

WASHINGTON.

From our Regular Correspondent. Washington, May 15, 1899.

An extra session of Congress will be called early in the fall, if public opinion does not object sufficiently to frighten Mr. McKinley out of issuing the call. That is the only reason it has not been officially announced.

Ex-Senator Quay is using the Speakership contest to make votes for his admission to the Senate on the appointment of the Gov. of Pennsylvania.

Senator Stewart was asked whether he favored an extra session of Congress in September. "No, certainly not," he replied "nothing would be gained by it that would be useful."

Great efforts are being made to have the Navy Department join in trying to persuade Admiral Dewey to come home by way of San Francisco, instead of New York.

Representative Payne, of N. Y., seems likely to fare badly in the Speakership fight. Senator Platt has promised to force him to withdraw as a candidate for Speaker.

The Robert E. Lee Monument Association was organized in Washington this week for the purpose of erecting an equestrian statue of Gen. Lee upon a site overlooking Arlington.

It seems that one of the ways in which our new possessions are to be Americanized is to allow them to be overflooded by Chinese coolies.

The gall of the beef contractors is second only to that of Secretary Alger. It might have been supposed that they would have been more than satisfied to be exonerated from all blame for the bad beef.

ABOUT CATARRH.—It is caused by a cold or succession of colds, combined with impure blood. Its symptoms are pain in the head, discharge from the nose, ringing noises in the ears.

Boy Kidnapped.

About a week ago a neatly dressed couple alighted from a railroad train at Tamaqua and registered at one of the hotels as Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jenkyn.

Four men were killed outright and three others were so badly injured that their recovery is doubtful, by the cave-in of a culm bank at Centralia Friday afternoon.

SEVEN BURIED ALIVE.

Laborers Caught Under Avalanche of Culm at Centralia—Four Killed Outright.

Four men were killed outright and three others were so badly injured that their recovery is doubtful, by the cave-in of a culm bank at Centralia Friday afternoon.

The injured are: George Ferdokor, aged 30, single, leg broken and internal injuries; John Conins, aged 35, married, leg broken and knee-cap dislocated.

Several other workmen narrowly escaped. The men were engaged in loading cars with culm taken from a bank forty feet high.

When the fall occurred they were hurled against the sides of the three cars standing on the track.

The force was so great that the cars were overturned and the men were buried.

The work to rescue them at once began. Hundreds of men with shovels ran from the village to the scene.

The injured men were the first to be reached. The crushed and twisted bodies of the more unfortunate men were found about five feet from the track.

Evidently they had met with instant death. The banks were surrounded by a mass who feared for friends or relatives.

The crying of the distressed was pitiful in the extreme, and could be heard half a mile away.

A church in London still possesses an income originally given to it for the purpose of buying faggots for burning heretics.

SEVEN LADIES STOLE.

They All Belonged to One Family Arrested in Paris for Kleptomaniacs.

A detective on duty at the Louvre had his attention called by one of the assistants to the extraordinary attitude of seven ladies who wandered about from one counter to another without buying anything.

On being searched they were found to have secreted small objects of value under their dresses, and were immediately marched off to the police commissary.

The old lady's husband and the husbands of her three daughters were immediately sent for (the youngest ladies of this interesting family are still unmarried), and declared themselves totally ignorant of the acts of their wives.

The commissaire, taking the social position of the "kleptomaniacs" into consideration, has allowed them their liberty upon heavy bail.

A SOLDIER WHEN DYING.

How a United States Regular Saluted His Officer—His Last Act Before Death.

"Ever since the war," said an officer, "my memory has been developing details that were crowded for the time to the rear by my interest in the greater drama.

"There is one episode that in particular typifies the American soldier. I like to think so, at any rate. He was a private of regulars. When I first saw him he was already a dead man.

"Just as he fell—even, as it seemed, in the very act of falling—he looked up and saw me. A very faint sign of recognition came into his eyes, and then he straightened with a jerk and saluted me as stolidly as though he was on parade.

"There was nothing in the act of conscious dramatic effort. This well-drilled, well-disciplined, well-balanced private soldier of the United States army was merely saluting me, his superior officer, and the thing that stood for his flag.

