By Andrew J. Palm.

We are holding Cuba merely long enough to teach her how to do the government act herself. The enormous steals that have already occurred in the postoffice department will be a fine object lesson for the Cubans, but it will take them a long time to put up as big a steal as was done by their American teachers. The most essential things necessary to good government, honesty to prompt right doing and the courage to perform "plain duty," are so sadly lacking in the Me-Kinley administration that the president is regarded as a Pharisee when he sets up as an example for others to fol-

The directors of the Commercial Travelers and Hotel Men's Anti-Trust League held a meeting recently in New York and adopted a resolution pledging the League to support the nominees of the Kannas City convention. A com-mittee was appointed to arrange for a meeting of several thousand drummers at Kansas City on the Fourth of July. In '96 a great majority of the commer-cial travelers supported McKinley, but McKinley prosperity has driven thousands of them out of business, and this year they will do their full share toward driving McKinley out of the presidential chair that he has disgraced.

The armor plate contractors will put up handsomely for the Republican campaign fund as a reward to the party for killing the proposition to establish a government plant. The armor plate manufacturers, like many others, sell their goods cheaper abroad than at home, and the men who uphold such business transactions must be receiving a reward for their perfidy to home

When Senator Pettigrew declared in the senate that the ship building firm of Cramp & Co. had been compelled to put up $400,000 to the Republican camsalgn fund in '96 the pure and undefiled Mark Hanna became white with rage, and denounced Pettigrew as insane. Mr. Pettigrew however, didn't seem disturbed by Mr. Hanna's charge, but kept right on prodding him with unpalatable truths. Senator Pettigrew says that he received his information from the senior member of the firm of Cramp & Co., and as that member has not denied it, Mr. Hanna's rage was evidently the more sincere because of the truth of the charge.

Gen. Fred Funston, who thinks he is a greater man than Washington, put two Filipino prisoners to death "to make an example of them." This and many other similar transactions will set us before the world as an example to be shunned, not imitated. We call ourselves a Christian nation, yet do things that would shame an ordinary Congress adjourned after one of the shortest regular sessions on record. It failed to do its "plain duty" as laid down by McKinley in regard to Porto Rico, and passed a financial measure that no other congress has dared to do, showing that the money power is constantly growing more brazen in its demands and all the time getting congress more completely under its con-The anti-trust bill passed the bouse with a hurrah, just for effect, because it was well understood that the senate would quietly put it to sleep. The ship subsidy steal and the Nicaragua canal steal were not passed, owing to the effect they might have on the coming election; but they are not dead, merely postponed, and if McKinley should again be elected and congres be Republican they will pass. Under Bryan, however, they will have no show, and as he is certain to be our next president these steals will not receive governmental sanction.

The attempt of Mayor Ashbridge and Director English, of Philadelphia, to bulldoze Hon. John Wanamaker proved a sad failure. Like the man who played with the hind feet of a mule, these two gentlemen are not nearly so happy looking as they were before, but they know more, having learned something new in the fool's school of experience. They know now to a certainty that the better people of Philadelphia will not tolerate an unwarranted attack on a respected citizen. The impudence of these men is equaled only by their stupidity. They thought to blackmail Mr. Wanamaker, a gentleman who has never shown any lack of courage, by elling him that spies had been on his track when in Europe, and that some-thing would be exposed unless he would cause The North American to top its attacks on Ashbridge and English for their questionable acts as city officials. Mr. Wanamaker promptly exposed the scheme, and public feeling se to such a pitch in the Quaker City that a mass meeting was held and the indignation against Ashbridge and his ool, English, was expressed in strong terms. If they do not resign and give up the positions they have disgraced will not be because the best people of Philadelphia do not desire it. Mr. Wanamaker's public life is an open ook containing no record of wrong doing, while his private life has been one worthy of imitation, at which no character traducer has dared to point the finger of suspicion. He has a strong hold on the people of the state for what he has done and is doing for better government. When postmaster general he advocated the government ownership of the telegraph and a wider use of the mails in the interest of the common people. To him belongs the tredit of first recommending rural mail He has done more to overthrow Quayism in this state than any other man, and is to be admired for the enemies he has made.

A big standing army is a confessed menace to a republic. Its cost is a tre-mendous tax upon the people. Ameri-can voters are not so helpless as the people of Europe, crushed almost to earth by the burden of militarism. It will be the fault of these voters if they consent to assume such a burden. The European policy of malitarism and taxation for militarism has no excuse for existence in this country.—St.

Mr. S. S. McClure Co. has secured from Rudyard Kipling a series of stories of the South African war. The first, entitled "The Outsider," will appear in the July number of McClure's Magazine. This story introduces a young, ignorant, but self-important subaltern, detailed to the command of a remote railway station who gets into serious trouble. As a character study, this is one of the most vigorous and amusing stories Mr. Kipling has ever written.
