ADDICKS OF DELAWARE.

A Character Study of a Famous Politician Who Would Rather Fight Than Eat.

No factor in national politics is closer to the public eye than J. Edward Addicks, of Delaware. The factional fight in the little state commands the attention of republicans everywhere. The battle of to-day is only one of a number covering a period of 11 years and costing over $1,000,000. A character study of Mr. Addicks, taken from the Philadelphia Press, will interest almost everybody.

Born 1841, in Philadelphia; fair; brave; extremely optimistic; self-

That's Addicks.

WOULD BE PRESIDENT.

Joseph F. Malloney, Candidate of the De Leon Wing of the Socialist Labor Party.

The De Leon wing of the socialist labor party, not content with the Debs-Harriman ticket already nominated by the socialists, has decided to run candidates of its own. At the recent socialist labor convention in New York, Joseph F. Malloney, of Lynn, Mass., was nominated for president, and Valentine Remmel, of Pittsburgh, Pa., for vice president. Mr. Malloney is a machinist by trade, and has been state organizer of the party in Massachusetts. Two years ago he was the socialist candidate for congress in the Seventh Massachusetts district. The New York People says of his nomination: "The presidency of the United States belongs of right to the working class, who must and shall some day take it. The working class can take it now by electing Joseph Malloney."

Total Cost of a Man.

According to a French newspaper a German surgeon, whose manservant lost both arms and legs and part of his face by the explosion of a shell, has calculated the cost of manufacturing an artificial man. A pair of arms, with hands, joints, etc., complete, would cost about $150; a pair of legs, about $140; a false nose in metal—indistinguishable from the real article—costs $80 to $100, and for $110 a pair of ears, perfectly natural in appearance and furnished with artificial drums, can be produced. A complete set of teeth would cost $40 to $65, and a pair of glass eyes $30. Thus the total cost of supplying deficiencies to a man who has lost all his limbs and the major portion of his face is $500 to $600.

A Big Field of Alfalfa.

Buffalo county, Nebraska, boasts the largest alfalfa field in the world. It is from one-half to two miles wide and eight miles or such a matter long. It yields three cuttings a season and the total yield per acre for the three cuttings averages close to eight tons.

Some Young Illinois Governors.

There have been some young governors in Illinois. Ninian Edwards, executive when it was a territory, was only 34 when appointed; Gov. Coles was only 36 when installed; Gov. French was only 38 and Gov. Hamilton was 36.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Opinions From Various Sources on Questions of Public Interest.

Nebraska once more returns heartfelt thanks to McKinley for a fine rain on the night of the 30th.—Omaha World-Herald.

Carnegie favors the re-election of McKinley, but he does not say who he would be for if the government should decide to manufacture its own armor plate.—Chicago Record.

No weak state is now safe from the encroachments of a great empire, and if the imperial spirit is not checked in the United States the American republic will commit the same crime in the Philippines, and possibly in Cuba, which Great Britain is now preparing to commit in South Africa.—Baltimore Sun.

McKinley compares very unfavorably with Gen. Harrison in the matter of appointments to the federal bench. The president from Indiana was exceptionally strong in that respect. No important judicial nomination by him was ever protested by strong delegations of the bar, whether of California or New York.—Springfield Republican.

When a political party declares its opposition to trusts and yet receives the solid support of the trust element not only in votes, but in financial aid, one of two things is true, either the trust element is self sacrificing or the political party is dealing in gold bricks. And when the party nominates a trust man on its anti-trust platform the whole affair becomes as ludicrous as a poorly written comedy.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

When the late Republican convention refused to insert in the platform a resolution which was offered, condemning ballot box stuffers and proposing ballot reform, it committed one of the most serious blunders it seems possible for experienced political managers to have made. It states, what is quite true, that this refusal furnished reason for a fusion movement to secure a legislature in favor of honest elections and which will enact laws to that end in spite of machine opposition.—Chambersburg Public Opinion (Rep.).

"The men who, like Paul, have gone to heathen lands with the message, 'We seek not yours but you,' have been hindered by those who, coming after, have reversed the message. Rum and other agencies come in with our boasted civilization, and the feeble races wither before the hot breath of the white man's voices. The great nations have combined to suppress the slave trade. Is it too much to ask that they shall combine to prevent the sale of spirits to men who less than our children have acquired the habit of self restraint? If we must have consumers let us give them an innocent diet.—Ex-President Benjamin Harrison.

Frank G. Carpenter, the well known and reliable newspaper correspondent, writes from Manila that there are 50,000 lepers in the Philippine islands and that the disease is spreading; "in fact," he says, "this part of the world seems to breed lepers." Leprosy "annexation" to our "possessions" is the principal "trade" that will "follow the flag." Many of our soldier boys have returned, and many more will come, with the seeds of the disease in their systems, and thousands of children yet unborn are already doomed. Let this war of "criminal aggression" be continued, and the "God of Hosts" and Justice will make this fair land of ours a land of pestilence.—San Francisco Star.

The young man of today has nowhere to turn but to some trust. He must take his chances to become a low-salaried employe of some giant corporation, with little opportunity for bettering his condition. There is nothing in the prospect to inspire ambition. The Republican party is owned and controlled by these interests, and the re-election of McKinley will strengthen their power for harm to the people—harm to the young men in particular. This is one of the great issues of the campaign, and it is not going to be shoved into the background either by the efforts of the president and his lieutenants to ignore it or by the howl about Roosevelt and San Juan Hill.—Atlanta Constitution.

