

ROOSEVELT HONORED

New Mexicans Present the Governor With a Medal.

ROUSING ROUGH RIDER REUNION.

The Regiment Passes in Review Before Their Former Colonel at Las Vegas—Thousands Witness the Stirring Spectacle.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., June 26.—Governor Roosevelt, accompanied by Lieutenant Greenway, Sergeant Knauber, Lieutenant Ferguson, Captain Day and Lieutenant Dams, spent the night at the Las Vegas hot springs in his private car. After breakfast yesterday they came to town to attend a business meeting of the Rough Riders' regiment, which was adjourned, however, until today.

The Rough Riders marched to the parade ground in the afternoon, and a regimental inspection was conducted by Colonel Roosevelt and Lieutenant Brodie, they occupying a box at the tournament grounds. As the Rough Riders passed and re-passed the reviewing stand in the performance of their evolutions, Colonel Roosevelt stood with bare head. Each troop was commanded by its own captain when present. The evidence of approaching rain caused the evolutions to be somewhat curtailed. As the whole regiment came to attention before the grand stand the Hon. Frank Springer stepped forward, and, after referring to New Mexico's pride in the record of the Rough Riders, he having furnished one-third of its members, he turned to Colonel Roosevelt and in a few well chosen remarks presented him with a gold medal.

The presentation was a genuine surprise to Colonel Roosevelt. Mr. Springer handed the medal to his daughter Eva, who pinned it on the lapel of the colonel's Rough Rider blouse.

The medal is of solid gold. It is pendant from a bar by gold chains, V shaped, with the ends attached to the bar and joined to the medal at the center. On the bar is the inscription, "Colonel Theodore Roosevelt." Between the bar and the medal the coat of arms of New Mexico is engraved. On the medal proper are crossed sabers, and above them is the monogram "R. R. R." Below the sabers is the following: "Presented by the citizens of New Mexico, Las Vegas, N. M., June 24, 1899." On the circular edge of the medal are the words "San Juan, Las Guasimas, Santiago." In the center, just below the crossed sabers, is a diamond.

Arms For the Boers.

According to this informant, Pretoria has just ordered 25 quick firers and several heavy caliber guns for fort artillery from the Krupps.

A CLEVER CAPTURE.

Sneak Thief Steals $10,000 in Boston and is Caught in New York.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Detective Rachume of Captain McClusky's staff made a clever arrest of a noted criminal just as the latter was leaving a train from Boston in the Grand Central station at 6 o'clock last evening. The prisoner, whose real name is Philip Lambe, but who gave his name as George Shen, although only 21 years old, is one of the cleverest sneak thieves in the country.

Lambe had in his possession a roll of $10,000 in bank bills which he stole yesterday at noon from the window of the paying teller in the Metropolitan National bank, Boston. The thief walked out of the bank in an unconcerned manner, and the crime was not discovered until he had been lost to sight by the people in the bank.

THE SHAMROCK LAUNCHED.

Sir Thomas Lipton's Cup Challenger Takes to the Water at Millwall.

LONDON, June 27.—The launching of Sir Thomas Lipton's cup challenger Shamrock yesterday afternoon was attended by an accident.

As the Shamrock reached midstream from the slips a barge came in collision with her, striking the yacht's bow above the water line and making a big dent.

There was a great cry when the Shamrock struck, especially from several members of the Lipton party who witnessed the launch from the river. But it was soon ascertained that the damage done was slight, and as the tug towed the yacht toward the southwest India dock hundreds of whistles and horns made a tremendous din.

The ceremony of launching occurred at Millwall at 3 o'clock.

This is an advance of some 90 miles over the preliminary figures of last year, but The Gazette says there is every reason to believe that the new railroad building in actual progress is much more extensive than was that of a year ago.

NEW CUP DEFENDER.

Facts and Figures About the American Yacht Columbia.

It Will Cost Half a Million Dollars to Build and Sail Her for One Season—Her Wonderful Rigging and Keel.

The yacht Columbia will be the largest and costliest vessel ever designed for purposes of sport.

