HON. RUFUS K. POLK.

The Democratic candidate from the Seventeenth Congressional district, comes before the voters of the district this fall a tried and true friend of the people. It was said of his illustrious relative, President Polk, that "he entered office with a definite purpose in view and ac-complished it." The same may be said of Mr. Polk. His record as Congressman has been above criticism. He has looked faithfully alter the interests of the people of his district. He has given special attention to the pension claims of soldiers from his district, and as a result of his efforts in this line a number of deserving pensioners have been placed on the pension rolls. Through his efforts three rural delivery mail routes have been established in the district with the prospect of additional service in this line. In all the details of his official career he has been faithful to the interests of the common people. Mr. Polk comes from good old Democratic stock. He possesses all those traits of human character which constitute the attributes of an ideal candidate. Born and reared on a farm he is of the people and knows their wants. He is a graduate of Lehigh University. He entered the shops of the iron works at Danville, Pa., a number of years ago as a laborer at $1.20 per day and worked his way up to manager, which position he resigned several months ago, and is now part owner of a smaller plant of the same town. His experience in life has eminently fitted him for the position which he now holds, and for which he received the unanimous nomination for reelection from every county composing the district. When the cries for help from the suffering and down trodden Cubans were wafted to our shores, he donned the uniform and joined the army of liberators. Here again he showed the kind of stuff he was made of. And when, through the inexcusable neglect of the War Department, his comrades in arms were stricken with the deadly typhus, he pulled off his coat laid floors in their tents and tenderly cared for his sick boys.

Here is a brave man, brave as the bravest, gentle as the gentlest, and it is of such stuff heroes are made. Do you wonder then that the soldier boys worshiped him, and voted for him regardless of party affiliations two years ago? The men in the mines, shops, lumber woods and on the farms also voted for him, and will do so again .- Sullivan Herald.

WASHINGTON. From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, Oct. 22, 1900. Republicans, from Mr. McKinley down, have made this a campaign of misrepresentation from the start. Mr. McKinley himself started the faise pretense that the war taxes would be repealed at the coming session of Congress, and the promise has been reiterated and reiterated by republican speakers and writers in all sections of love lost between Mr. McKinley and the country. The war taxes will not ex-Senator Quay, who was kept out of be repealed by the present Congress, his seat in the Senate by Boss Hanna, unless the election of Mr. Bryan in- there was much curiosity aroused cites the republicans to do so with the when Quay called at the White House hope of embarrassing his administration, for the very simple reason that Mr. McKinley. It has leaked out the money they produce is necessary that Quay sought to make a dicker to meet the expenses of the McKinley policy of imperialism. This is well known to every prominent official of to control the Pennsylvania legislature the Treasury Department, although it and be returned to the Senate, and would be as much as his place was that Mr. McKinley refused to help, worth for any one of them to publicly him, on the ground that he had say so. But they don't have to say troubles enough of his own just now anything, the figures tell the tale. The official figures show that the total ex- is said that Quay left in a pet, and penditures of the government for the made threats of getting even. last fiscal year amounted to $168,-099,828.00, and the total receipts to $171,271,451.71. Subtract one from the other and you have the "immense surplus" about which republicans are so fond of talking. There will be no repeal of war taxes, but there will be a reduction in the tax on beer, the brewers having bought a promise to that effect with heavy campaign contributions. Still republican speakers say it will be repealed. They go on the theory that a vote obtained by falsepretenses counts for just as much as one bought for cash, and is cheaper.

People the Only Power.

It is easier to lose a reputation than to establish one, and this nation would find it a long and laborious task to regain its proud position among the nations, if, under the stress of temptation, it should repudiate the self-evident truths proclaimed by our heroic ancestors and sacredly treasured during a career unparalleled in the annals of ember election. He says that during time. When the doctrine that the the convention the tumult and dispeople are the only source of power is made secure from turther attack we can safely proceed to the settlement of the numerous questions which involve the domestic and economic welfare of our citizens .-From Bryan's Letter of Acceptance.

William Jennings Bryan is meeting ovations wherever he goes. He is greeted by thousands at every stop, and the enthusiasm is unbounded. 25,000 votes, properly distributed, would have elected him in 1896, and the prospects now are deceased's estate will exceed $50,much brighter than they were then. 000, and is divided among his child-A full Democratic vote, all over the ren and grand children, his son country, will surely put Bryan in George receiving the residence on the White House.
