Meut. Johnston, Who Performed the Feat, Tells How the Surrender Was Brought About.

Not every young officer in the Philpoine service has the good fortune to ture a Filipino general. Of course, conerals are plentiful enough among the insurgents, but Gen. Hizon, whom Meut. John S. Johnston, of the Fortydon't infantry, recently made a prisoner, was a figure of much importance among the ill-conditioned troops who are waging their warfare against our sovereignty in the Philippines. Lieut. Johnston does not boast of his capture as a great exploit. On the contrary, he says: "It was one of the greatest pieces of bullheaded luck that ever happened to me. Here is how it occurred: I was out with a detachment of four soldiers and a native. About noon we entered the plaza of San Jose. I observed a man leaving the convent of the village church and crossing a field toward a line of bamboo which fringed the edge of the stream. At the thicket he was met by a servant with a horse, which he mounted and made off in the direction of the Culabasa road. I sent two of my men to head him off.

"He led the chase for about a mile,
I in direct pursuit. My pony got tangled up in the branches and I was nearly out of the race. But an accident had also happened to the pursued. His horse had slipped and thrown him, breaking his arm and severely spraining his ankle. He tried to conceal himself under the bank of the stream, but was discovered by Private Wheeler. Arriving myself a few moments later, he surrendered to me, telling me who His splendid gray pony escaped."

nois and a graduate of the state university. He served with distinction in the Spanish-American war.

MISS ESTELLE REEL.

Mer Success as General Superintendent of Indian Schools Has Been Quite Gratifying.

Estelle Real, the general superintendent of the Indian schools, has made her third annual report containing much information of general interest. She believes the Indian porblem is approaching a solution. The North American savage responds, she finds, to the ethical impulse in education, and when man knows the white man speech much of the preliminary difficulty of the problem will be cleared away. In laying the greatest stress upon the cultivation of manual training he believes she is preparing her charges for useful lives in the civilized world. The boys are taught trades, the girls domestic arts. Since her appointment three years ago Miss Reel has traveled 41,138 miles. She has lived with the Indians in camp and adobe, has studied the children of the various

She was elected by a big vote, and since then has made a national repstation as an educator, in which capacity she had labored in obscure places from her girlhood. She is a native of Seneral Wood Grants Funds to Santa Clara Province.

HAVANA, Oct. 9.—Governor General Wood, who has just returned from a tour of investigation in the province of Santa Clara, reports only a partial recovery from the effects of the war in that section of the island. Although he found no actual want in the district of Sancti Spiritus, for instance, there was great need of assistance to alleviate agricul-tural stagnation. This was asked for by the municipality of Sancti Spiritus and has been granted by General Wood from the insular fund.

General Wood will leave for the United States during the present week, returning to Havana about Oct. 25.

Homes For Galveston's Homeless. GALVESTON, Oct. 8.-By action of the central relief committee $50,000 was appropriated for repairing wrecked homes and $100,000 for building homes for those whose homes were completely destroyed. The recipients of this assistance are to be determined by the building committee. Ten thousand dollars was appropriated for the purchase of tools, sewing machines, etc., for persons who are able to support themselves, but are unable to buy tools. A dispatch from Dallas says Governor Sayers will turn over $30,000 cash to the relief committee for the mainland sufferers by the September gulf hurricane. A movement has been started to petition Governor Sayers to use $150,000 cash of the $2,000,000 surplus in the state treasury to aid Galveston and coast sufferers generally and to petition the legislature to indorse this action of the governor if he takes it.

NYACK, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Alonzo Stevens of Spring Valley is in a serious condition from being tossed 15 feet in the air by a bull on Lawyer E. T. Lovatt's farm. Stevens was crossing a lot when the bull rushed toward him, caught him with his horns and threw him high in the air. When the man came down, he landed on the bull's neck and tried to stay there, but the bull threw him off and then put his front foot on his breast and started in to trample the man to death. A farmhand who had heard Stevens' cries arrived on the scene with rail and drove the bull off just in time to save the man's life, but he was badly mangled and was carried off the field un-

COURT WITHOUT LAW.

Inique Avocation of a Philanthropic Hungarian Banker in Pennsylvania's Slav District.

