

PARIS LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent. PARIS, FRANCE, June 4, 1900. Will you go with me to the Exposition today? There are several ways of reaching it—by street car, omnibus, by boat on the Seine or by a cab. We will take the last, for cabs are everywhere in Paris and the fare will be only 30 cents with a tip of 2 and one-half cents to the coachman. So we mount a cab and say to the driver in American French "à la exposition porte de Trocadero." It is well to tell him what porte or gate you wish to enter for there are thirty-six different ones, and by going to the one nearest the points you wish to visit you may avoid a long walk. Entering the grounds by the Trocadero gate, two-thirds of the exposition is spread at our feet in the Champs de Mars and from our eminence, but a single object, the incomparable Eiffel Tower appears to overtop us. It is a bewildering entrancing spectacle; of most harmonious coloring, brand new, up to date, nothing historic or legendary about it. And all these dreams, delights and fantasies of architecture, of all climes and lands must be swept away in a few months when this most stupendous of expositions rings down the curtain. But no time for moralizing, let's get into it.

These first structures to our right and left are side-show midway pleasure fakes. They are not worth our time or the franc we will have to pay to see each one of them, but the crowd attracted by the tum tum of demi-barbaric music was born to be humbugged. French and Parisian crowds are no exception to this law of our race. We enter. In a small dark room (for those identical fakes have not half the space they had at Chicago as ground rent is higher) sits your harem, anybody's harem. The room is just dark enough to conceal the untidiness and tawdriness of the drapery and jewelry of the six or seven odalisques alleged to come from Constantinople or Cairo, but who never saw the Orient. There are thirty or forty more shows of this type. They should not be permitted to encumber an exposition, but it is by licensing these to gull the gullible that expositions pay their way.

We will now see quickly the outside of the exposition and measure its great extent by getting on the elevated moving platform. This moves continuously in one direction, making the entire inside circuit of the exposition at the speed of a rapid walk, but by walking rapidly upon it we can double our speed, and we can stop on an inclosed side platform at any point and examine more carefully any desired exterior of the exposition buildings. But if we desire to go inside any building we must leave the rolling platform and cannot resume our place upon it without paying an additional fare. This exposition does not cover as many acres as did our late Chicago exposition but it is much more compact and incomparably finer and richer than anything that has ever been accomplished, and as I heard an expert in expositions say, "finer than anything that will ever again be accomplished." His prediction is daring but not improbable for this huge enterprise promises to be a financial failure, and as such, a warning to all future exploiters in world's fairs. France, or rather Paris has in this enterprise attempted too much. There has never before been in so small a space an aggregation of so much value. Never before such a microcosm of human achievement.

Where do we stand in this great competitive show? We excel in a few things, we are excelled in many, but our appearance on this French field is no measure of our real strength. If it were, some very small countries like Sweden, Denmark, and Switzerland to say nothing of Austria, Spain and Italy, would be adjudged our superiors. And doubtless this is the opinion that many rural and some urban Frenchmen will form, as will many visitors from other countries. There is a great lack of information in the world, and the average foreigner knows as little about the United States as we do about New Zealand. The stars and stripes are seen here and there in the different buildings indicating an American exhibit. I think DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED BY local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Sold by druggists, 75c. Toledo, O. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

we excel in agricultural machinery, and notwithstanding Paris is the primitive field of the automobile, our vehicles on exhibition here appear to have a finer finish and better shape than others. There is no doubt that the French automobile, if somewhat clumsy in appearance, is a very serviceable vehicle, but there are not nearly so many in use in Paris as I had been led to expect. In buggies and carriages our makes are better than those of other countries; ours are much lighter without any sacrifice of strength. But it is difficult to convince the foreigner on these points. As they stop at the admirable exhibit of the Columbus Buggy Company, they point to the slender spokes and woodwork with the remark, "trap fragile." Lacking the tough elastic hickory and other woods of which our vehicles are made, they make their riding vehicles with heavy spokes, thills and felines until they appear to be almost as heavy and clumsy as mule carts. In this exhibit is shown a United States Express Wagon for the conveyance of money, packages, etc. It has the strong wire cage with which every American dweller in cities is familiar. It is curious to hear the comments of the passer-by. The most popular opinion is that it is for the purpose of conveying prisoners to the guillotine. Others say it is to hold the wild animals which infest the United States outside of New York.

All the midway pleasure clap-trap and humbug have been brought here bag and baggage and personnel, but they complain they are losing money, which should rejoice haters of sham, fraud, side shows, and vulgarity everywhere. The French public is just as ignorant and gullible as any other public and gazes with just as much wonder on clumsy wriggling dancing women from variety theatres, never suspecting that these artists never saw the Orient. I saw one of them yesterday in the Tunisian Theater posturing, shrugging and shaking her muscular and visceral systems to the feeble drumming of a two instrument string orchestra. All at once a band outside struck up a Scotch reel which quite swamped the music within. The reminiscence of real art and music was too much for the toes and heels of the danseuse, they got away with her and she danced to the music of the band with an abandon and an art that told her education was not of the seraglio or bazaar.

Why So Many Young Men Fail. Hetty Green Says the Scarcest Thing in the World is a Thoroughly Reliable Man.

