Now is the time to have grape vines trimmed. Many people delay this work, putting it off until the weather is warmer, which is a serious mistake. The warm weather starts the sap to flowing and the vines bleed. Bleeding may not kill a vine, but it weakens it. No one can hope to have a good crop of grapes on a vine that was bled heavily in the Spring. Pruning should always be done in time to leave the wounds to dry and heal over. February is generally spoken of as the month in which to do this work, but the earlier in February the better. Sap usually begins to flow in March.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SERVICES.

President McKinley Among the Mourners at Indianapolis-Closing Scenes-Notable Career Sketched.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 18 .- Surrounded by fully 15,000 of his fellow citizens the remains of Benjamin Harrison were yesterday interred in the family lot in Crown Hill cemetery. Close by the grave were the members of his family, President McKinley and other visitors of distinction and the more intimate friends of General Harrison. Back a distance of 50 yards behind ropes guarded zealously by a large force of police stood with uncovered heads the great multitude who knew him not so well as did they who stood beside the freshly upturned earth, but who honored him and admired him quite as much. It is doubtful if any public man, at least in this generation, has been borne to his last resting place among so many manifesta-tions of respect. Of passionate grief there was little outside the members of his family, but the tribute of respect was universal.

The weather, like that of Saturday, was splendid, bright soulight, the warm breath of spring in every breeze and yet in the air a touch of winter that brought the blood to the cheek and a sparkle to

The services at the church and grave were simple in the extreme, all in most excellent taste, and, like the proceedings Saturday, there was an atter absence of friction in everything that was done.

All was well ordered and well performed. At the Harrison home before the remains were taken to the First Presbyterian church, where the full service was held, there were brief exercises for the members of the family and the more immediate friends of General Harrison.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

Possibly 150 people were present. Mrs. Harrison did not appear, but remained in her room until it was time to leave for the church.

There were several thousand people neral procession moved away, but the crowd there was insignificant to that gathered around the church.

It was 2:30 o'clock when the proces sion arrived at the church, and for an hour and 20 minutes before that time the church had been packed to its utmost capacity. In fact, its capacity was stretched somewhat, and in places in-side the building the people were wedged

Dr. Haines opened the church service by repeating:
"I am the resurrection and the life. dead, yet shall be live, and he that liveth and believeth on me shall never die.

Dr. Niccolls then read from I Corinthians, xv, 35-38, inclusive, after which 'Rock of Ages" in a beautiful and impressive manner. This was General Harrison's favorite hymn, and it is said it is the only one he ever attempted to sing. Following the hymn Dr. Niccolls read portions of Scripture from the fourchapter of St. John and twenty-first chapter of Revelations, after which Dr. Haines delivered the funeral address. After the address Dr. Niccolls offered prayer. The services were closed with a barytone solo, "Hark, Hark, My Soul," rendered by Edward Nell, in which the entire choir joined in the chorus.

The party left the church in the same order in which it entered. For the most part those who attended the church services left immediately for Crown Hill cem-

The last resting place of ex-President Harrison is a tomb five feet deep, incased in granite four luches thick and covered with a granite top of the same thickness. On the reverse side of the cover is the simple inscription, "Benjamin Harrison, 1833-1901." The interior of the tomb was decorated with ferns so profusely that no sign of earth or stone was visi-Dozens of exquisitely beautiful floral tributes were placed on the tomb and on the ground about it. As the people slowly left the cemetery the distant boom of eannon firing the national salute came to their ears, and by the time the last gun was fired the night was down and the grave alone.

CLOSING SCENES.

Death of Former President Harrison

Quiet and Painless. INDIANAPOLIS, March 14.-General Benjamin Harrison died at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon without regaining consciousness. His death was quiet and painless, there being a gradual sinking until the end came, which was marked by a single gasp for breath as life departed from the body of the great statesman The relatives, with a few exceptions, and several of his old and tried friends were at the former president's bedside when he passed away. News of the death spread quickly through the city, and several of the more intimate friends at once horried to the Harrison residence. The word was flash ed from the bulletins of all the newspa pers and thus communicated to the people on their way home in the evening The announcement produced the greates' sorrow. Within a few moments the flag: state park.

on all the public buildings and most of the down town business blocks were hoisted at half mast and other outward manifestations of mourning were made. General Harrison had been unconscion for hours before his death, the exact time when he passed into a comatose state being difficult to determine. In one of the last public speeches which the late Benjamin Harrison made he "This country of ours is worthy of our love. It should be before everything else but God. Wife, children, mother, lover-all these men have put aside for it." These words of Mr. Harrison were the sincere convictions of his heart, and the sentiment they contain is that of good patriotism. The future historian, in estimating the character of this remote successor of George Washington, will not judge Benjamin Harrison by what he has said, but what he has done, and he will find no paucity of deeds in his search for

It was one warm June day nearly 33 years ago when Harrison gave his first and greatest proof of devotion to his country. Governor Oliver P. Morton of Indiana met him in the street and said, "Ben, I want you to raise a regiment." Ben did not hesitate a moment. He raised the regiment and went to the front with it. As a gallant, intelligent soldier he stood in the first rank.