George Slaine, Hungarian banker and Slav interpreter of the criminal rourt of Westmoreland county, Penusylvania, has fully earned the title of "judge," without ever having held a commission as notary, alderman or squire. He conducts a court in which there are no lawyers, and the only law is that of common sense.

Greensburg is in the heart of the Slav district. Thousands of miners have no idea of the rights of themselves and their fellow-citizens under the law. They are abrupt, suspicious and lax in morals. They quarrel with great frequency and make all sorts of unusual trades. Now and then they sell or exchange wives. For wives are regarded there as conveniences, and every spring large numbers of Hungarian girls are brought over and quickly taken for wives by the men. These girls do not always stick to their promises to marry the first men they meet. And this is the cause of most of the litigation before "Judge" Slaine.

The "judge" has no regular courtroom. When a complainant seeks his advice he blunders right into the "judge's" banking house and begins the recital of his-or her, for there are many quarrels among the women-bill of complaint. The "judge" hears both sides, talks peace, and in the majority of cases persuades them to drop the matter. One case he had was that of a man who had exchanged wives with another man, with a pair of boots as "boot." The exchange was made, but the boots were not forthcoming. Another case was that of a Slav whose sweetheart had jilted him after he had got a marriage license. He wanted to have her put in prison until she paid him $200. The "judge" talked him into a good humor, and now the young man is married to another girl.

"My reason for taking up this business-from which I get no financial returns—was to keep my fellow-countrymen out of the hands of lawyers and magistrates, who too often encourage instead of discourage litigation. I have saved them many dollars in lawyers' and court fees and have prevented many serious affairs. I cannot fine them, of course, but I do the next best thing-I persuade them to give a small amount to charity."

A POWER IN RUSSIA.

Serge Yulevich De Witte, Minister of Finance and Master of the Art of Court Intrigue.

Serge Yulevich de Witte, the Russian minisetr of finance, is occupying more than his share of the public eye in Europe. What with his recent negotiations for a loan in America, his visit to the Russian dowager empress at Copenhagen made in the hope of reconciling the czar and his mother for political purposes, and the reports circulated not long ago in which De Witte's disgrace was thoroughly settled to the satisfaction of correspondents, the finance minister has kept himself in view with singular persistence.

(Russian Minister of Finance and Power Behind Throne.)

It is said that De Witte is deep in the court intrigue of Russia and that it is this fact which binds him to the czar. That he is eminently qualified for the part he is now playing is evident by his rise from the state of a mere railroad clerk to that of the financial master of the great empire. He was born in Tiflis about 40 years ago and is really without education, except such as he managed to pick up for himself. He began his career as a humble employe of a government railroad and rose rapidly as much by his capacity for intrigue as by his acknowledged ability.

HONORED BY QUEEN.

Lord Roberts Appointed Chief Commander of British Army.

Will Relieve Lord Wolseley as Soon as He Can Return from South Africa - His Promotion Pleases the Public.

Queen Victoria's present to Field

Marshal Lord Roberts on his sixtyninth birthday was his appointment as commander in chief of the British army Lord Roberts' career has been a brilliant one. Born at Cawapore September 30, 1832, the son of Gen. Sit Abraham Roberts, he was educated at Clifton, Eton, Sandhurst and Addiscombe, and at the age of 19 received his first commission as second lieutenant in the Bengalartillery. He served with distinction in the Indian mutiny compaign and received the Victoria cross for personal bravery in the field in He was at the siege of Delhi and took active part in the subsequent op erations down to the relief of Luck

Throughout the Abyssinian campaign of 1868 Roberts held the office of assistant quartermaster general. He superintended the reembarkation of the whole army and was selected by Sir Robert Napier as the bearer of the latter's final dispatches. He also acted as assistant quartermaster general with the Cachar column in the Looshal expeditionary force (1871-72).

At the beginning of the Afghan campaign he was appointed commander of the Kuram field force and subsequently had the chief command of the army in Afghanistan, where he achieved the most brilliant triumphs. After the massacre of the British embassy Rob erts reoccupied Cabul at the close of 1870. Toward the end of July, 1880, a terrible defeat was inflicted by the troops of Avoob Khan at Malwand on Gen. Burrows, the remnant of whose force with difficulty joined Gen. Prim-rose's garrison at Candahar.

