The had invited the members to meet him for a conference at the White House on Saturday next with a view to beginning work next week. Seven of the nine members have defi-nitely accepted, and the president ex-vressed himself yesterday as being con-ident of being able to secure the other two necessary to complete the quota by the ime set for the conference. The names of the new men who have been invited to serve were not given out. Secretary Gage and Attorney General Griggs were the only members of the cabinet a yesterday's meeting. The president suggested the newssity of giving early attention to annual de-partment reports, saying that he de-sired to begin work on his message to Congress as soon as practicable. He talked with Secretary Gage at some length as to the lines of his report, but no information was given out concern-ing it.

ARMY QUARTERMASTERS.

Complaint That They Have Been Unjust

ly Blimed. Washington, Sept. 21.—The army quartermasters feel keenly the criti-cism directed against their corps and they are prepared to furnish some sen-sational evidence which transfers the responsibility and blame for many de-fects of the quartermaster's department to another branch. They go further, and insist that Sec-retary Alger, Adjutant General Corbin and the departmental officers are at fault.

It is explained that orders to troops It is explained that orders to troops, transferring them from point to point, were issued in the early days of the war without due notice to quartermas-ters, who were concerned with cloth-ing, supplies and transportation, or to subsistence officers, who had to do with provisions.

The result was that troops went to one camp, and their clothing and equi-page and subsistence to another. The involved system of army admin-istration-the mass of "paper work"--which had been grown up in the long period of peace when officers had plen-ty of time for this business, proved overwhelming. A regiment assigned to Chickamauga one day was ordered to Tampa the next; the first order would be furnish-ed the quartermaster and subsistence officers, who would be forgotten for several days, when it came to the sup-plemental order.

curred Monday night, about ten o'clock when a car was stoned, and two pollce-men, while taking two strikers to the police station, were assailed by many missiles. Several windows were broken in the police station. A squad of reserve officers was sent out and dispersed a mob of about two hundred men and boys, which, howev-er, reassembled. Then the police made a second rush, used their clubs freely and put the crowd to flight. After this all cars that ran were un-der police protection.

DEATH OF MISS DAVIS.

The Daughter of the Confederacy Passe Away After Long Illness

Away After Long Illness Narragansett Pier, R. I., Sept. 20,---Miss Virginia Anne Davis, generally known as "Winnie" Davis, the second daughter of Jefferson Davis, who was born in Richmond, 'Va., or June 27, 1884. died Sunday at the Roo-kingham hetel, Narragansett Pier, R. L., where she had been lying 'ill for several weeks. The body of Miss Davis has been em-balmed, but no preparations will be made for the funeral until the arrival of Mrs. Hayes, the married sister of Miss Davis, who is now on her way from Colorado and who will reach Nar-ragansett Pier to-morrow afternoon. Only a Few Regulars Likely to Be Kept There.

There. Washington, Sept. 20.—All or nearly all of the military force in Santingo may be withdrawn. The Sensitive Person.

There is no class of people that is to uncomfortable to live with as the thin-skinned individuals who have what are called "feelings." and whose hyper-sensitive natures are continually on the bookout for grievances or fan-ried neglect or unkindness on the part of Mrs. Hayes, the maried sister of Miss Davis, who is snow on her way from Colorado and who will reach Nar ragansett Pler to-morrow afternoon. The illness which resulted in the un-timely death of the "Daughter of the Confederate," as Miss Davis was fond. Uy called throughout the South, was contracted last July at the reunion of the Confederate eterans in Atlanta, Ga. During the parade which followed, Miss Davis occupied a carriage with Mrs. "Stonewall" Jackson and Miss Clare Lewis Gordon. The day had been an intensely hot one. A storm came up and rain began to fall in torrents. Miss Davis was drenched and at the place, but was compelled to stop in New York to rest for a day, the illness having gained so rapidly upon her. Although it had been hoped that the refreshing breeze of Narragansett Pler nother's devotion, the best medical skill and the most careful nursing, it soon became apparent that nothing could stay the hand of death. To Rest in Richmond, Va communing, brooding over trutes du-til they assume exaggrated propor-tions. The fact of the matter is that in this workaday, practical world the less one thinks about one's self and one's feelings the better, and the best chance of happiness lies in forgetting our own ind.viduality altogether and lying for others.

A Touching Benediction. The arrival of Pundita Ramabal in The arrival of Punnich Hambar in this country about the time of Miss Willard's death recalls an incident that occurred when the Pundita was here some ten years ago, as told in a peri-odical of that time by Elizabeth Por-sons ever given to the public eye. After paying a tribute to the heroic, far-seeing labors of the two women before him, Pundita Ramabal, repre-senting the women of India, and Francis E. Willard the women of America, he added that the sight on America, he added that the sight on the same platform of a "daughter of the Ganges" working hand in hand with "a daughter of the Mississippi" for the uplifting of women the world over was what many a soul had long-ed to see, but had died without the sight. As he finished speaking he paused a moment and then requested that the two women step forward, one on each side of the desk, and clasp hands over the Bible. This being done he stepped a little behind, between the two, and, slowly lifting the Bible, he he stepped a little behind, between the two, and, slowly liftling the Bible, he said with great reverence. "Rise wom-an, by the heights of Christianity, to universal civilization." The effect was theriling and profound; a Bigh caste Hindu woman, draped in the widow's white robes, and a free borfi. great souled American woman, in the con-ventional black, receiving the strong and tender benediction of a manly Christian chivairy. It was a scene to linger in the memory of that vast au-dience.-Woman's Journal.

Discard the Pillow

The dear, soft, cosy pillow, whose soothing influence you miss, even when sound asleep, if it slips away from you, ought to be permanently put away. It presses and pushes and insinuates itself, like the bewitching but evil de-signing thing that it is, into all the cracks and cranniss of one's wake, un cracks and crannies of one's make-up While it seems to breathe out beauti-ful dreams, it is really beguining your attention while it pushes your ears out of place. It is making wrinkles in your neck and deepening the hollows over the chest by forcing the head for-ward and the chest in. The same thing happening every night will eventually rob all the beauty the neck may have, and nullify the good of the exercise. So one must either sacrifice one's neck or the pillow. It is true that the first time you try doing without it you feel as if you were at an inquisition and taking an active part in the pro-While it seems to breathe out beautiand taking an active part in the pro-ceedings. In commenting on the question as to whether or not talls at high speed are harmless, the L. A. W.