Of all the things about the Columbia the most impressive is the power of her sails. In a fair wind they are equal to the engines of a fast steam yacht. The Columbia displaces 145 tons. A steamer of that size, in order to equal her speed, would need engines of 1,500 horse power. The horse of machinery is a hypothetical creature who can lift 33,000 pounds one foot in one minute. As a matter of fact horses as powerful as that are hardly known to-day.

Thus we find, says the New York Journal, that the Columbia's sails would exert a power equal to that of 1,500 phenomenally powerful horses. To put it in another way, she would be able to pull 49,500,000 pounds one foot in one minute.

The total sail area of the Columbia, including all her top and head sails, is 19,045 square feet. That includes the mainsail, 7,475 square feet; the jib, 1,850 square feet; the topsail, 1,400 square feet; the jib topsail, 1,620 square feet, and the spinnaker, 7,000 square feet.

If the total of 19,045 square feet were divided up into sheets they would comfortably cover 712 men and a boy. This arrangement would allow each man a sheet seven feet long by four feet broad.

The lead in the keel of the Columbia weighs 90 tons. Now, the weight of a perfectly formed woman at her most attractive age is declared by artists to be 130 pounds. Therefore that keel weighs as much as 1,384 beautiful women.

CUP DEFENDER COLUMBIA. (Sketch of Sheer and Sail Plans and Amidship Section.)

en. The same keel far outweighs the ammunition that sank the entire Spanish fleet at Santiago.

The running rigging to be used on the Columbia is one and one-half miles in length. Here are the chief items in this rigging calculation:

Mainsheet, 770 feet; throat halliards, 462 feet; mainsheet jib, 308 feet; peak halliards, 800 feet; jib halliards, 300 feet; jib jib, 270 feet; jib downhaul, 180 feet; staysail halliards, 230 feet; jib topsail halliards, 600 feet; spinnaker halliards, 600 feet; topsail halliards, 350 feet; topsail sheet, 200 feet; topsail tack, 90 feet; jib topsail sheets, 250 feet; jib sheets, 180 feet; staysail sheets, 100 feet; spinnaker boom lift, 240 feet; spinnaker boom guys, 180 feet; spinnaker boom outhaul, 200 feet; spinnaker boom sheet, 80 feet; balloon jib sheets, 150 feet; balloon jib downhaul, 250 feet; reefing tackle on main boom, 100 feet; club topsail halliards, 350 feet; club topsail guy, 300 feet; club topsail tack, 90 feet; boom tackle, 130 feet; quarter lifts, 180 feet; quarter lift tackles, 600 feet; topmast backstays, 240 feet; topmast backstay tackle, 200 feet; masthead runners, 140 feet; masthead runner tackles, 200 feet.

The rope used in the Columbia's rigging averages an inch in thickness. Three hundred feet of one-inch rope makes a coil three feet in diameter and two feet high. Now a mile and a half of one-inch rope is about 27 times as much as that. Therefore it appears that all that rope will make an enormous coil 27 feet high and six feet in diameter.

A steel mast has been built for the Columbia, and she may sail either with this or a wooden one. The steel mast is, of course, hollow. It is 110 feet high and 60 inches in circumference at the thickest part. It has a capacity of 241,920 cubic inches, or 900 gallons. Roughly speaking, it would hold 19 barrels of beer. Her crew would make a human pillar 264 feet high.

There will be at least 40 men to haul on the mainsail, as one or more of the owners and officers are sure to take a hand in the work when there is need for it. Assuming the average weight of them to be 150 pounds, they will weigh altogether 6,000 pounds, or about three tons. That is just the weight they can pull when hauling down. The weight of the mainsail is 800 pounds, and of the gaff 250 pounds. The pressure of the wind is likely to double this and produce a total weight of over 2,000 pounds, which the crew will have to lift. They will, therefore, have 4,000 pounds to spare, and that will enable them to do the work as quick as a flash.

The 39 sailors on the defender will get $35 a month apiece. For a season of five months they will draw $6,225 in pay. Their food will cost $10 a month apiece. Capt. Barr will receive $4,000 for the season. The matter of salaries and food will alone cost over $12,000.

No one can accurately predict how much it will cost to sail a yacht like the Columbia for a season—not even the owners. It is probable that it will reach finally a total of $500,000.

A FOX IN A FOLD.