"One trouble with many young men who start out in business is they try to do too many things at once," says Hetty Green, "The Richest Woman in America," in the June Ladies' Home Journal. "The result is that they don't know as much as they ought to about any one thing, and they naturally fail. The trouble with young men who work on salaries is that they're afraid of doing more than they're paid for. They don't enter into their work with the right spirit. To get on and be appreciated a young man must do more than he's paid to do. When he does something that his employer has not thought of he shows that he is valuable. Men are always willing to pay good salaries to people who will think of things for them. The man who only carries out the thoughts and ideas of another is nothing more than a mere tool. Men who can be relied upon are always in demand. The scarcest thing in the world to-day is a thoroughly reliable man."

Side Path Law Unconstitutional. Judge Simonton, of Harrisburg, has declared the side path law passed by the recent Legislature to be unconstitutional. The Dauphin county commissioners refused to take measures to levy the tax, and were sued by the side path commissioners, hence the decision. In his opinion, which is the first one handed down on the subject, all the other judges in whose courts suits have been brought having delayed expressing an opinion. Judge Simonton says:

"The making and maintaining of streets, roads, sidewalks or sidepaths of whatever kind, are certainly municipal functions: one of the most important duties of municipalities is to make and maintain these; and if the commission provided for in the act in question should exercise the powers delegated to them by the act, they would unquestionably be performing a 'municipal function.' We cannot doubt, therefore, that the act is repugnant to the section of the Constitution above quoted."

The chirping notes of the cricket and the insect tribe in general can now be heard on the evening air. This music of nature's orchestra is pleasant to the ear at the close of a Spring day.

Homer Schrayner, Charles Lehr and Charles Koons, Shamokin young men, have been arrested, charged with deserting the 21st U. S. regulars, now fighting in the Philippines.

LAMP-SIGNALING BY DAY.

Antenn Shattered in a Barrel with Black Canvas Can Be Seen for Many Miles.

A suggestion was once made to the war office that by using signaling lanterns instead of the ordinary signaling devices on the sky line, thereby risking loss of life and chance of the communication of messages to foes as well as friends, it would be well to encourage lamp-signaling in the daylight, says the London Telegraph. An ordinary signal lamp at the back of a barrel in sufficient darkness for its flashes to be perfectly visible on an ordinary day, and they are fairly well-shattered for the enemy. An acetylene lantern shuttered-off and roiled with black canvas can be seen for miles on the brightest day, and its messages can be kept absolutely private. Maj. Ernest Rhodes, D. S. O., Royal Berkshire regiment, has a "dual alphabet" for insuring accuracy of messages. This instead of "A B C" should be "A B X." A man receiving "A" followed by any other letter than "X" (his twin) would at once know something was wrong, and signal "Repeat."

An obvious improvement to our signaling system would be the more general use of code words and their substitution for numerals. A single numeral involves at least five motions of the flag or Morse key. With the combinations of four letters each there could be enough code words formed to send all possible messages, let alone such things as men's regimental numbers. If every man on enlistment was assigned a code word as well as a regimental number the saving of time and expense in telegraphing would be enormous.

Anxiety Over Missionaries.

BOSTON, June 20.—The printed dispatches from Port Arthur saying that telegraphic connection between Peking and Kalgan, northwest of the capital, has been cut; that rioting is going on in Kalgan, missionaries are being assaulted and their position is critical, and there are no foreign troops there for their protection, are of moment to the officials of the American board in Boston. Three of its missionaries are in Kalgan now—Rev. Mark Williams, who has been a missionary since 1895; Rev. William P. Sprague, who embarked for the field in 1874; and Mrs. V. I. Sprague, who became a missionary and married Mr. Sprague in 1882. Kalgan is one of the most northern cities of China and is situated on the Sangpo river at a gate in the great wall in the province of Chihli, 125 miles northwest of Peking. It is an important commercial station on the road between China and Siberia.

French's Contingent.

PARIS, June 20.—The French government will have 4,200 troops at Taku when the reinforcements just ordered out arrive there. Two thousand will reach Taku before July 3. The dispatch of a cruiser division, which has been decided upon, will give France a strong naval force, consisting of seven modern cruisers—three of the first class and four of the second—four gunboats and a dispatch boat.

Homeopaths in Session.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The American Institute of Homeopathy has begun its annual session here, Dr. Charles E. Walton of Cincinnati presiding. The chief feature of the convention will be the dedication and presentation to the government of the beautiful statue of Dr. Hahnemann on the east side of Scott circle Thursday afternoon. The president will attend the dedicatory exercises, and addresses will be delivered by Attorney General Griggs and other well known men. The same evening the president will give a reception to the members of the convention at the White House.

Mrs. Pinkham. The one thing that qualifies a person to give advice on any subject is experience—experience creates knowledge.

No other person has so wide an experience with female ills nor such a record of success as Mrs. Pinkham has had. Over a hundred thousand cases come before her each year. Some personally, others by mail. And this has been going on for 20 years, day after day and day after day.

Twenty years of constant success—think of the knowledge thus gained! Surely women are wise in seeking advice from a woman with such an experience, especially when it is free.

If you are ill get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once then write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.
