It is scarcely recognized that the most potent and far reaching influences of the Paris Exposition appear in the Hall of Congress, Palais des Congres as it is called. This is the least striking part of the Exposition. There are here no great captains of industry with changing machinery, no displays of mining industries with their astonishing statistics, no ad captandum inventions or results of thrilling discoveries in physical science. Only a number of societies consisting of plan men and some plain women discussing peace, education, charity, religion, psychology, hygiene, and other subjects that relate to the amelioranon and progress of the human race. Can it be doubted that these organizations, composed as they are of servants of all countries, though they are scarcely known outside of the esoteric circles of their specialties-statisticians, bookworms, theorists, dreamers some will say, working in solitude but furnishing material for legislative consideration and action, are the real none. "They desire no isles of the blest, no quiet seats of the just, to rest in a golden grove, or to bask in a summer sky: give them the wages of going on and not to die." M. de Block, Russian Councillor of

Dr. Labache state i that experiments had been made on animals which showed beyond doubt that the antiseptics had been carried through and into the body by high tension static currents. He presented analysis made by distinguished chemists verifying his statements, while both he and the French doctors referred to cases of complete cures in the United States and France. By statistics they showed that of 800 patients in different stages of consumption in France, 600 were cured; that at a hundred dercent in the first stage of this disease were cured; seventy-five per cent in the second stage, and thirty-five per cent in the third stage. TO MAKE CONVERSATION.

A Novel Iden for Furnishing Topics for Talk at a Luncheon or Dinner.

A little suggestion about placecards for a luncheon or dinner; instead of having the names of the guests upon them, eards may be prepared by cutting pictures and letters from magazines and newspapers and pasting them neatly and carefully to make some illustrated device, sentence or verse characteristic of the guest and the occasion. writes Sadie American, in Wom-an's Home Companiou. The guests walk around the table seeking their places, and the various cards are apt to put the company at once at case and to be the source of a free and general flow of conversation, a thing so really hard to be sure of. If the company is one of intimates, familfar with each others' affairs, a very delightful and mirth-provoking addition to the dessert may be made by having a surprise "skeleton story." Its subject matter should deal with the doings of the various members of the company. The story is written complete, except that no adjectives are used in the narrative, but as many places as possible are left blank for them. The company is then called upon to name adjectives In turn and the blank spaces are filled in. The completed tale is then read aloud, and wonderful and fearful the medley.

Tomate Salad. Put six medium-sized fresh tomatoes in a frying-basket; dip them in a saucepan of boiling water; free them from the skin and lay the tomatoes for one hour on top of the ice. Shortly before serving, cut each tomato lengthwise into six pieces, and lay them in a salad bowl. Mix half gill of oil with half gill of vinegar; add two tablespoonfuls tarragon vinegar, half teaspoonful salt, one-quarter teaspoonful white per per, one teaspoonful grated onion and one teaspoonful of each fine-chopped chives and English mustard; pour the sauce over the tomatoes and lay a border of small crisp lettuce leaves around it. Another way is to cut the tomatoes, without peeling, in fine slices, lay them in a salad bowl; mix half cupful vinegar with one teaspoonful sugar, half teaspoonful each of salt and pepper, and two tablespoonfuls water, and pour over the tomatoes. Fine-sliced onions may be added, if liked .- Ledger Monthly.

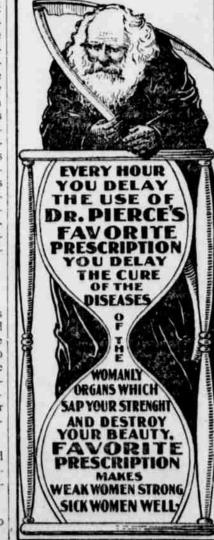

Strawberries with Stems.

A fashionable way to serve straw berries is with their bulls on. Only the most perfect fruit, fresh from the rines, can be served in that way. This is the way they are served at fashionable breakfasts or "company" lunch sons. Sugar is passed around with them. The guest takes a little on his plate, and, holding the berries served to him by the stems, dips them one by one into the sugar and eats them

ADMONITION AND CORRECTION.

Harvard Professor's Awkward Exclamation While Rebuking Profunity.

One of Seanter Hour's best stories relates how Prof. C. C. Felton, of Harvard, repulsed his younger brother for indulging in profane language, The young man stood high as a student, and on account of his relationship to Prof. Felton received the mercy of private instead of public admonition, the professor being selected to administer the reproof for an offense which was perhaps much more serious than it would be now. Mr. Felton called the youth to his room and saide

"John, I cannot express to you how horrified I am that my brother, in where coaracter and scholarship I had taken so much pride, should have been reported to the faculty for this vulgar and wicked offense.

John said, with much contrition: "I am exceedingly sorry. It was under circumstances of great provocation. I have never been guilty of such a thing before. I never in my life have been addicted to profanity." "D -n it, John," roared the professor, "how often have . told you that the word is profaneness and not profanity?

John grinned, in full appreciation of his brother's slip, and the admoni-tion came to a hurried step.
