THE NEW RELIGION.

w Religious Sect. It is Abilennal Dawn Cfrcle and Has Many Members. It is Called

Tamaqua is headquarters for a new religious sect, which is gaining ground in Pennsylvania. It is called the "Abilennial Dawn Circle" and has members as far west as Pittsburg and as far east as Philadelphia. The disciples of this new faith believe that the millenium is at hand, and the present is the time of transition between the gospel age and the era of perfect peace and happiness promised in the Holy Writ. This conclusion has been arrived at partly through an exhaustive study of the Bible and the prophecies partly through the observation of the sign of the times. The "Bible Christians," as they are also called, point out that the present social order is satisfactory to neither rich nor poor, but that no human instrumentality can improve it, and that only the coming of Christ can produce conditions under which all men, all races and classes can live together in love, peace and happiness. One of the principal leaders and disciples of the new faith is Professor E. G. Walters, of that town. Describing its tenents, inception and progress in a recent interview, Professor Walters

"Our main objects are careful study of the signs of the times and of the Bible, in order that we may properly interpret the Scriptures. We are not seeking to organize as a denomination, but traternize with Christians of all denominations and gladly accept their help in our work. We differ, however, with accepted Bible teachings on many important points. We do not believe that the world will ever be destroyed, nor do we believe that an all merciful Father will condemn untold millions to eternal torment. This belief has arisen through careless Scriptural reasoning and a wrong interpretation of figurative language. According to our belief, the millenium will take place during the next fifteen years. The interval will be filled with unrest, with wars and fearful convulsions, but then will come the interval of peace, and all the people of the earth will receive all the blessings promised throughout the

"The greatest number of families of the earth have gone to the grave without the promised blessing, hence must be resurrected to hear and receive the benefits of it. During the millenium the whole human race will be brought to a full knowledge of righteousness, love and peace, through practical operation, and, being equiped with a knowledge on both sides and instructed by the Royal Priesthood, mankind will be ready for the tests of that age. At the end of this time the governments will be under the full control of Christ and his church, and and all things shall gradually be restored to Edenic conditions-Acts iii, 19-21. Contrary to existing beliefs, the literal earth will abide forever. Eccl. 1., 1-4. We are constantly gaining new converts to our faith, which is based only on broad love for humanity and a desire to so prepare for the great times to come that the Divine purpose may be more fully carried out, and all the benefits and glories of the millenial age realized."

Chased By A Deer.

Persons who go into the woods at this time of year are liable to have adventures and perilous encounters with the dangerous denizens of the forest. A Philadelphian recently ventured into the wilderness near Wilhamsport and was attacked by a ferocious deer. The Philadelphian use his gun, and he fled, pursued by his head off. Being fleet of foot and badly scared, the Philadelphian outran the deer and escaped across a plank over a stream. The implacable deer still pursued him, and started to swim the stream, determined to bite him, but the Philadelphian got his gun into action and with a dozen or two welldirected bullets from his unerring rifle he laid the monster low. Fortunately he lives to tell the tale, but what would have been his fate had ne been treed by a rabbit .- North American.

THE "WHIN" OF A RATTLER.

A Sound That Is Never Forgotten When Once Beard et Close Quarters.

No matter where a man may go or what may befall him, he will never feel the same throb us when he first hears the "whin" of a rattlesnake, followed by the blood-curdling hiss that denotes that the terrible creature is about to strike. The danger from the rattlesnake is as great today as it ever was, and the man who starts alone down any rock canyon is liable to meet one or more. Generally speaking, the rattlesnake gives warning when it is ready for business, but it happens that this warning is seldom given until the man is quite close-often too close to escape. Of almost the same color as the rocks, the snake lies practically concealed from view, and the first the traveler knows of its presence is the deadly singing of the rattles. Unless the man has heard it before, he will not be able to locate it. The terrible sound seems to mingle with the sunshine, and the bewildered man is as likely to walk into the jaws of death as to run in the direction of safety. Unless medical ald is at hand very shortly after the bite death is sure to follow. An awful death it is; the Indians say the most awful death a man can die, writes Will Sparks, in Ainslee's.

