

WASHINGTON.

From our Regular Correspondent. Washington, Jan. 22, 1900.

How little Mr. McKinley's promise to furnish any desired information to Congress meant was shown when the Senate, under orders from the White House, voted down Senator Pettigrew's amendment to the Hoar resolution of inquiry, asking that the Senate be furnished a copy of Mr. McKinley's instructions to the Commissioners who negotiated the treaty of peace with Spain.

The Roberts Committee by a unanimous verdict found him guilty of polygamy, and his seat will be the penalty. The majority report favors declaring his seat in the House vacant, and the minority report, signed by two members, favors seating and then expelling him.

The administration is trying to bring Boss Platt around to its way of thinking on the vice-presidential question by trotting out the western candidate bogey to frighten Platt into the belief that New York will lose the place if he doesn't accept the Hanna McKinley programme without alteration.

Senator Hoar says of ex-Minister Barrett's charge that a speech made by the Senator caused the Filipinos to revolt: "Only a silly head would tell such a story, and only a sillier head would believe it."

Senator Vest, whose health has not allowed him to take the active part he once did in the business of the Senate, made a speech, this week, protesting against the policy of the imperialists in calling every man a traitor who dares to question the imperialistic foreign policy of the McKinley administration.

Do you take cold with every change in the weather? Does your throat feel raw? And do sharp pains dart through your chest? Don't you know these are danger signals which point to pneumonia, bronchitis, or consumption itself?

Formerly the sardines consumed in this country were all imported from France; now about three quarters of the sardines eaten in the United States are put up here, the sardine industry in the United States being the Eastern coast of Maine, though some sardines are now put up on the coast of California.

remain silent, refraining even from ordinary criticism as to the conduct of the war, for fear that we are to be denounced as the allies of Aguinaldo and opposed to the authority of our country?

Ye gods, what a change in Congressional sentiment! If a democrat had a few years ago used the language of Senator Chandler, when a negro petition for anti-lynch legislation was presented to the Senate, this week, there would have been a republican howl that would have jarred the earth;

Representative Richardson, the democratic leader in the House, made a calm speech showing how unsatisfactory Secretary Gage's reply to the national bank resolution of inquiry is, notwithstanding its 348 printed pages; that a single New York bank—the same that was allowed to juggle with the title of the old New York Custom House, which it bought from the government—was given deposits large enough to leave it the continuous use for periods as long as six months of more than $10,000,000 of government money.

Facts About Sardines.

Sardines are put up in greater variety than formerly, there being nowadays sardines packed in tomato sauce, sardines in mustard, spiced sardines, and so on; but the great bulk of the business, both imported and domestic, are still put up in oil. Sardines are put up also in a greater variety of packages than formerly; there being for example, various sizes and shapes of oval tins, and some French sardines are imported in glass; but as the great bulk of all sardines are still put up in oil so the great bulk of them are still put up in the manner of flat boxes, the great majority of these being of the sizes known as halves and quarters, and far the greater number of these being in quarters. Sardines are packed in tins in a case, and the consumption of sardines in this country is roughly estimated at from a million and a half to two million cases annually.

Like canned goods of every description, sardines are cheaper now than they formerly were, and American sardines are sold for less than the imported. American sardines are now exported from this country to the West Indies and to South America.—New York Sun

Spanish War's Big Upro of Pensioners.

Thousands of Claims Already Filed by the Men Who Fought and the Widows' Widows and Dependents.

A special dispatch from Washington to the Press says: Something of what the country may expect in the way of pension claims under existing laws from any future wars may be gathered from the applications that have so far been filed on account of the Spanish-American war.

The 60,000 claim agents over the country are, from these statistics, apparently losing no time or opportunity to work up a pension claim. The great majority of these claims come from volunteers, the percentage of applications from volunteers being more than double the percentage from regulars in proportion to the number engaged.

The District of Columbia sent out one volunteer regiment with 971 men. There were no losses in that regiment either in killed, wounded or missing, yet 419 claims for pensions have already been filed by members of that regiment. In other words nearly every other man in the regiment has already asked for a pension.

The Seventy-first New York regiment, which made a record that was considerably criticised, has presented 318 claims for pensions. Several of the regular regiments that saw much more fighting than the volunteer regiments have not presented 100 claims to a regiment.

SAN JUAN STATISTICS.

According to statistics compiled by the Pension Bureau based on the troops engaged in the battle of San Juan, where the greatest number of casualties occurred, the volunteers figure very largely in the applications for pensions.

At San Juan Hill there were 192 regulars killed, 1097 wounded and 55 missing. Of the regular regiments engaged in that battle applications for pensions have been presented to the number of 2466 for invalids, 176 for widows and 380 for dependents.

At that battle thirty four volunteers were killed, 177 wounded and 45 missing. Yet with this small list of casualties the claims for pensions in behalf of volunteers engaged in battle number 3175 for invalids, 80 for widows and 303 for dependents. There were twenty-three regiment of regulars and three regular batteries engaged in that fight as against nine regiments of volunteers.

Pension officials say that it is evident that it would be cheaper for the Government to maintain a larger standing army rather than use volunteers in cases of this kind.

Danger Signals! Do you take cold with every change in the weather? Does your throat feel raw? And do sharp pains dart through your chest? Don't you know these are danger signals which point to pneumonia, bronchitis, or consumption itself?

Scott's Emulsion prevents consumption and hosts of other diseases which attack the weak and those with poor blood. SCOTT'S EMULSION is the one standard remedy for inflamed throats and lungs, for colds, bronchitis and consumption. It is a food medicine of remarkable power. A food, because it nourishes the body; and a medicine, because it corrects diseased conditions.