Roberts, gathering a force of over 9,000 picked men, marched to the relief of Candahar, allowing Abdurrahman Khan to occupy Cabul. Cut off from direct communication with his countrymen, Roberts disappeared for three weeks, during which time the pational anxiety was extreme. At last he emerged victorious from the trackess region between Cabul and Candahar. Immediately he grappled with Ayoob Khan, and inflicted on that pretender a crushing defeat.

On the return of Roberts to England he was loaded with honors; he was presented with the freedom of the city of London, received the thanks of parliament, and was created a baronet.

In February, 1881, he was appointed to succeed Sir George Colley in the command of the troops in Natal and the Transvaal, but peace was concluded with the Boers before his arrival in the colony. He was afterward appointed a member of the council of Madras, and commanded the troops in that presidency from 1881-55.

Son afterward Lord Roberts successfully commanded an expedition to Burmah. He was later appointed commander in chief in India, and left that post to become commander in chief in Ireland, from which post he was called in December, 1899, to command British forces in the Transvaal.

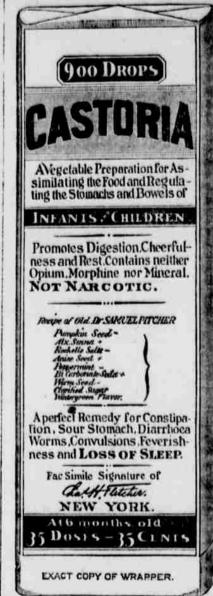

Commander in Chief Roberts was cre ated Lord Roberts of Kandahar and Waterford in 1892 and he became field marshal in 1895.

The Times, in an editorial reference to the appointment of Lord Roberts as commander in chief, hints that Lord Kitchener will come home to assist him at his new post. Lord Wolseley, of course, does not step down in dis grace, but is released from command solely because his age entitles him to cease active duties and to rest upon the laurels of a long, honorable and brilliant public and military career.

A BOLD POLAR DASH.

German Sailor Has Departed for the Arctic Country in a Small Fishing Boat.

The latest polar expedition has just been undertaken by Capt. Bauendahl a German sailor, who, with six companions, will attempt to force his way to the north pole in the Matador, an ordinary two-masted sailing vessel registering but 44 tons. The Matador is a rough-sea fishing boat, not incumbered with machinery. In this vessel the daring explorer departed on August 14 from Hamburg, his destination being Tromso, Norway, where he intends to take on board the necessary clothing and outfit. He will sail northward of Spitzbergen and will encounter the pack ice. He will pursue his course along the pack ice in the easterly direction through the open water channels or will seek streams which will allow him to proceed further north. So long as the ice will permit Capt. Bauendahl will use his ship, but if fields of ice should oppose the Matador he will abandon it to its fate, and will travel northward with his crew and provisions over the ice. In case the Mata dor will not be able to enter the pack ice Bauendahl will place his ship in the Seven Islands and will attempt to go forward in small boats. As to whether the explorer will return on the Franz Josef Land route or by the way of Greenland will depend entirely upon the stream or ice opposition he may encounter.

The captain is of the opinion that he will come across traces of Andree on the route chosen by him, as the buoys have been found on the same path. Bauendahl gives these motives for selecting this route: Nearly all the plans for the discovery of the north pole have failed owing to the ice masses which obstructed farther progress of a vessel. When the waters were open to advance the exploring party did not want to part with the vessel, as it served as a base for operations. No one has yet penetrated the pack ice north of Spitzbergen with a ship. Bauendahl holds that by going farther eastward instead of pushing directly north more favorable results could be secured in consequence of more favorable stream conditions. In case the expedition shall suffer a mishap, such as the sickness of one of the crew, the party will continue their journey on the moving ice. The captain does not fear the dangers of such a voyage, That this could be done, he claims, is amply demonstrated by the travels of the men of the Mansa and the Polaris. Plenty of food and fuel is only neces-

The expense of the expedition, amounting to about 90,000 marks, will be entirely borne by Bauendahl, and nearly the whole of his fortune is spent on the daring venture. The salaries of the crew are also considerable.