Benjamin Harrison was likewise a poli-tician. But that fact did not interfere with his patriotism. He came of a stock about whose devotion to country there could be no question. It was in his blood to stand firmly by the cause which he espoused and which he believed to be the right one. One of his ancestors in a direct line was an adherent of Oliver Cromwell in the great revolution for constitutional liberties.

Relatives of the ill fated Cromwellian Harrison, believing that liberty was dead in England, emigrated to America and settled in Virginia. From this stock was descended the ninth president of the United States, and the son of this ninth president was John Scott Harrison, father of the former president who lies dead in Indianapolis today.

History shows us a Benjamin Harrison as a member of the Virginia house of burgesses in Revolutionary times, as a signer of the Declaration of Independence, a three time governor of Virginia and a member of the constitutional convention that ratified the federal constitution. He was the great-grandfather of the man who is now mourned all over the country.

In Indiana Harrison was always a favorite, although he was born in Ohio at North Bend in the year 1833. He was 7 years old when his grandfather was elect-ed president of the United States. His energy was noticed in his early years at school. He learned his A B C's at a country school not far from the Ohio homestead. Then he went to Miami university, where he graduated at the age of 18 and very soon after married Miss Lavina Scott, becoming a father before he was 21.

He elected to study law and entered the office of Judge Bellamy Storer in Cincinnati, He forged ahead so rapidly in his studies that he was admitted to the bar before he was of age to vote.

He laid the foundation for his greatest honor, however, in 1876, when he emerged from private life to take again an active part in politics and became the candidate for governor. He was defeated, but in the campaign made hosts of friends by his intrepidity, and four years after, in 1880, he received the reward of party fealty by being elected to the United States senate. He served the full term.

Mr. Harrison was nominated for the presidency in 1888 and was elected after an unusually exciting campaign against Grover Cleveland. The tariff was the great issue of the election. Mr. Harrison was president of the United States from March 4, 1889, to March 4, 1893. In the course of his administration there were many important achievements. A large increase in the navy was one of these.

In 1896 Mr. Harrison married Mrs. Mary Lord Dimmick, a niece of the late wife of the Indiana statesman. Mr. Harrison was defeated for re-election by Mr. Cleveland in 1894 and retired from public life thereafter, writing occasional magazine articles and resuming the practice of law.

Great Alarm Is Felt In St. Petersburg.

COSSACKS KILL SEVERAL STUDENTS.

Riots Continue With Increasing Fury-A Thousand Prisoners Taken, Including Many Women-All the Higher Schools Closed.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 20,-Alarm pervades high circles here. The police have notified house owners to have their dvorniks, or house police, report for duty and hold themselves in constant readiness. A sotnia, or company of Cossacks, passed the Moscow gate on the way to Tsarskoe-Selo, 17 miles south of St. Petersburg, where the caar has just removed to. The police said they would escort the exar back to the winter pal ace and that he would return by car-riage instead of by rail. It appears more probable, however, that the Cossacks were merely sent to Tsarskoe-Selo as a precaution since his majesty is more easily protected there than here. Serious riots occurred in St. Petersburg yesterday on the occasion of emn mass in the Cathedral of Our Lady Kasan for the repose of the soul of M. Bogoliepoff, the minister of public instruction, who was shot and fatally wounded by Karpovich. The police fired their revolvers, and it is rumored that five students were killed and eight others either seriously or slightly injured.

Wholesale arrests, including many wo men, followed the rioting.

It is apparently confirmed that three students were killed Sunday. The Cossacks rode into the crowds on the sidewalk, and many faces were cut open by their knotted whips. Students and workingmen threw rubber shoes, canes and snowballs at the Cossacks. It is reported that one Cossaek was killed.

An official of the political police said 1,000 prisoners were taken, among them being 350 women students. The presence of workingmen among the rioters rendered this demonstration more dangerous than any known in a generation. After reading the manifesto the students threw their crumpled copies into the crowd and raised a flag inscribed, "For Liberty." The students also shouted, "Help us get our rights:" and the mob responded with cheers.

Carnegie Ofters $5,200,000 For New York City Libraries.

NEW YORK, March 16 .- Andrew Carnegie, who since retiring as an active figure from the steel world has been able to devote his time exclusively to his other passion, the founding of libraries, has made his departure for Europe this spring memorable by the largest offer of that kind ever advanced. If New York will provide the sites and the maintenance, he has promised to give $5,200,000 to establish 65 branch libraries in this

The offer, made in a letter to Dr. John Billings, director of the New York Public library, last Tuesday, was made public last night.

tell of the steel king's retirement from active business life and of his donation of $5,000,000 for the endowment of a fund for superannuated and disabled em ployees of the Carnegie company. This benefaction is by far the largest of the many created by Mr. Carnegie and is probably without a parallel anywhere in the world. This fund will in no wise interfere with the continuance of the savings fund established by the company 15 years ago for the benefit of its employees. In this latter fund nearly $2,000,000 of the employees' savings are on deposit, on which the company, by contract, pays 6 per cent and loans money to the work men to build their homes.