Reynard Paid with His Life for His Attempt to Get a Feast of Young Lamb.

Sheep do not often go fox-hunting, but when the fox comes to them, events may take the course they did on the Denton farm at East Somerset, New York. The owner of the farm brought a large dead fox to town, says the World, and offered to "treat" if anyone could tell in 20 guesses how the fox had met his death.

Of course, everybody gave it up, and then Mr. Denton reminded them that he is a sheep-raiser, and has a large flock of Dorsets, of which he is especially proud. With their large horns these sheep make a formidable showing, and they are so cross that it is as much as a stranger's life is worth to venture across a field in which they are pastured. Last summer a tramp was overtaken by a Dorset, and would have been killed but for Mr. Denton's intervention.

Of late a score of lambs have been born, and the bucks are more belligerent than ever. One night Denton was about retiring when he heard loud bleating in the fold near the house, and believing that dogs were around and perhaps attacking the lambs, hastened outdoors to investigate.

For a time the bucks refused to allow him to enter the fold, but presently they calmed down, and he went in. There lay a fox, recently killed and bleeding from numerous wounds. A horn of one of the sheep had entered Reynard's body back of the shoulder-blade, and then his life had been trampled out. The fox's hide showed more than 40 holes made by the sharp hoofs and horns.

STUDENTS WITHOUT MONEY.

If They Are Affable and Energetic They Can Readily Make Their Way Through College.

There is no reason why a student's food should cost him one cent, writes Jesse Lynch Williams, advising young men how to work their way through college, in Ladies' Home Journal. Every freshman has just as much right, and certainly has as good a chance, to get up an eating club among his own classmates as the upper classmen have. A club means merely a tableful of eight or sixteen more or less congenial fellows, generally classmates. The man who runs the club does not cater for it. In most cases he does absolutely nothing except gather the crowd together at the beginning of the year, and in return he receives his own meals free of charge. When he has once started it a man can generally run a club all through his course. As for clothes, a student ought to be able to earn them during the long three months of summer. The present generation does not wait on table at summer hotels, but it frequently manages the hotels or acts as clerks. Many hotel proprietors prefer college men because they are apt to be gentlemen, and they are good at organizing athletic games, etc. Other students act as bathing masters, or managers of boat houses, or correspondents of city papers at watering places, or even as professional entertainers at summer hotels where young men are scarce.

AN UNCUT DIAMOND.

As Large as a Hickory Nut and Worth Nearly One Hundred Thousand Dollars.

A New York jeweler the other day brought out a small package no larger than a hen's egg which was wrapped up in a common piece of white paper. Undoing it he showed what appeared to be yellowish white pebbles about the size of a large hickory nut, says the Sun, of that city.

"A mere trifle," he said, "but worth nearly $100,000."

The onlooker was amazed and took it in his hand. "You mean $100," he suggested. "No, $100,000. It is a South African diamond that is still uncut, and there are about 150 carats in it. At the rate of $50 a carat this would make more than $75,000, but, of course, the larger stones are more valuable. I suppose this is the largest diamond ever brought to this country. The name of the importer? That's a secret which we are not allowed to divulge."

Now that uncut diamonds are free of duty the importations are on a much larger scale than heretofore. The one in question has been considerably ground down, but had no polish or sparkle to suggest that it was a diamond at all.

DO IT YOURSELF.

It is easy to tell whether your kidneys are diseased. Take a bottle or glass tumbler and fill it with urine. If there is a sediment—a powder-like substance—after standing a day and night, there is something wrong with the kidneys. Other sure signs of disease are a desire to urinate often, pain in the back, or if your urine stains linen.

There is no question that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the best and surest medicine in the world for diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation. It quickly relieves and cures inability to hold urine and the necessity of getting up a number of times during the night. It puts an end to that scalding pain when passing urine and corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer. It is sold for one dollar a bottle at all drug stores.

Send your full post office address to the DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, Roundout, N. Y., and mention this paper. They will then mail you a trial bottle of Favorite Remedy and a valuable medical pamphlet free, giving full directions for its use. Every reader of the COLUMBIAN can depend upon the genuineness of this liberal offer, and all sufferers from the diseases mentioned above should take advantage of it at once.