Those arguments that are made, that the inferior race are to be treated with as much allowance as they are capable of enjoying, that as much is to be done for them as their condition will allow—what are these arguments? They are the arguments that kings have made for the enslaving of the people in all ages of the world. You will find that all the arguments of kingcraft were always of this class; they always bestrode the necks of the people—not that they wanted to do it, but because the people were better off for being ridden. Turn it every way you will—whether it come from the mouth of a king as an excuse for enslaving the people of his country, or from the mouth of men of our race—it is all the same old serpent.—Abraham Lincoln, at Chicago, July 10, 1855.

The Caesars saw the spears of their victorious legions flashing in the sunlight of every known land, and in their triumphant return they brought with them the accumulated wealth of all the nations they had subdued. The splendor of imperial Rome outshone the world, but the wealth thus obtained without value given undermined the empire, and glory of Rome is simply a memory. Napoleon beheld the shining star of destiny; and then? Does human nature change through the centuries? WE STAND TODAY FACING THE TEMPTATION WHICH COMES FROM THE POSSIBILITY OF RAPIDLY ACCUMULATED WEALTH. WHAT RIGHT HAVE WE TO ANTICIPATE THAT THE SAME RESULT WILL NOT FOLLOW IF WE PURSUE THE SAME COURSE OF TAKING WHAT WE HAVE NOT FULLY EARNED?—Justice David J. Brewer (Republican), of the United States supreme court.

COL. MAMIE MORRIS.

Georgia's Girl Warrior Will Attend the Chicago Encampment of the Grand Army.

Chicago is making strenuous efforts to make the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which occurs in that city during the last week of August, one of the grandest events of the kind in the history of the order. It is expected that scores of prominent national and state officials will attend the meeting and review the grand parades, and that half a million of plain red-blooded American citizens will lend zeal to the occasion by their presence. Among the attractions in the annual parade will be Miss Mamie G. Morris, who is a lieutenant colonel and aid on the staff of the governor of Georgia. Col. Morris, who is a specially invited guest, is a Tennessee beauty and one of the famous young women of the south. She is unique in being the only lady officer on a governor's staff. When Gov. Allan D. Chandler of Georgia and his party went to Chattanooga to dedicate the Georgia monument in the national park Miss Morris' numerous courtesies to the Georgia ladies were noted with extreme pleasure by the visitor. Gov. Chandler appointed her honorary lieutenant colonel of his staff. This young lady is a typical girl, a gifted writer, a talented musician, and one of the most popular young ladies in Dixie. She was born in Georgia, and is a member of the Georgia society of Chattanooga.

NEW GERMAN MINISTER.

Baron Mumm von Schwarzenstein Appointed to Represent Emperor William in China.

All doubts as to the killing of Baron Clements von Ketteler, German ambassador to China, having been removed by official reports from Peking, the German emperor has appointed Baron Mumm von Schwarzenstein to succeed him. Baron Ketteler, the unfortunate victim of Chinese ignorance and superstition, was formerly secretary of the German embassy at Washington, where he married Miss Maude Leyard, daughter of a Detroit capitalist. Like his predecessor, Baron Schwarzenstein is married to a beautiful American. Before his promotion he had filled the post of imperial envoy to the grand duchy of Luxemburg. The new German minister to Peking is a native of Frankfort-on-the-Main. His appointment and his fortunes in China will be of especial interest to Americans, owing to the fact that Baroness Maude, his wife, was before her marriage one of the prettiest belles of New York city. On both sides she is descended from the finest old families. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl von Brockdorf, Le Vinsin, of New York. Her maternal grandmother was Mrs. Cornelius Roosevelt. The baron is young, handsome and rich. His father is a former lord mayor of the ancient city of Frankfort.

Death in Their Finger Nails.

The juice of the green and growing pineapple is accredited in Java, the Philippines and throughout the far east generally with being a blood poison of a most deadly nature. It is said to be the substance with which the Malays poison their spears and daggers, and also the "finger-nail" poison formerly in use among aboriginal Javanese women almost universally. These women cultivated a nail on each hand to a long, sharp point, and the least scratch from one of these was certain death.

What Not to Say.—Do not say, "I can't eat." Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and say, "I am hungry all the time, and food never hurts me."

Never say to your friends that you are as tired in the morning as at night. If they happen to be sharp they will tell you Hood's Sarsaparilla cures that tired feeling.

He Had Money to Chew. Andrew Sundheimer, a butcher of Wabash, Ind., is deploring the loss of a ten-dollar bill, which he unwittingly devoured. Mr. Sundheimer is an inveterate tobacco chewer, using plug exclusively. He carried his supply in the right hip pocket of his trousers, and last week, having taken in a ten-dollar bank note, he thrust it down alongside the plug of tobacco. The weather was warm. Sundheimer perspired freely, and the tobacco becoming soft, the bill adhered closely to the plug. Every time Sundheimer took a chew he bit off and masticated part of the note. The color of the bill resembling that of the tobacco and adhering as closely as though it were part of the leaf, Sundheimer chewed up half his plug before he remembered the money.

The devil is seldom as black as he is painted, and lots of men are not half as bad as they pretend to be. In its advanced and chronic form a cold in the head is known as nasal catarrh and is the recognized source of other diseases. Having stood the test of continued successful use, Elys Cream Balm is recognized as a specific for membranous disease in the nasal passages, and you should resort to this treatment in your own case. It is not drying, does not produce sneezing. Price 30 cents at druggists, or by mail, Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, New York. Beware of prejudice and try it.
