COURTSHIP IN GERMANY.

If the Gallant Calls Frequently He is Asked to Declare His Intentions.

"When a girl has arrived at what is considered a marriageable age in Germany her parents invite young men to the house," writes Charlotte Bird, of "Girl Life in Germany," in the July Ladies' Home Journal. "Two or three invited at the same time so that the attention may not seem too pointed. But no young man is ever invited to the house until after he has called at least once, and thus signified his wish to have social intercourse with the family. If he calls several times in too close succession it is taken for granted that he has 'intententions,' and he may be questioned concerning them. Generally an engagement is made public as soon as the arrangements can be made. This is done by means of the newspapers and formal announcements on cards. The man supplies a plain gold band ring for each This is worn during the engagement on the ring finger of the left hand. From this time the contracting parties are bride and bridegroom. Among conservative people even the affianced couple is scarcely allowed to be alone, a chaperon being provided whenever the young people go out. A betrothal may last several years, until the bridegroom can become settled in life, but in most cases the marriage soon takes place. Just before the marriage the bands are published in the courch, either on two successive Sundays or, if the time be short, twice on the same day. In the latter case a notice is posted in a pubwish of the couple to marry."

Exterminating Canada Thistle.

Knowing it to be a popular opinion that the extermination of the Canada thistie is practically impossible; and recently noting articles in agricultural and other journals, even giving credence to such opinion, I herewith give you for publication a method by which I have exterminated the Canada thistle, when a farmer in Canada, says a writer in a farm journal. I have by repeated trials in various fields proved it to be an absolute and cer-

It is: The field in which the thistles have become obnoxious is plowed deep in the fall of the year. It is then let stand (keeping all stock from it) until the following June or July, when the thistles are in full bloom or about to bloom, but must not be let ripen. Then plow all thistles and weeds deep under with a chain. I think it would be well to roll down with a land roller though I did not take pains myself. In course of a month or so the land may be harrowed, and then plowed up again and sowed with winter wheat, the great body of thistles and weeds having served the purpose of a valu-

The principle involved in this effective method of destroying the thistle is this, that when it is thus plowed under it has taken the whole strength and vitality from the root to the top, and when cut off deep under the ground will not bloom again. I believe any other obnoxious weed may be destroyed by the same method.

Don't "Mind the Heat."

To avoid heat prostration dress as lightly as you can, eat sparingly, with plenty of fruit in your diet, keep out of the sun as much as possible, don't overwork, and above all don't worry or fret about anything. Though you may not know it, one of the easiest and yet surest ways of keeping cool is to keep a cool and even spirit with you. Vexation, anger discontent or worriment are not to be thought of in such weather if you don't want to "mind the heat."

A New York Physician Advises His Patient to Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 73,936] " DEAR MRS. PINKHAM-I have three children and suffered with falling of the womb and flooding. My physician scraped the womb, still the flooding continued and I was no better. At last he advised me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I thought I would write to Mrs. Pinkham for she could advise me better than any one if I was to take her remedies. I received her reply and followed all her directions and I am very glad to send you this testimonial, for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just what it is recommended to be. I advise all women who suffer from these complaints to try it."-MARIE LEMP, 108 2D AVE., NEW YORK CITY.

"A year ago I was a great sufferer from painful menstruation. I could not lie down or sit down for the dreadful pain each month. I wrote to you and took twelve bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has helped me so I cannot find words to express my gratitude toward Mrs. Pinkham. I am to-day well and hearty."-MISS JOIR SAUL, DOVER, CLARE CO., MICH.

More than a million women have been helped by Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine.
