PARIS, FRANCE, Sept. 24, 1900. The glass and crystal exhibit of the Paris sair attracts all who like glitter and sparkle. The interior of the hall looks like a perpetual exhibition of in a thousand reflections, and appearing in fugutive rainbows on every

There is strong emulation between the details of ornamentation of all this cristal work, in which color itself often appears. Especially charming are the goblets, carafes, and bottles of all sorts. Some of the objects are blown to demensions truly colossal, and one wonders from what human lungs could have issued the breath that inflate them. As a matter of fact, the pieces are now blown mechanically, by means of compressed air. One sphere is nearly five feet in diameter; from this enormous bubble, three thousand watch glasses could be cut.

Here we see glass thread, as fine as silk, from which dresses are made. They are not for everyday wear, it is true, but quantities of the glass thread are used by ladies for different purposes, notably for making aigretts for the hair or for hats. There are also specimens of glass cotton and woolen, which is used for purposes of insulation, or to prevent the passage of

One of the curious things in this curious exhibit is what specialists call into lead, without chipping or cracking it. This way of preparing glass, it seems, was known to the ancients. Historians assign as the reason for this imperial decision, that Tiberlus saw something unnatural in the discovery, and in order to avoid the trouble of investigating the unpatented invention, he suppressed it in the person of its author.

Among the other interesting objects in this section are the beads, the paste, the pearls, and above all, the stained

Waiting For Rain-

The drought prevailing at present is the most severe one in many years and is seriously interfering with farm work. It is not considered a good plan to sow wheat while the ground is so dry and as a result seeding is postponed in the hope of rain, although the date is past when most farmers are in the habit of sowing.

In Sullivan county the condition of affairs is unprecedented. The crops have been a total failure, the pasture lands have dried up and many of the farms are without water. Cattle at some places are driven for miles. Farmers will be unable to keep their stock during winter. Good cows can be bought for $8 per head and calves

LORD ROBERTS TO RETURN.

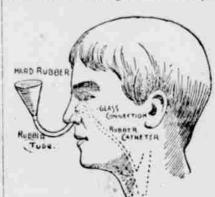

Will Leave South Africa Soon-Retreat of the Boers Reported. LONDON, Oct. 8 .- Lord Roberts, The Daily News announces, will leave South Africa during the last week of October. The authorities have decided to limit the number of colonial troops who are to be the queen's guests in London to 500. It is estimated, according to the Pieter-maritzburg correspondent of The Daily Mail, that from 4,000 to 5,000 Boers have retreated from Pilgrim's Rest, northeast of Lydenburg, with four Long Toms and 22 other guns. The correspondent understands that their Long Tom ammunition is almost exhausted.

EATS WITHOUT MOUTH.

Post-Nasal Feeding, as Practiced on a Youthful Patient in an Eastern Hospital.

through his nostrils. The boy, whose parents live at 66 Seigel street, was kicked in the mouth by a horse a few days ago, his teeth knocked out and his mouth so injured that he could not take food in the ordinary way, says the New York World.

Science stepped in where nature failed, and his life has since been sustained by the method known as postnasal feeding, or by forcing food into the stomach by passing a tube through

The apparatus consists of a piece of small rubber tubing about 15 inches long, to one end of which is attached a hard rubber funnel.

The liquid food is poured into the funnel, the tube is passed down the nostril to the ocsophagus and thus the food is passed into the stomach.

It is rather a hard way of eating for a healthy boy, but young Fackenstock is thriving on it, and if no unlooked-for relapse happens until his mouth shall heal he will soon be all right again.