"I never knew his name, or his record, or his regiment, and I didn't want to know. I knew that he was a soldier, and it has been the means of constant inspiration to know that we have that kind to work with."

A NATURAL QUESTION.

That Arises with This, Do These Stubborn Welsh Walk Spanish?

A very long time ago the British government ordered that English should be taught in Welsh schools. As a result, in 1895, a colony of persecuted Welsh miners fled from the British tyranny and settled in the deserts of Patagonia.

Through long years of want and famine they never despaired. They have turned the desert into a beautiful fertile country, have become rich, number 3,000 people, have extended their string of settlements right across South America.

They left Wales to escape the tyranny of the English language, and now, rather than talk Welsh, they converse largely of their freedom in excellent Spanish.

THEY SET GUARDS.

Many Animals Post Sentinels to Watch While They Work and Play.

It is well known that many animals appoint one or more of their number to act as sentinels to guard against surprise while the rest are asleep or feeding or at play.

Among the animals—using the word in its widest sense—that are thus prudent may be named the following: Wasps, ants, chamolis and other antelopes, prairie dogs, wild horses, rooks, swans, Austrian cockatoos, zebras, quails, certain monkeys, flamingoes, New Zealand silver eyes, slugs and other birds, marmots, moulton and other sheep, seals, African wild cattle, huannocs, elephants, etc.

Perhaps the best known of these are the prairie dogs, who burrow their homes in the earth in little villages, with regular streets and "everything."

All around these villages, bolt upright, sit wise little dogs to keep a lookout while the others sun themselves at the doors of their burrows or play.

Let a strange animal or a man appear and one of the little sentries at once barks, and in another instant there is a twinkling of heels, and not a prairie dog is to be seen until the danger is past.

KEEP YOUR WITS AT A FIRE.

Advice of a Man Who Has Had Plenty of Experience in Hotels.

"I have been an actor for 23 years," said Thaddeus Shine. "I have crossed the continent nine times. Naturally, I have slept in a good many hotels here and there.

The first time I came near being cremated. It happened because I was bounced out of bed at the first alarm, felt satisfied that I was as good as dead, bounded out of the room and rushed down the hallway.

I didn't know where I was going. Like Kipling's stamped soldier, I didn't stop to see. The consequence was that I ran into the part of the building which was burning, turned to go back, found my escape cut off by smoke, fell insensible in a little while and was dragged out by a fireman who stumbled over me.

"There is but one thing to do when you are sleeping in a strange place and the fire call is sounded. Get out of bed swiftly but quietly, put on your shoes, trousers and coat and pick up your valuables, if you have any.

SIAMESE FOOTBALL.

The Ball is Struck Generally with the Knee and Kept in the Air.

The Siamese youth have only one game worth considering, and that one is indigenous—or native to Burma—the question of parentage being a mooted one, says Harper's Weekly.

"At all events, the game requires a certain amount of activity, and is very interesting to the onlooker. It is a kind of football—in fact, I have heard it called Burmese football—played with a ball about four inches in diameter, made of braided rotan, entirely hollow, very strong and resilient.

The game is to keep the ball tossing into the air without breaking the circle. As a man falls at his opportunity he drops out, and when there remain but four or six, the work is sharp and very pretty.

The ball is struck generally with the knee, but also with the foot, from in front, behind and at the side. Some become remarkably clever. I have seen a player permit the ball to drop directly behind his back, and yet, without turning, return it clear over his head, and straight into the middle of the circle, by a well-placed backward kick of his heel.

A Story of Sterility, SUFFERING AND RELIEF.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 69,186]

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Two years ago I began having such dull, heavy dragging pains in my back, menues were profuse and painful, and was troubled with leucorrhœa. I took patent medicines and consulted a physician, but received no benefit and could not become pregnant.

"I now find myself pregnant and have begun it you see again. I cannot praise it enough."—MRS. CORA GILSON, YATES, MANISTEE, MICH.

"Your Medicine Worked Wonders."

"I had been sick ever since my marriage, seven years ago; have given birth to four children, and had two miscarriages. I had falling of womb, leucorrhœa, pains in back and legs; dyspepsia and a nervous trembling of the stomach. Now I have none of these troubles and can enjoy my life. Your medicine has worked wonders for me."—MRS. S. BARNHART, NEW CASTLE, PA.
