Progress in Postal Service-

Thirty five years ago there was no free delivery, mail was not distributed on trains and boats, there were no fast mails, no letter carriers, no special deliveries, and no money order system. We had no department stores then, the mail order business then was unknown, the improved machinery for turning out cheap periodicals, catalogues and pamphlets had not been introduced. The cheap daily and weekly paper, with a cent a pound postage on all second-class matter, had not been dreamed of.

Suffering Puerto Rico.

Dispatches from Puerto Rico show riage certificate issued by the officiat- that the condition of the Island which welcomed our troops so enthusiastical-ly is most deplorable. "There is no money to plant crops or to pay laborers, thousands of whom are on the point of starvation. The local press expresses the opinion that the conditions were better during the darkest

> Imagine that, and try to put yourself in the place of the American citizen who is willing to have that shame remain upon the American flag because he thinks that if the starving Puerto Ricans were allowed to sell their products freely in our markets, as the president has recommended, his profits might be diminished by their competition.

competition. Suppose that when we were expand-ing so blithly in August. 1898—when the Puerto Ricans were scattering flow-ers before our invading soldiers and shouting "Vivan los Americanos" some cynical, unpatriotic, small Amer-ican had said: "What fools! These people have seen their best days. Spain has been their true benefactor. Spain has made them prosperous. Under our rule their industries will decay, their laborers will starve, their crops will rot on their wharves, and we shall let them go to ruin, so that they may not bother us in our markets." What should we have said to that base libeler of this country?

The present condition of Puerto Rico should have been absolutely incredible and inconceivable to Americans of two years ago. We thought we knew our own hearts, and we should have said with entire confidence that wherever our flag went it would go as a messenger of benediction. Between the civilizing expansion of Jefferson and the brutal imperialism of McKinley there is a difference as great We, the undersigned, have known -well, as great as the difference be-tween the two men. There is no Democrat who opposes imperialism as Mc-Kinley seeks to introduce it who would not support expansion as Jefferson inaugurated it .- Bourke Cochran.

> And so this "criminal war," as Chamberlain himself described it in prophecy years ago, is to go on, with all its "appalling misery and devastaflon." England at last proclaims that her purpose is the extinction of the republics. And no voice in all the world-not even that of the great republic, sympathizer hitherto with every struggling people's fight for liberty -is raised to avert or to mitigate this century's crowning crime against the rights of man!-New York World.