Besides the rattlesnakes, the New Mexico end of the Rocky mountains is blessed with the tarantula, the scorpion and the centipede. there's the gila monster and many poisonous lizards. Of all these the centipede is, perhaps, the most to be feared, because it is the most plen-tiful, and has a habit of living among the ceiling rafters of old adobe houses. At night, when a man is sleeping, it drops, and if it strikes his body it leaves a wound that takes months to heal, provided some blood disorder does not develop and kill the man. The gila monster generally does not bite unless teased. The scorpion and tarantula inflict wounds more painful than dangerous,

THE THISTLE AS FUEL.

Extensively Used in the Western Country Where Cont Is Expensive and Scarce.

There are farmers in western Nebraska who have made hundreds of dollars each fall baling and selling for fuel the common Russian thistle, but a few years ago regarded as a menace to western agriculture. These are not isolated exceptions, either, says the Country Gentleman. The thistle abounds through the western counties. In the fall the weed is to be found in enormous quantities through the open country. The special baling machines can place in compact packages, similar to baled bay, hundreds of pounds of this weed in a day. It makes exceptionally fine fuel, and in the west, remote from coal fields, where a ton of coal costs $15 and the farmer must do the hauling ten to twenty miles, the Russian thistle is a fine substitute. Again, the common "tumble weed" is baled for fuel. It resembles the Russian thistle, with the exception of the order shall be brought out of chaos thorns, and is even more prolific. In the fall of the year it assumes a balllike shape, and in the first winter wind breaks its frail stem and sends the fluffy roll of dry vegetable matter bounding over the prairie like a great ball. From this fact its name "tumble weed" is derived. The first ravine or "draw" the weed strikes affords it a lodgement, and successive balls soon make a pile as big as a freight car. Farmers drive their wagons into these draws, load them down by pressing them with their feet into great wagon boxes and burn them in the "grass" stoves.

A DAYLIGHT METEOR.

Had the Appearance of a Flash of Molten Silver Followed by a Train of Sparks.

Just before sunset on September 2 a magnificent meteor was observed in the North of England and in Scotland. A large number of descriptions was so frightened that he could not of the object have appeared in the newspapers, and it appears that notthe ravening beast, which tried to bite withstanding broad daylight the spectacle was a very brilliant one, says Nature.

At St. Anne's, Lancashire, the meteor fell in a northerly direction, and left a column of white smoke, which remained visible ten minutes. At Hunt's Cross the time was noted as 6:52 p. m., and the object is said to have fallen near Halewood, leaving a long trail of white dust for several minutes. As seen from Birkenhead the meteor appeared at 6:54 p. m. in the northeast, and looked like a descending rocket. Its path was nearly vertical, and it left a "dust trail" for nearly six minutes. At Wetherby, Yorks, the smoke-like cloud left by the nucleus remained vis ble until 7:30 p. m. At Overton, Ellesmere, the object is said to have apparently fallen on a

At and near Edinburgh the fireball was witnessed by many persons. One observer says that at 6:55 p. m. there was a sudden flash and what appeared to be a streak of molten silver followed by a train of sparks whizzed past, apparently falling into a large field of turnips on his right hand.

"Water Street" in the East.

The bund is the name given in almost all eastern scaports to the street fronting on the water. This street is usually the trade center, and rumors that are likely to affect trade or political conditions fly thickly and fast about it. As most of these rumors are unfounded it is the habit in the orient to call a story whose authenticity is doubted "bunder."

"Let me see, colonel," she said in her sweetest manner, "where was it you won your spurs?"

"At Cape May," he replied. "Cape May?" she cehoed. "Why there never has been a battle at Cape May!
