SERVICE AT WINDSOR. FINAL

Coffin Placed on a Gun Carriage and Followed by King and Kaiser and the Royal Family to Its Permanent Resting Place.

WINDSOR, Feb. 5.-The king, Queen Alexandra, the kaiser and the members of the royal family attended a service at the Albert Mentorial chapel yesterday morning. The service was conducted by the bishop of Winchester and the dean of Windsor.

Punctually at 3 o'clock the tolling of the curfew bell and the artillery fire announced that the funeral cortege had started for Frogmore. At 3:30 o'clock the cortege entered Frogmore lodge, and the coffin finally disappeared from public view.

The choir of St. George's chapel met the cortege at the steps of the mausoleum. The highland pipers and servants entered the building, preceded by the bishop of Winchester and the dean of Wind-sor and the choristers. All the mournwere afoot, the women heavily veiled ērs. and the men in uniform coats, as on Saturday.

The gun carriage was the same one as was used on Saturday, but it was hauled by the artillery horses instead of the handy sailormen who dragged it from the station on Saturday.

There was an immense crowd along the entire route of the procession.

The service in the mausoleum began with the singing of Sir Arthur Sullivan's anthem, "Yea, Tho' I Walk." The committal prayer was then read by the bishop of Winchester. The choir sang "Sleep Thy Last Sleep," and the dean of Windsor read the rest of the prayers. Then followed the anthem, "The Face of Death Is Toward the Sun of Life," the words of which are by Tennyson and the music by Sir Walter Parratt. The services closed with the benediction by the bishop of Winchester.

SATURDAY'S FUNERAL.

Forty thousand men lined the route of the funeral procession through London Saturday. Of these 7,000 were police, and the rest were troops of all arms, 25, 000 of whom had been arriving from all parts of the country throughout Friday night and up to 4 o'clock in the morning In the cortege itself there were rather more than 3,500 persons all told. This is no great number for the funeral escort of it great monarch through her capital; but, not counting innumerable members of the British nobility, it included four kings, an emperor, 20 royal princes and in addition the direct heirs to six throues nine ruling grand dukes or princes, the khedive's brother, a queen, seven royal princesses and three royal duchesses.

Of the greatness of the multitudes who saw and the even greater multitudes who remained, but saw not, other dispatches have spoken. No coign of vantage was The trees in Hyde park were thick with people, and there were one or two accidents caused by the breaking of overloaded branches. Every roof was crowded.

A commemoration service was held at St. Paul's at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The cathedral was full within 15 minutes after the doors were opened. The lord mayor and members of the corporation of the city of London in their robes. representatives of the Royal academy, the Academy of Music and other socie ties privileged to use the prefix "royal" were present.

LONDON, Feb. 6.-London's voice, which had been pent up for a fortnight in the presence of the dead, resounded esterday with shouts of good will for Superor William during his progress through the city. Flags were run mast high, and many stands which were covred with purple on Saturday were decksd in red and gold.

The hour of the kaiser's arrival at Paddington was such that business people of the West End were enabled to curtail their lunch time and see the bright cavalcade. The king's wish that the people of the capital should have an opportunity to show their appreciation of Emperor William's devotion was only announced Tuesday morning, yet over 100,000 persons gathered between Pad-dington and Marlborough House.

King Edward, the kaiser and the German crown prince arrived at Padding-ton station from Windsor at 1:28 o'clock. A troop of the Royal Horse guards, with shining helmets and cuirasses and wearing their white breeches, preceded at an easy trot the open landau from which the kaiser gravely saluted in response to the uninterrupted cheering.

The royal parts that took part in the Iuncheon at Marlborough House included the king, the kaiser, the Duke of Connaught. Prince Christian and the Marquis of Lansdowne, secretary of state for foreign affairs.

The crowd remained about Marlborough House for an hour. There was a great cheer as the escort of the Horse guards reappeared at 3 o'clock, and the carriages soon resumed their journey to Charing Cross station, where the kaiser took a train for Port Victoria.

The enthusiasm of the people culminated in a great demonstration at Charing Cross station.

ALBANY, Feb. 6 .- The state is now being called on to appropriate money to defray the expenses of the investigation into the affairs of former District Attorney Asa Bird Gardiner's office in New York city, and according to claims and estimates made at the meeting of the senate finance committee the investigation instituted last February, which was not the one that resulted in Mr. Gardiner's removal, will cost the state upward of $40,000 and possibly more, Ansley Wilcox, a Buffalo lawyer, who was appointed by Governor Roosevelt a commissioner to take the evidence taken against Mr. Gardiner, put in a claim for $10,000, which he said was moderate, and Attorney General Davies corroborated him in the statement. The Navy's Tribute.

LONDON, Feb. 2.-Half a million of the late Queen Victoria's devoted subjects lining the shores of the Solent yesterday witnessed a majestic and awe inspiring pageant and bade a last farewell to their beloved ruler, happy in the circumstances of her death, sovereign of the greatest naval power in the world and fortunate in the manner of her obsequies.

The dominant note in the whole scene was its grand simplicity and, so far as human utterance was concerned, its si-lence. The sad procession glided along in beautiful order and precision, as though moved by some hidden power. No incident of any kind occurred to mar its stately beauty. There was no accident of any sort ashore or afloat.

The weather was traditional "queen's weather.'

At 1:40 o'clock the procession started from Osborne in bright sunshine.

When the procession arrived at Trinity pier, the massed bands ceased playing the funeral march, but the drums continued the muffled roll as the gun carriage bear ing the coffin was drawn up at the end of the pier.

Seamen from the royal yachts remov ed the coffin from the gun carriage to the Alberta, the grenadiers forming a double line down the gangway and presenting arms.

The coffin was borne to the chapel on the after deck. The awnings were thrown up, showing the glittering jeweled scepter, with two gold orbs surmounted by jeweled crosses, resting at the bottom of the pall, the large crown at the head and the royal standard between. In this way the body of the queen was borne across the sunlit waters amid the booming of guns. Both banks of the river Medina to the point where it widens into the Solent were studded with groups of islanders.

nounced. The transaction completes the last link necessary for the establishment of a transcontinental railroad under a single control. This control is at pres-ent vested in E. H. Harriman. The new route includes the following lines, in all of which except the Southern Pacific Mr. Harriman is officially connected: Starting at San Francisco, running over the Central Pacific and the Southern Pacific direct to Ogden, thence, first, over the Union Pacific to Kansas City and thence over the Chicago and Alton to Chicago, or, second, over the Union Pacitic to Omaha and thence over the Dubuque and Sioux City branch of the Illinois Central direct to Chicago, where the Baltimore and Ohio connects direct to the Atlantic seaboard.
