William Milnes Jr., of Scranton,

spent last week in town visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs, W. B. Milnes. T. W. Hartman, who recently met with a severe accident by falling from a ladder, has practically recovered from his initiation from his injuries.

Miss Anna McKamey is home from a visit to Kingston and other places.

Fowler & Waples have established a grocery store in the store room re-cently vacated by S. K. Worman. Mrs. J. W. Milnes is visiting at Scranton. A. H. Best, for several years bar-tender at the Espy hotel, has resigned his position and has left for the west. Miss Dawson of Bloomsburg, was the guest of Miss Belle Ruckle over Sunday. S. K. Worman is building a new bicycle and general repair shop oppo-site the hotel. Samuel is a skilled workman, and deserves liberal patronage.

Lemuel Kressler of Bloomsburg was in Espy Sunday night. Wonder howscum.

"Mrs. Russeil's Sister" is a young, well-to-do, and attractive widow, who takes a small house in a back street with a view to benefiting Reception Committee-W. L. Houck her humbler neighbors: but her phil-anthropic efforts are apt to require masculine assistance, and all her for-titute cannot keep her lovers at a distance "Lincoln of Coyote," by James T. McRay, is a plain Western tale of a weak and alcoholic husband, a wife whose patience is worn out, a dubious triend, and a faithful one who does what he can to mitigate the tragedy and acts as a sort of presiding genius. "Nobody's Fool," as described by L. S. Bernard, was an unpretentious person who knew how to turn the tables on a worthless wife. Charlotte Adams, in "Six Weeks on the Stage," gives an account of a brief and unprofitable theatrical experience. Kate Mason Rowland sketches "Philadelphia a Century Ago," chiefly through letters of Mrs. Stoddert, wife of our first Secretary of the Navy, when the city of Penn was the national capital.

"Babylon the Great" is reconstructed from its ruins by Austin Bierbower who makes that mighty city of the re-mote past live again before us. Some account of "Verona" is by the late Bishop William Stevens Perry of Iowa. "Table Sundries" (nuts, eggs, ies, etc.) are described by Calvin

Dill Wilson. "Rudolf's Decision," in Anthony Hope's last romance, is discussed by Frederic M. Bird, who aims to show that the case was clear, not open, as some have supposed. Alfred Balch takes ground for "Signature in Newspapers,—i. e., that reporters and others should bear the reponsibility and get credit for what

The Wilkesbarre Record gives the following account of the game of foot ball between the Normal School and Normal Auditorium, beginning Mon-day, November 28th at 2 p. m, and Wyoming Seminary at the latter ending Friday, December 2nd at noon. Superintendent J. K. Miller has prepared an excellent program, and has secured the services of a assembled on Wyoming field on Sat-urday to witness an excellent game of number of prominent instructors. The officers of the institute are as follows : foot ball with Bloomsburg. The score was 6 to \circ in favor of Bloomsburg.

Nobody seems to be able to ac-count for the Seminary's fainter to score. Twice they had the ball on Bloomsburg's goal line and once with-na few feet of it and nearly all the in a lew leef of it and nearly all the time within ten or fifteen yards. Only four minutes during the entire game was the ball in Wyoming's territory, but those four minutes meant a touch-down for Bloomsburg. Both teams played a straight, manly game. The students speak in the birdnest terms of the visitors and the highest terms of the visitors, and the home team says that Bloomsburg left nothing to be desired in the way of conduct, and is confident that a friend-ly relation of the two rivals is now es-

The same teams will meet again today on Normal Field.

Harvard defeated Yale on Saturday Harvard defeated Yale on Saturday at foct ball by the score of 17 to o. This victory makes Harvard cham-pion this year, the team having met and defeated all comers during the whole season. Of course whether the victory over Pennsylvania was earned by a matter of conjecture and mean Victory over Pennsylvania was earned is a matter of conjecture, and many people believe the latter team to be the better. If we are to judge the two team's strength by the scores made, in all their games, why then Pennsy is by far superior. It will be remembered that in the game against the Carlisla Indians. Barrow see use the Carlisle Indians, Pennsy ran up a tremendous big score while when Harvard tackled the red skins, it was anybody's game.
