hind mules balked and re-fund to advance a ten. The old more one of the hind mules balked and re-fused to advance a step. The old man used every endeavor to urge the beast along, but to no purpose. At last he roared in a loud and solemn voice: "Ch, Lord, you know where this mule ought to be as well as anybody. This whole army knows where he ought to be this minute. He knows where he ought to be. I know where he ought to be, oh, Lord, and if he doesn't move in a minute i intend it os av so. by cmm." a minute I intend to say so, by gum. ---Chicago Inter-Ocean.

GLADSTONE AS A CHEMIST.

An Incident In the Grand Old Man's Ca-reer In the Commons. An Incident in the Grand Old Mas's Ca-reer In the Commons. If Mr. Gladstone seldom indulged in sarcasm, it was not because he lacked the gift—for he possessed it in a high degree—but because he forbore to use it. To hurt an opponent's feelings gave him pain and when he did it uninten-tionally he would sometimes cross the floor of the house, and, sitting for a few moments by the side of the man whom he had just demolished, say something to assuage the wound. One of his most persistent, but never ill natured, critics was the late Sir John Pope Hennesy, who told me the following story to il-lustrate this generous trait in Mr. Glad-stone's character. Sir John prided himself on his knowl-edge of chemistry, and in one of the debates on the commercial treaty with France he made a speech exposing, as debates on the commercial treaty with France he made a speech exposing, as he believed, a serious chemical blunder in the treaty. Mr. Gladstone followed, "and soon turned me inside out in the most anusing manner," said Hennessy in relating the story, "proving, as if he had been a chemist by profession, that it was I who had blundered egregious-by."

Having thus disposed of his critic, Mr. Gladstone went and sat by him for a moment. "I hope you don't feel hurt, Mr. Hennessy." he said. "Your speech Mr. Hennessy, ' he said., ' Your speech was ingenious, and it may console you to know that the emperor of the French made precisely the same objection that you have made. The fact is, both you and he know a good deal about chem-istry, but not enough to keep you from going astray.' — Canon McColl in Fort-nichtly Review. nightly Review.
