Rejoicing, Not Mourning.

In all cases, Robert Bers' saying that, '" Man was made to mourn ; is Columbia county are not mourning, erintendent.

Mr. Miller has in the past conducted the work in such a way as to prove himself worthy of the office, and the wideawake directors were aware of the fact, and the people in general must have been of the same opinion or there would have been others working to secure the office.

Surely, he has left nothing in his power undone that he thought would in any way lead to the advancement of our public schools.

Mr. Miller certainly takes great care and pains to secure the best instructors and entertainment, that the teachers may be benefitted by the County Institutes, and he is also much interested in the township or local Insti-

If the directors would take as much interest in the school work as the Superintendent does, and provide more and better supplies, our schools would improve more rapidly than they do.

Before the election I heard a director say that if Miller is re-elected nothing but graduates and juniors for teachers this year, as he is a firm friend to the Normal teachers.

And so he should be, if they are deserving of it, but time will prove that others than graduates and juniors will teach, for if a person is qualified to teach J. K. Miller is not going to refuse them a certificate just because they are not Normal students.

It will almost be necessary for him to pass a few others, at least, to teach the $20 and $25 schools, as graduates cannot afford to teach for such wages after spending their money and time to qualify themselves for better teach-

Certainly the directors can aid the Superintendent very much along the line of school work, and now if those who have been in favor of twenty and twenty-five-dollar teachers, just add enough to this amount to enable them to secure experienced and better teachers, better results will be brought forth from the boys and girls, who are to become our future teachers, and the ruling element of our great and glorious land. A TEACHER.

A President's Grave Unmarked-

Two pages of pictures in the June Ladies' Home Journal, giving views of the places "Where our Presidents Are Buried," recall the fact that four of the first five of our Chief Executives sleep in the soil of Old Virginia. The picture shows that the grave of President John Tyler, at Richmond, Virginia, is wood Cemetery are shown a scarcely perceptible mound, over which a magnolia tree spreads its shade in Summer, as the resting place of our tenth President. The burial places of all the others are marked with monuments or tombs, except those of the two Adamses, who are buried under the portico of the First Church at Quincy, Massachusetts.

Jumped From the Brooklyn Bridge.

To test a theory of will power, a man leaped from the Brooklyn not true," for surely the teachers of bridge and escaped without any injury whatever. He was a student but, on the other hand, are rejoicing, of Theosophy, and influenced by since Mr. Miller's re-election as Sup- his teachings, he made a sensational dash from a bridge trolley car over the rail

Howard Kretz, a young man about 22 years of age, who is an art student of the Academy of Design, in New York, made a startling and successful jump from the Sunday evening and came out of the river uninjured.

Just before six o'clock Kretz boarded a trolley car bound for Brooklyn. It was an open one, and offered all the advantages which he was looking for. When the trolley reached a point about one hundred yards from the first arch, near the highest point of the span, Kretz leaped from the car, and, like a flash, vaulted over the high railing. He took no time to steady himself for a perpendicular drop and swung some distance out from the structure before he assumed an upright position.

The passengers jumped from the car in alarm and peered through again Columbia county will have the railing, while hundreds of persons on the promenade tried to get a glimpse of the figure. Kretz's body flashed through the air almost in a perpendicular streak. He struck the water feet first, cleaving it like an arrow. He disappeared for some seconds, and then shot up into view again, only to disappear for the second time. The waters had hardly closed over him when he reappeared and immediately struck out strongly for the New York shore. One of the deck hands on the freight steamer Vulcan, of the Norwalk line, which was coming down the East River at the time, saw Kretz flash through the air and disappear in the water. The deck hand gave the alarm, and the Vulcan was headed for the young man, who was by this time swimming. A line was thrown to Kretz and he was hauled abroad the freighter, which immediately put in for her dock on the East River on the New York

When taken on the Vulcan Kretz placed his hands on his abdomen as if in pain, but when the boat reached her dock Kretz sprang from the boat onto the wharf. He was at once taken into custody and hurried to the Hudson Street Hospital. Not the slightest injury was found on his person, but he was suffering from shock. He was detained on the charge of attempting suicide.

Kretz is about 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs about 140 pounds. He said that he had been reading a Holly Beach, Wildwood, Somers' absolutely unmarked—even by a book on theosophy, and that he wanted to demonstrate that a man by exercising his will power, could do anything he wished without injury to himself.

A case was recently tried in New York State as to the right of a person driving on the public road to pass in safety a vehicle ahead of it. It was decided by the Court that the driver ahead not only must not obstruct the highway by slow driv-ing, or otherwise, but that he must make way, where it is practicable, for the man behind, and that if an accident should result from such interference, he, the obstructor, must pay all damages.

"Every soldier's grave made during our unfortunate civil war is a tribute to American valor.

"And while, when those graves were made, we differed widely about the future of this government, these differences were long ago settled by the arbitrament of arms, and the time has now come, in the evolution of sentiment and feeling, under the providence of God, when, in the spirit of fraternity, we should share with you in the care of the graves of the Con-Brooklyn bridge just before dusk federate soldiers."-President McKinley at Atlanta.
